Alabama Capital Fears New Outbreaks, Guard Now Has Firm Control

Penalties For Race Acts Stiff

5 Alabama Men Held, After More

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department geared today for a possible long line of criminal prosecutions over Alabama's "freedom riders" racial violence.

A force of FBI agents, thrown into the area over the weekend, made its first arrests late Monday and more arrests were expected. The Justice Department indicated it would seek stiff penalties.

All of last week's outbreaks followed efforts by out-of-state white and Negro students to break Alabama's ban on integrated bus seating.

In the initial arrests, four men were taken into custody by FBI agents at Anniston, Ala., and charged with the fire bombing of an interstate bus near the city May 14.

The offense carries penalties up to 20 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The Anniston incident, in which the mob of white men broke the bus windows and tossed in a fire bomb, was the first of the past week's violence.

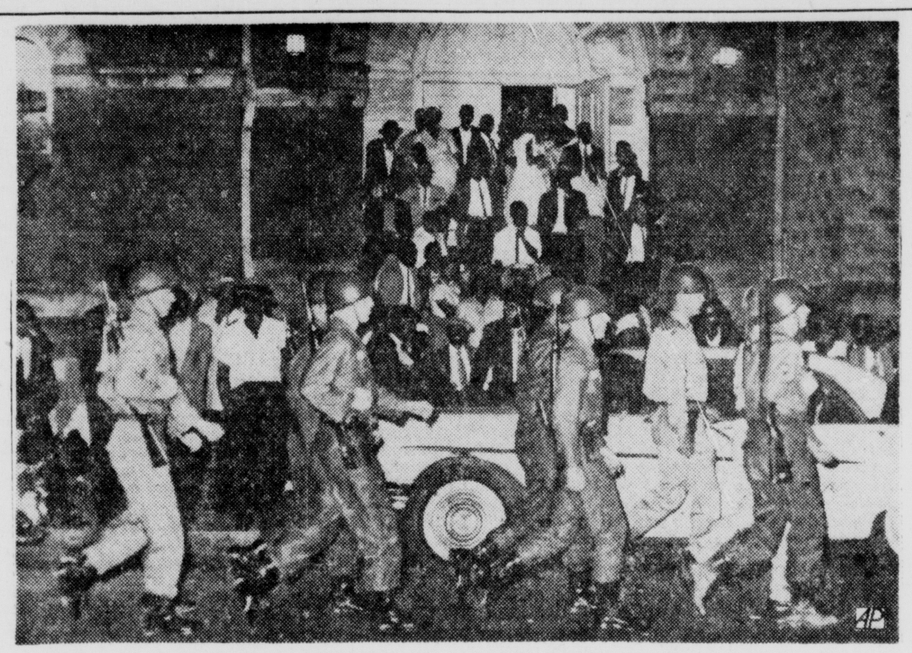

Other freedom riders, traveling by bus into Alabama from Atlanta, Ga., were kicked and beaten at Anniston and Birmingham. On Saturday, a major free-for-all broke out—with a number of persons injured—when an interstate bus arrived at Montgomery, Ala.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced the Anniston arrests late Monday after a 45-minute conference at the White House with his brother, President Kennedy.

Despite the Alabama race troubles, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the administration will not seek new civil rights laws this year.

The Alabama congressional delegation — both senators and all nine House members—joined Alabama Gov. John Patterson Monday in urging that federal marshals be recalled from the state.

A telegram made public by Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., said the delegation deplored violence but had been assured by the governor that the state "has the means, the ability and the will to keep the peace without outside help." The appeal was sent to President Kennedy and the attorney general.

Browning Named HonoraryMarshal Of May 30 March

Arrangements announced today by the Kingston Veterans Association for the Memorial Day parade here Tuesday, May 30, include the naming of an outstanding veteran of World War 1 as honorary marshal.

Honorary guard marshal of this year's parade will be Robert "Bob" Browning, well-known Hudson Valley newscaster, who served as a second lieutenant in the 318th Infantry, 80th Blue Ridge Division. A holder of the Order of the Purple Heart, he was wounded twice and was gassed in the Battle of the Argonne. As a result of his wounds, he lost his left arm.

Parade Chairman John Ray Mayone announced today that letters to organizations seeking their participation in the parade were not sent out this year. All organizations planning to march or enter a float must contact Chairman Mayone in order to be included in the line of march. He said parade floats must hold to a solemn theme and must be cleared by the committee.

The parade this year will start at Pearl Street and Clinton Avenue following a memorial service 2 p. m. at Academy Green. The program will include members of the clergy and guest speakers.

DA Moves Against Road Bosses

Stokes Resigns Post, Mercier Holds Ground

Following an announcement today by District Attorney David W. Corwin that he would institute proceedings for removal of two town road superintendents accused of taking road oil kickbacks, one of them resigned.

Amos Stokes gave The Freeman a statement saying, "I am today filing my resignation as town superintendent of highways of the Town of Marbletown." He insisted he is innocent of any wrongdoing, said he and his wife are in poor health, and that he lacks money to conduct another legal battle.

Stokes and Paul Mercier, the road superintendent in the Town of Esopus were served today with copies of petitions that the district attorney filed to start proceedings for their removal from their jobs.

District Attorney Corwin said that after reviewing testimony taken before the grand jury of the Extraordinary term of Supreme Court which investigated kickbacks in the county, he concluded there are sufficient grounds to warrant bringing proceedings for removal of the two.

Prior to Stokes' resignation the matter involving him and Mercier was scheduled to be heard before the Appellate Division in Albany on June 12.

Corwin Reviews Testimony

The district attorney's statement today said:

"The testimony taken before the Grand Jury of the Extraordinary Special and Trial term of the Supreme Court, Ulster County in January 1961, was recently made available to my office by the Attorney General. After reviewing this testimony together with the testimony and other evidence previously submitted to the District Attorney's office, I have concluded that there are sufficient grounds to warrant the bringing of proceedings for the removal of Paul Mercier and Amos Stokes as town superintendents of the towns of Esopus and Marbletown, respectively."

Petitions for removal under Section 367 of the Public Officers Law have been served on both officials returnable before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Albany on June 12, 1961, at 1 p. m."

Stokes' Statement

"I am today filing my resignation as town superintendent of highways of the Town of Marbletown.

"This is being done solely because neither my health nor my financial position permit me to carry on a long legal battle in Albany in the defense of the new legal proceeding just brought against me.

"I am completely innocent of any wrongdoing and the previous proceeding, had great legal expense to me, was unanimously dismissed by the Appellate Court. However, I do not have the money to conduct another such legal battle.

"Both my wife and myself are in poor health and neither of us could stand the mental strain and aggrevation that such a battle would involve. Accordingly I am filing my resignation today with Frederick G. Baumgarten, town clerk of the Town of Marbletown."

Proceedings were first taken under Section 36 of the Public Offiice Law before the Appellate Division, Supreme Court, by Special Assistant Attorney General Bernard Tompkins who conducted the Ulster County "kickback" probe, under a presentment by the special grand jury which directed him to institute the proceedings.

The Appellate Court held Spe-

Sturges to Test Heat Exchange Unit at Diner

A diner in Trenton, N. J. and a New Jersey utility have agreed to test the performance of a heat exchange circuit developed by Paul M. Sturges of Stone Ridge. All nine refrigeration units serving the diner will be crossed with the water heating system which uses natural gas through two "Thriftchangers" manufactured by Sturges Heat Recovery, Inc.

Rone W. Staudt, proprietor of the Dinner Bell diner at Olden Avenue Exit and Parkway Avenue in Trenton has concluded an agreement with the local manufacturer whereby Sturges will furnish the two units for an agreed price of $500.

To Test for Economy

Installation will be made by local mechanics after a two week period during which power use engineers of Public Service Electric and Gas Company of 80 Park Place, Newark, N. J. will meter all electricity consumed by the refrigeration units, the gas consumed by the water heater and the amount of hot water used by the diner during this period.

A second two week energy metering period will follow installation of the "Thriftchangers" together with pressure controls to shut down condenser fans when they are no longer required.

The Water Department of the City of Trenton has donated the use of a water meter for this test. Soon after the conclusion of

Cabbie Not Aware Fare Is the Man

NEW YORK (AP)—After being away 10 years, the white-haired man settled back in the taxi cab and asked the driver how a fellow might spend his time on such an afternoon.

The hackie suggested a ride around Manhattan on a tour boat.

"Oh, I did that some years ago," the rider replied. "I remember the boat going by Gracie Mansion and seeing the mayor on the lawn."

"Who was the mayor you saw on the Gracie Mansion lawn, mister?" the cabbie asked.

"O'Dwyer."

Cabbie Starts Tirade

"That crook! That thief!" the cabbie exploded.

"Is he in jail?" the rider asked gently.

"Oh no," the driver said. "His political cronies kept him from going to jail."

"Who did he steal from?"

"I'll tell you who he stole from. He stole from the poor, from the home relliefers. That's what he stole. He's got millions and millions and millions of dollars," the driver asserted.

When the fare alighted from the cab, he tossed the driver a 50-cent tip, and remarked quietly:

Never Faced Charge

"I'm O'Dwyer. I don't find a bit of fault with you for not liking me—many people exposed to the press feel like you do. But I have never been charged with a crime, let alone convicted."

The cabbie was shocked, ex-Mayor William O'Dwyer told a Herald Tribune reporter as he recounted the occurrence Monday at his Park Avenue apartment.

O'Dwyer was mayor from January 1946 to September 1950 when he became ambassador to Mexico for two years.

Lives Alone

He remained below the border most of the time for 10 years, and returned here a year ago.

Now 71, he lives alone in an apartment.

Is O'Dwyer bitter?

"Everybody asks that one. Of course not. I'd be less than human if I didn't resent the many untruths that are still being published about me."

Saugerties Budget Up 8 Per Cent

Meeting July 11 On '61-'62 Figures

Saugerties Board of Education will submit to the taxpayers in July a budget totaling $1,796,048.03. This is an increase of $134,873.72 over the current year's budget.

This is approximately an eight per cent increase and will result in an increase in taxes of approximately $4 to $5. The main increases in expenditures include the following:

Operation of plant including fuel, water, power, and custodial costs, $4,224.

Teacher's pensions, $19,000.

Insurance, $4,000.

Building equipment, $3,900.

Instructional furniture and equipment, $7,800.

Cite Two Decreases

There are two major decreases, one of $12,000 for maintenance of plant, and another $7,687 in debt service. There will be some increase in revenue including an estimated increase in state aid totaling $103,000, and an estimated increase in revenue from assessment on new property of $28,800.

The proposed budget and date for the annual meeting was announced at the Monday night session of the board.

The annual meeting of Saugerties Central School District will be held in the high school auditorium, Washington Avenue, July 11.

It should be noted that this is the first time the annual meeting will be held in the new high school building. The election of board members (four) will take place the next day, July 12, in the auditorium of Main Street School.

To Vote for Four

There are four positions to be filled as follows:

One member for a three-year term in place of Steve Stycos of the village. It is expected Stycos will be a candidate for reelection.

A member for a three-year term in place of Mrs. Mary Lasher of Saxton, who has stated she does not plan to be a candidate.

A member for a three-year term in place of John Lowther, board president, of High Woods, who also stated he will not run for reelection.

A member for a one-year term in place of Clarence Brower, who recently resigned from the board when he moved from the community.

Candidates for the board positions should contact Mrs. Margaret Marburger, clerk of the board for information regarding the filing of nominating petitions.

The board appointed Gerald L. Snyder to succeed Patrick Rodden as business manager. There

REBELS SEEK AID IN CAPITAL—Cuban rebels, released by Fidel Castro to arrange funds to buy 500 U. Almost Everything Went Wrong

CIA Says $45 Million Spent on Cuban Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators have been told the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) spent $45 million training and equipping a 1,500-man guerrilla force never geared for a full-scale Cuban invasion.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is reported to have testified before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that he gave informal approval of military arrangements for an attempt to land the 1,500 at a point where they could join guerrillas operating in the mountains.

Lemnitzer was said by committee members to have made it clear that he specified the attempt would be successful only if certain conditions were met.

These reputedly included the destruction of Fidel Castro's meager air force, plus realization of the CIA's prediction that anti-Castro groups would rally to help the invaders escape to the mountains when they came ashore.

The objective, it was reported, was to avoid contact with Castro's army, if possible, and to consolidate forces that could harass him and provide cover for possible further landings.

Bombers Never Bombed

Instead, almost everything went wrong. The invaders' old B26 bombers did not bomb the airfields. In fact, the bombers arrived in Cuba in broad daylight when Castro's armed T33 trainers already were in the air.

Castro knew in advance of the landing site and had massed his forces, equipped with tanks and artillery, to greet the incoming guerrillas. His more modern planes shot down several of the World War II bombers, leaving the anti-Castro troops without air cover.

The final disaster was the sinking of an old Liberty ship carrying most of their communications equipment and ammunition.

This explanation apparently has convinced most subcommittee members — except Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.—that the joint chiefs are not primarily to blame for the fiasco.

Gore, who called previously for replacement of the joint chiefs, renewed in the Senate Monday his contention that those "charged with official responsibility should be held responsible for the part they played."

Amesse Scheduled To Go on Trial For Girl's Death

A 21-year-old Staatsburg man is scheduled for trial before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz and a jury Wednesday on second degree murder and manslaughter, first degree.

David Amesse was indicted on charges arising from the death of Miss Rachel C. Perry, 18, of Poughkeepsie, last Dec. 21.

Authorities accused Amesse of pushing the girl off the Mid-Hudson bridge. Her body was found floating in the Hudson River in March.

Ninety-nine trial jurors reported in court yesterday, 22 were excused by Julge Schwartz and the 77 remaining prospective jurors were told to report Wednesday for the Amesse trial.

Man Held In Beating Newsmen

Another Try Due For Freedom Ride

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Police today announced the arrest of a man accused of beating two newsmen in the outbreak of race rioting that put this city under martial law.

Roving bands of white youths, bomb threats and reports of new attempts at racially integrated freedom rides caused an uneasy night in this Alabama capital city ruled by National Guardsmen with a firm hand.

Trip Touched Off Riot

The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) said it was trying to make bus reservations for another freedom ride. Such a trip Saturday touched off the bloody riot and led to Sunday's attempted mob assault on a Negro church.

Assistant Police Chief E. P. Brown said a man identified as Claude Henley, 37, of Montgomery was jailed and then released under $200 bond on charges of attacking NBC cameraman Maurice (Moe) Leavey and soundman H. W. Riser.

A mob jerked cameras from photographers and beat the newsmen before savagely attacking nearly two dozen white and Negro freedom riders just after they stepped off a bus in the Greyhound station Saturday.

Kennedy Aide Beaten

Also beaten was John Seigenthaler, an assistant to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. Seigenthaler had come here as President Kennedy's emissary to ask Gov. John Patterson to guarantee the safety of the freedom riders.

Five persons were fined from $25 to $100 Monday for failing to obey officers at the bus station riot. Police said the five did not take part in the violence.

National Guardsmen, who took over the city under Gov. Patterson's order of qualified martial law, Monday night quadrupled their guard at the Greyhound bus station to keep away loitering white youths. City police arrested seven youths who surrounded two Negroes in a car.

Train Demolishes Teacher's Auto Caught on Tracks

An automobile owned by Miss Mary L. Frederick, 26, of Wingdale, a teacher at Bennett College, South Millbrook, was demolished early Monday when struck by a locomotive on the New York Central Harlem division.

According to State Police Corporal Neil Flynn, Dover Plains, the rear wheels of the car became wedged between the tracks at the Pleasant Ridge Road crossing, Wingdale.

Flynn said Miss Frederick left the car to summon help but before she returned the freight train locomotive smashed into the vehicle and demolished it.

U. S. Shows Concern Over Korean Political Moves

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The U.S. Embassy today expressed deep concern about the abolition of all political parties by South Korea's new military rulers. The military junta also refused to approve an agreement bringing their soldiers back under U.N. control.

"Any step suppressing free government processes and which makes more difficult restoration of civil government is a matter of deep concern," said a U.S. Embassy spokesman.

The generals ruling the country showed no sign of backing down under U.S. pressure.

The embassy also is supporting the U.N. Command in its efforts to have the South Korean military recognize the authority of U.S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder. As U.N. commander he is operational chief of all military forces in South Korea.

Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi, chief political strategist of last week's coup, told newsmen Korean forces would return to Magruder's control as soon as possible.

But several hours later the U.N. Command issued a statement saying the 30-member Supreme Military Council had overruled Pak on part of an agreement with Magruder.

This voided the entire agreement, the U.N. Command said, although it added that there were still "some points on which their views coincided."

The council's balky stand tended to confirm reports of dissension within the group. Some marine and paratroop commanders are reported demanding more places in the Cabinet composed largely of army men.

Stratton Confident of Reapportionment Talk Despite Rockefeller's Objections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., says that despite the objections of Gov. Rockefeller, reapportionment will be discussed at the governor's dinner Wednesday night.

Stratton said last night that he had the support of the entire Democratic delegation of House members in his attempt to place the subject on the agenda.

Rockefeller has said the purpose of the dinner-meeting is to acquaint New York congressmen with state matters which may be of interest to them. Reapportionment, Rockefeller said, is solely a state matter.

In Albany Monday night, Rockefeller's offce said the governor would have no immediate comment on Stratton's statement.

"I don't think the governor will be able to stop it," Stratton said Monday night in regard to the Democrats plan to force a discussion of the issue.

Stratton charged that the governor apparently had attempted to drive a wedge between him and the rest of the New York Democrats in trying to hold off a discussion of the issue.

New York House seats will diminish from 43 to 41 for next year's congressional election. The state's population increase failed to keep pace with the national average.

There are reports that the Republican - controlled Legislature, charged with the job of reapportionment, may combine part of Stratton's Schenectady-area district with Albany County.

This would mean that if Stratton wanted to remain in Congress he would have to seek re-election against the politically powerful and popular Rep. Leo O'Brien, D-N.Y.

Stratton has also been mentioned as one of the possible contenders for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to oppose Rockefeller in his attempt for re-election next year.

Under the reapportionment plans now being considered by legislative leaders, some New York City Democrats would be affected by reapportionment plans.

Stratton said any discussion of reapportionment at the dinner would be for the purpose of an exchange of views between the New York Democratic congressmen and the Republican governor.

The present alignment of New York House members—22 Democrats and 21 Republicans—would be changed under proposed plans to 23 Republicans and 18 Democrats, Stratton said.

Stratton suggested three proposals in any plan for reapportionment:

1. Public hearings to give affected constituents an opportunity to express their views.

2. Compact and contiguous congressional districts.

3. An accurate reflection of a state's political division.

Earlier in the week, Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse promised the people "a fair voice" and "sufficient time" to consider the plan.

Greene County Man Is Deputy Master of Masons

James H. Baldwin, New Baltimore, has been appointed district deputy grand master of Greene-Ulster District, it was announced today by Supreme Court Justice Carl W. Peterson of Ilion, newly reelected grand master of the 300,000 Masons of the state. He succeeds Merrill E. Small, RD 1, Box 80, New Paltz, and will serve for one year.

Baldwin is safety engineer at Watervliet Arsenal. He is a member of Social Friendship Lodge 741 and served as its master in 1940. He also served on many lodge committees and was district service representative in 1942-43.

Active in community welfare and civic betterment, Baldwin has been chief of the Fire Department and also commissioner. He is director of the school board and was president of the P-TA. Baldwin was also fire instructor and deputy fire coordinator for Greene County. He has been employed as safety engineer by Unitd States Government and is a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers.

The district deputy is responsible for the annual Masonic Brotherhood . Fund Campaign The monies from this campaign are used for the Masonic Research Laboratory at Utica which is studying the subject of Geriatrics to aid senior citizens. This year, more than $350,000 was raised for this research, which is expected to bring to light much new medical information.

The district deputy is also responsible for area meetings, 100th Anniversary Celebrations and bestowing citations and emblems on Masons who have been in the fraternity for 50 years. He will interest himself in the 5th Annual Masonic Cruise to the Caribbean which will take place January 3-16, 1962.

Through his local staff, he will assist in publishing the Empire State Mason, the official state magazine which goes out to every one of the 300,000 Masons in the state. This magazine will publish in July the 180th Anniversary issue of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the State of New York.

It is expected that the newly appointed district deputy, his staff officers, committee members and many of the Masons from the lodges in this area, will make the pilgrimage to Utica on St. Johns Day, Saturday and Sunday, June 24-25, when the newly appointed state officers will be commissioned by the Grand Master, Judge Carl W. Peterson.

Open Bids June 22 For $2.6 Million Route 209 Project

Bids on a $2,607,000 project for the reconstruction of Route 209 through Sullivan and part of Ulster County, near Ellenville will be opened by the State Department of Public Works in Albany on Thursday, June 22, at 10:30 a. m.

J. Burch McMorran, state superintendent of public works, announced that sealed bids on 30 highway and four canal projects, totaling an estimated $12,231,500 will be opened on that date.

They provide for reconstruction or other improvements along 125.8 miles of highway in 25 counties and canal maintenance in two counties.

A major project is the reconstruction of 8.74 miles of Route 209 in Sullivan and Ulster Counties, from south of Wurtsboro to north of Spring Glen.

Work of the proposed project will start just north of the Route 17 Expressway in Sullivan County south of Wurtsboro, northeastward to a point between Spring Glen and Ellenville, plus 1.01 miles of access roads.

The project includes construction of a 33-foot-long bridge over a tributary to Homowack Kill at Phillipsport, a 100-foot-long bridge over Homowack Kill just north of the Sullivan-Ulster County line and an 84-foot-long bridge over Sandburg Creek just north of the Homowack Kill bridge.

The highway will be reconstructed generally on new location adjoining the existing route, providing a straighter alignment and will have a 24-foot-wide asphalt concrete pavement.

The proposal includes construction of access roads to the old Route 209 sections, plus a parking area off the old highway north of Wurtsboro.

Kennedy to Ask More Funds for Space, Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders reported today that President Kennedy will propose this week substantial increases in government spending on space, military ground forces and aid to Southeast Asia.

Kennedy will send one message —and possibly two—to Congress on Thursday, they said.

The President left open the chance that he will deliver a separate message on space in person. The other two proposals, at least, will be combined in a written message.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas told newsmen after the weekly breakfast session with Kennedy that the President's recommendations will cover the space program, Civil Defense, retraining for unemployed workers, some additional funds for the armed services and a supplemental appropriation for foreign aid.

Whether the retraining proposal would be the only one in the labor field was not specifically stated. Other sources had reported earlier that a modest set of new tools to try to curtail hardcore unemployment was in the works.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., said he understands Kennedy will ask for about $285 million to put more muscle into Army and Marine divisions.

He said this money would be used immediately.

Rayburn said no definite money total was discussed but the increases sought by Kennedy would be "rather substantial."

Smathers, who is secretary of the conference of Democratic senators, said the President's space proposals would entail a "sizable money request."

Relief Up to JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—If stockholders in E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. are to get any relief from a possible $1 billion tax liability, the initiative may have to come from President Kennedy's administration.

There were indications today Congress is not inclined to act unless the executive branch gives a nudge.

The tax claim was foreshadowed when the Supreme Court held Monday that Du Pont must give up its multibillion dollar holdings of General Motors Corp. stock.

The Youth for Christ Rally Saturday evening will feature the 80-minute color film on the life of John Wesley.

Preceding the rally which begins at 7:30 p. m. will be the first round in a series of quizzes to determine the quiz champion of the area. The rally will be held at Poughkeepsie Grange Hall, Manchester Road, east of Poughkeepsie.

Other weekend activities of Youth For Christ will include a days outing at Baird Park Monday, May 29. Groups of young people will attend during the day to make use of the recreation facilities and having their own picnics. At 7:30 p. m. there will be a gathering of all young people at which time a Youth For Christ "Funspiration" will be conducted, including games, stunts, and competition among the young people. Closing the program there will be a brief singspiration and devotional service.

All young people may attend the program of Youth For Christ. There is no specific membership required for Youth For Christ. Youth For Christ is international in organization, world-wide in its scope and geared to the needs of today's youth.

Weather Delays Race

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—Unfavorable weather caused postponement again today of the Bendix Trophy race to New York.

A spokesman said the four Navy Phantom supersonic jet planes are to refuel in the air over Albuquerque, N.M., St. Louis, Mo., and Pittsburgh, and weather conditions around Pittsburgh were considered unsatisfactory today.

The pilots hope to get away Wednesday.

DEW Line

What is known as the "DEW line" is a chain of "distant early warning" radar stations stretched across the Arctic to warn of possible transpolar air attacks, a product of U.S. and Canadian co-operation.

Ten Hagen Will Retire July 13 From State Post

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Henry Ten Hagen, a veteran of 48 years in the public works field, will retire July 13 as chief engineer of the State Public Works Department.

He joined the department in 1913 and served continually, except for Army duty in World War I. He has been on sick leave since December.

Ten Hagen, who will be 69 June 3, is a native of High Falls, Ulster County, and a 1913 graduate of Cornell University. He was appointed to the public works department as a rod man in Rochester.

During World War I, he served in Europe with the Army's Second Engineer Regiment and later worked on highway projects in the Panama Canal Zone for the Army engineers.

Ten Hagen returned to the Public Works Department in 1919 as an assistant county engineer for Wyoming County.

He was named acting deputy superintendent of the department in 1950 and chief engineer in 1959.

Ten Hagen and his wife will return, after his retirement, to their permanent home in Warsaw, Wyoming County.

Robert W. Sweet, district engineer in the department's Watertown office, will be acting chief engineer of the department pending appointment of a successor to Ten Hagen.

Threat and Libel Trial Resumes In Dutchess Court

Trial of Irving A. Siebrecht Sr., 56, of Pleasant Valley, on charges of sending threatening letters to his wife and criminal libel, resumed today before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz and a jury.

Siebrecht's attorney, Joseph Jiudice yesterday entered an innocent plea by reason of temporary insanity for his client, contending the defendant was temporarily insane at the time of the alleged letter writing.

A psychiatric commission appointed by Judge Schwartz last fall, returned a finding the defendant was sane at the time of an examination and able to stand trial.

Judge Schwartz denied defense motions seeking dismissal of 20 counts in the indictment.

Four Bicycles Stolen

Police get occasional reports of bicycle thefts, but one Monday came like notice of a raid. It involved four, two girls and two boys, and was reported by Mary Boughton, of 83 Hasbrouck Avenue, who said they were taken in front of that address. One, it was learned today, has been accounted for, but three are still missing. They are owned by members of the one family, and it was reported today that a similar theft occurred there last year.

One Justice Assigned

Only one Supreme Court justice has been assigned to hold the June term of Supreme Court which will be convened Monday, June 5. Justice Donald S. Taylor will be the presiding justice and there will be but one part. This is an additional trial term for Ulster County. The May term is being held in two parts, Justice Kenneth S. MacAffer holding Part I and Justice Louis G. Bruhn has been assigned to Part II.

Fined for Assault

Accused of assaulting an Ellenville man Sunday at 9:30 p. m., Roy Keener, 27, of Trailer Haven, Kingston, was arrested Monday night by State Troopers Michael Mahoney and John Huntoon. Keener pleaded guilty and was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Kerhonkson, who issued the warrant for the arrest. Troopers said the complaint was made by Joseph Cottam, Oak Ridge Ellenville.

Joan Davis Is Heart Victim; Radio-TV Star

PALM SPRINGS, Calif .(AP)—Comedienne Joan Davis of radio and TV fame died in a Palm Springs hospital today following a heart attack.

An associate said Miss Davis suffered the attack at her home here Monday afternoon and was taken to an emergency hospital. She died at 3 a.m. today.

Miss Davis, 47, had a long run with her television series called "I Married Joan," in which the male lead was played by Jim Backus.

When Miss Davis died in Desert Hospital her mother, Nina Davis, and a Catholic priest were by her side.

The agile and animated comedienne had been in virtual retirement for the last three or four years, spending much of her time at her desert home here. She also had a home in Hollywood.

Began at Age 6

Miss Davis' long career in radio, TV and movies started at the age of 6 when she was taken from an amateur night appearance and signed for the Pantages vaudeville circuit. Her act, a comedy single, was billed as "Toy Comedienne."

She was born Josephine Davis on June 20, 1913, in St. Paul, Minn., the only child of Leroy Davis, a train dispatcher, and Nina Davis.

Miss Davis last figured in the news in 1959 when she said her engagement to a real estate man was ended because he knocked her down with a judo punch.

The comedienne said Harvey Stock hit her after an argument in front of her home here. She had Stock arrested on a misdemeanor assault and battery charge but later decided not to prosecute. This ended their two-year engagement.

Movie Debut in '34

But despite these comic characterizations, in private life she dressed smartly, spoke in a quiet voice and was an attractive woman. She had smooth skin and favored blonde hair.

Miss Davis made her movie debut in 1934 in a film called "Way up Thar." Other pictures in which she appeared included "Holy Terror," "Time out for Romance," "Wake up and Live," "The Groom Wore Spurs," and "Harem Girl."

During her vaudeville days Miss Davis teamed up with another performer, Serenus (Si) Wills, and their act was known as Wills and Davis. They were married in Chicago in 1931.

But Miss Davis obtained a California divorce in 1948. They had a daughter, Beverly.

Succeeds Paltz Man

Appointment of James H. Baldwin, New Baltimore, as district deputy grand master of the Greene-Ulster District of Masons, was announced by Supreme Court Justice Carl W. Peterson of Ilion. Baldwin succeeds Merrill E. Small, R.D. 1, New Paltz, and will serve for one year. Baldwin, employed as a safety engineer at the Watervliet arsenal, is a member of Social Friendship Lodge 741, New Baltimore and served as its Master in 1940.

DEDICATE NEW PALTZ CHURCH WING —Principals at a consecration service Sunday morning at the New Paltz Methodist Church are (l-r) R. Francis Hasbrouck, lay leader and chairman of the board of trustees; the Rev. Willett R. Proter, pastor; Mrs. Alvin Beatty, church school superintendent; S. Parks Glenn, building committee chairman; the Rev. Dr. John M. Pearson, superintendent of the Newburgh district of the Methodist Church and guest speaker; Peter Jacobs, assistant minister to students, and Mayor Henry DuBois. A recently completed educational wing was consecrated after the 11 a. m. worship service. (Witz photo)

Educational Wing Consecrated at New Paltz Church

The recently completed educational wing of the New Paltz Methodist Church was consecrated at ceremonies Sunday after the 11 a. m. worship service.

Guest speaker at the service was the Rev. Dr. John M. Pearson, superintendent of the Newburgh District of the New York Methodist Conference. The Rev. Willett R. Porter, pastor of the New Paltz Parish, presided. Over 250 persons attended the services. Arthur Ingraham, representing all volunteer workers, was honored.

Also participating in the services was Henry DuBois, mayor of New Paltz. Junior and senior choirs provided special music for the occasion.

The two-story brick and cement block building is attached to the main church structure by a glass enclosed breezeway. It houses Sunday school class facilities, making available two rooms in the church for a music room, church office and pastor's study.

Wisdom of the Ages

"No man, for any considerable period, can wear one face to himself, and another to the multitude."

The reputation of an organization rests upon the opinion of those who are served. Real appreciation becomes public knowledge and develops confidence and good will.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

Events in the Spring of 1862 made it clear to the North that a real war was rapidly shaping up, and that the casualty lists were going to get longer as the months rolled by. Union successes in Tennessee and the lower Mississippi Valley while gratifying to the folks back home, had not obscured the fact that our great Army of the Potomac, composed largely of New York Regiments, remained, in effect, still standing guard over Washington. Signs now began to appear—the series of disasters on the Peninsula and the Yankee retreat to Harrison's Landing, for instance, that these fellows south of the border, imbued as they were with an almost fanatical love of home state, rather than devotion to country, were resolved to fight to the last ditch. The so-called "Insurrection" was going to be a mighty hard nut to crack.

A lot of men had been recruited as a result of Lincoln's three calls for volunteers; a whole lot more were going to be needed, and it was here, again, that New York's wartime governor Edward Morgan took the lead. Morgan, indefatigable in his patriotic zeal, got the 19 other loyal states' Governors to appeal to Lincoln to call up reinforcements in great number. The President with his usual promptness, issued a call, July 1, for 300,000 additional volunteers, to be chiefly infantry. Now began a truly wonderful campaign for recruits, in which some of the best military minds of the times took part in a concerted effort to plan and execute a systematic drive for enlistments throughout the Empire State.

Well, this idea of continuing to raise armies by voluntary enlistment involved a deal of hard work, and was mighty expensive, to boot. A draft, such as had to be employed later on in the war, and with some mighty unpleasant results, too, was not in general favor at this juncture. So now came the intensive search for officers, the raising of vast sums of money, the stock-piling of mountains of uniforms, blankets, tents or what have you, in great depots like the one on Broadway near Canal Street in New York City. And now we can begin to localize this picture, what with camps being set up on the flats at Kingston as well as at other towns along the Hudson River. Later on, in the summer and fall of '62, so many camps had been set up that the assistant inspectors-general were hard put to cover them effectively. One of these busy officials, Col. Silas W. Burt, wrote: "After a conference as to the relative merits of Newburgh or Goshen as a camp site, I left for Kingston where Mr. Geo. H. Sharpe had been selected as commandant of what was to be the One Hundred and Twentieth Regiment. The camp was placed upon a plain near the village (Kingston, that is, not Rondout), and some recruits were already collected and under canvas. The adjutant and quartermaster were gaining some intelligence in their duties."

So, another Ulster County Regiment comes into the column picture—the gallant 120th, a monument to whose memory stands in the First Dutch Church yard at Fair and Main Streets in Kingston. Our Colonel Burt, continuing his rounds of inspection up and down the Hudson Valley, found time to confer, Aug. 11, 1862, with Gen. Chester A. Arthur in New York City about supplies for the 120th and other units. He also submitted plans of temporary barracks that he had recommended for the Kingston and other camps. These would be of "light and rough construction, sided and roofed with 1-inch hemlock boards and put up by the recruits of whom there are artisans of every kind."

These separate buildings would be 96x20, 13 feet high on sides with 19 foot roof peak. Large doors and gable windows at ends; four rows of bunks, each three tiers high for the full length would accommodate 180 men in each building. Sides not battened but space left between boards for ventilation. It was noted, however, that "later regiments complained of this free admission of air in the cooler weather." (Well one would think so, judging by the way the winter winds still come down from the mountains and fan out over our one time fertile Kingston Flats). Other buildings provided mess rooms, kitchens, etc. Colonel Burt admits the buildings were flimsy but served their purpose at a trifling cost, "since the lumber had a certain value after this use."—C.A.N.

Sorry, Wrong Number

HILLSBORO, Ill. (AP)—It's difficult to make a complaint to the Hillsboro Telephone Co. The new telephone directory lists the wrong number for the complaint department. Callers receive a busy signal.

Shokan

SHOKAN—Mr. and Mrs. Ben Woloson, Cairo, were recent callers in the village. Woloson has the hobby of collecting the cases and works of antique clocks which he assembles and puts in running order. He is now engaged in fashioning a grandfather's clock of Colonial vintage. Lester Elmendorf, Kingston, reportedly has a clock of this style which belonged to his ancestors in the Winchell family of Olive.

Dr. Robert Arnold and wife of Mifflinburg, Pa., were in town Friday. The couple were on their way to Millerton, Dutchess County, to spend the weekend with friends. Coming by way of Port Jervis and Kingston, they were enthusiastic over the view of the Catskills from Route 209.

Mrs. Edward Monaco and son Robert of Long Island have arrived at their summer place near the village.

Dr. Virginia Alekian of Ohayo Mountain Road was a Shokan caller Thursday.

Henry Gebelein is again greeting local friends after having been at a Kingston hospital for the past three months.

New lock boxes have been installed in the Shokan post office. Enlarged working space and a modern counter are other new features at the office.

Mrs. Ralph Stearns recently was given a retirement party by fellow workers at the Fleischmanns telephone central which was attended by 21 operators. Mrs. Stearns had been a telephone operator 36½ years. During the day she was presented with a leather wallet by District Traffic Superintendent Florence Rotsell of Kingston. Guests present at the party included Ora Moseman who retired seven years ago after 33 years of service with the telephone company.

Mrs. Cornwell Longyear, the former Evelyn Wands of Shokan, is spending some time at the home of her sister, Bessie, in Maitland, Fla.

Mrs. Fred Cabana, Springfield, Mass., resident for many years who as Dora Collins was well known in the old village of Shokan, spent Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Irving Barringer.

Albert Feldman has been named chairman of the Mental Health drive for funds in Olive.

Martha Lord, Maspeth, L. I., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Von der Osten of the Old State Road.

Why We Say--

SCHOOLMASTER: When we "burn the candle at both ends", we are living a fast life and are said to be putting ourselves into an early grave. The saying is from the old French, "Brusler le chandelle par lex deux bouts" and is attributed to an old schoolmaster who wanted more light for his classroom so he lighted both ends of the candle at once, but soon he was out of candles and had to solicit funds for more.

That Mailbag Contains Stock of Information

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In parts of rural China 50-year-old butter is used as a medicine. The older it is the more it costs. In this country buttering up the other fellow is a social, not a medical, art.

Here's another old superstition: It once was believed you could remove warts by secretly rubbing them with a dishrag or a piece of stolen meat.

No wonder we're facing a national water shortage. The average American uses about 3.5 million gallons of aqua pura in his lifetime.

Is the country going to the dogs? The U.S. canine population is now estimated at 26 million—or one dog to every seven persons.

WHICH IS THE RAMBLER AMERICAN?

In most compacts, it's a struggle to get in-and-out of low (as low as 46.5" above road), narrow doors, "deep-well" floors.

Compared to Ike-Faubus Case of 1957

Tougher JFK Stand May Have Chilled Alabama Viciousness

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's only public statement so far on the Alabama race riots gave the attorney general, Robert Kennedy, sweeping power to "take all necessary steps" to handle the situation.

But, for the first time in American history, the attorney general happens to be the President's brother. Robert Kennedy has kept the President informed of every step taken.

Thus President Kennedy, more than might ordinarily be the case with some other chief executive and his attorney general, must bear responsibility for what his attorney general does.

Avoids Angering Dixie

So, if Southern Democrats in Congress or Southern politicians in general get sore at Robert Kennedy, they must get equally peeved at the President.

Nevertheless the President—by letting his brother do most of the talking and being fairly mild himself in his only statement—avoids angering Southerners in the way he might if he were more personally and publicly emphatic.

He has intervened directly, but quietly. For instance, in telephoning Alabama officials.

Still, the question he faces—whether or not to speak out more forcefully—is both psychological and political.

Many persons felt in 1957 that if President Dwight D. Eisenhower had spoken out more forcefully the Little Rock school riots might have been avoided.

On July 17 that year he told a news conference:

Ike Against Troops

"I can't imagine any set of circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into any area to enforce orders of a federal court, because I believe that common sense of America will never require it."

But a federal court had ordered integration of a Little Rock school and, within six weeks after Eisenhower deplored the thought of using troops, Gov. Orval Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to block integration.

In the end, Eisenhower had to do exactly what he had said he couldn't imagine doing: He sent federal troops into Little Rock to squelch Faubus.

It is possible that if Eisenhower had been a lot tougher at that July 17 news conference, Faubus might have been discouraged from doing what he did.

It is also possible that if Kennedy had spoken out far more forcefully after the first Alabama riot—a riot against whites and Negroes riding buses to test the state's segregation laws — he might have chilled the mobs' subsequent viciousness.

Effect Not Same

The President apparently felt that the sweeping power he gave his brother would have the same psychological effect as if he himself had said more.

As it turned out, it didn't. The attorney general has sent hundreds of U. S. marshals into Alabama to be sure the bus riders are protected.

This may turn the trick. If the President had taken a more vigorous position, he undoubtedly would have antagonized a number of Southern Democrats at a time when he needs their help to pass important legislation in Congress.

Sees West Alliance Threatened by Lack Of Union by Groups

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Sir Harold Caccia, British ambassador to the United States, says that a lack of union between Europe's two great economic communities could lead to serious military weakness in the western alliance.

Caccia said Monday night that Britain is seeking to link the European Economic Community and the Eurooean Free Trade Association because their competition "can lead to political divisions." "Sooner or later such disunity would affect military coherence and strength," he added.

The European Economic Community or so-called 'Inner Six" is made up of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxemburg.

The European Free Trade Association or "Outer Seven" community includes Britain, Austria, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Portugal and Switzerland.

Says Formation Of Fiscal Policy Up to Governor

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Formulation of the state's fiscal policies is the job of the governor and the Legislature, and not that of the state comptroller, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson says.

Wilson, a Republican, charged Monday night that State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, "likes to pass himself off as the state's chief fiscal officer.

But, said Wilson, "the constitution specifically assigns the formulation of fiscal policy to the governor and the Legislature."

Gov. Rockefeller's fiscal policies, and that of his administration, have come under a barrage of criticism from Levitt, who is considered a potential candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1962.

Wilson criticized Levitt at the annual meeting of the Otsego County Republican Committee. His remarks stemmed from Levitt's repeated charges that the governor's tax and fiscal policies have benefited the wealthy at the expense of the lower-income taxpayers.

Rockefeller's answer was a report from Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy, who claimed the share of the tax burden borne by persons earning under $6,000 a year has declined under Rockefeller.

At record 354 persons were at last night's dinner.

Former Mayor May Seek Office

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Ex-Mayor Steven Pankow, found innocent last year of bribery charges from his administration, said he may seek the Democratic nomination for mayor in the November election.

Pankow was mayor from 1953 through 1957. He was later indicted with three former city councilmen on bribery charges in the awarding of paving contracts but a State Supreme Court jury cleared all four last October.

Pankow's successor, Mayor Frank Sedita, is the prime candidate for the party nomination as a result of a state Court of Appeals decision this month upholding a city charter amendment allowing a mayor to serve two consecutive terms.

City Councilman Victor E. Manz is also seeking the nomination.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

THE MONROE DOCTRINE REAFFIRMED

However fumbling our part in the invasion of Cuba may have been, Prsident Kennedy deserves thanks for reaffiming the Monroe Doctrine. It was time to draw the line.

E. F. Hutton

President Monroe in 1823 said with respect to Latin-American countries that had gained their independence, that "any interpostiion for the purpose of controlling in any manner their destiny, by any European power" would be considered "as dangerous to our peace and safety."

That meant "Hands Off." Monroe was clearly understood. On the contrary, until Mr. Kennedy spoke, our State Department had hemmed and hawed on Castro until no one knew what our policy was, if any. Meantime, we sank deeper in the mud.

What Mr. Kennedy has now said, should have been said when Russia sent its very first shipment of guns or planes to Castro. That was a clear violation of the Monroe Doctrine and an act of war.

The "Be Kind to Communists" crowd has done all the damage we can stand for. If we had a Congressman or Senator with the inflexible courage of former Senator Walsh of Montana, who exposed the Teapot Dome scandal in our highest Government circles, a Congressional investigation of the State Department since Castro came to power, would be in order.

Monroe said it was impossible for European powers "to extend their political system to any portion of this continent without endangering our peace and happiness."

How right he was!

NewburghCouncil Wants County to Handle Welfare

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Transfer of the Newburgh City Board of Welfare to the Orange County Welfare Administration is sought by the City Cuncil.

The council Monday night adopted a resolution asking the county Board of Supervisors to make the shift.

The action came four days after revelation of a disagreement between City Manager Joseph Mitchell and Clifford P. Tallcott, area director of the State Department of Social Welfare.

Tallcott said Mitchell "violated the spirit if not the letter of the law" in requiring relief recipients to appear for questioning by police on their qualifications for aid on May 1. Tallcott threatened to cut off state and federal contributions to the city's relief costs if such police questioning was repeated.

Mitchell, denying any violation of the law on his part, said he ordered the questioning in order to verify the relief clients' qualifications for aid under welfare laws.

The City Council last week supported Mitchell's stand.

Browning Named

band at Hasbrouck and Delaware Avenues.

Ten divisions and 11 musical marching units are expected to parade.

Honorary Marshal Browning will ride at the head of the first division and proceed to the reviewing stand to receive the salute of marchers. He will be escorted by representatives of the seven veteran groups comprising the Kingston Veterans Association, led by Sidney Lane, president.

A charter member of Woodstock American Legion Post, Browning served as county Legion commander in 1931. He holds membership in almost every veterans organization including Ulster County Voiture 381, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux.

He was recently named an honorary member of the Veterans of World War I and has received many other honorary titles, memberships and citations.

In 1955 he was named by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars of which he is a member as the Citizen of the Year, and in 1956 the popular newscaster was "tapped" for the National Lafayette Honor List.

This Saturday, Browning, a native of Texas, will celebrate his 68th birthday.

Mayone announced that parade orders to all participants will be published. In the event of inclement weather, the parade will be canceled.

Methodist Charge Receives 14 New Members Sunday

Fourteen new members were received into the Methodist Churches of the Reservoir Circuit on Pentecost Sunday. Churches of the circuit are Ashokan, Glenford, West Hurley.

Mrs. Erich Schiller, a new resident of Ashokan and the mother of a Methodist minister, was received into that church by transfer from The First Presbyterian Church of Stamford, Connecticut.

New members completing the confirmation class successfully were Joseph Boyce, Eileen Gibbins, Linda Glass, Donna and Paul Goins, Alice Hendricksen, Beverly Henkel, Barry Hopkins, Darlene North, Al Nussbaum Jr., Donald Rice, Poncie Rose, and Terry Seaman. Linda Glass is a student at the Marbletown School; the rest of the class attend Onteora Central High School.

After the confirmation ceremony, the Rev. W. H. Hunter stressed in his sermon the need for the Holy Spirit for a vital Christian experience.

Next Sunday marks the installation of new officers of the Woman's Societies of the churches at the Sunday services: Ashokan 9:30 a. m., West Hurley 11 a. m., Glenford 12:30 p. m. The Ashokan church will hold its first Sunday evening fellowship that evening from 5:30 to 7:30.

Shokan Church Schedules Fun Program Friday

A night of fun and fellowship, sponsored by the consistory, will be held in the Shokan Reformed Church Friday, 8 p. m.

The program will consist of tricks of magic by Fred Van Deusen; musical spoons by Frank Nerhi; skit by the church young people; impromptu act by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith. Other acts will be added to the program.

There will be community singing of the old time songs. Refreshments will be served. A free will offering will be accepted. The public may attend.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Du Pont and General Motors held fairly well in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 251.20 with industrials up .90, rails off .60 and utilities off .40.

Both Du Point and GM recovered some lost ground in early trading. Later GM erased a fractional advance and showed a small net loss. Du Pont, up about 4 points in early trading, lost most of it as it sold up ½ in early afternoon.

The rest of the market was very narrowly mixed.

Steels were moderately higher.

The firmer spots in the list were the farm implements, aircraft-missiles and electronics. Motorola was up 1⅝, Avnet Electronics gained ⅝.

Chemicals were ahead on balance. Union Carbide advanced a point and Air Reduction rose 1⅜.

Tobaccos tended to sell off. Drugs, building materials and nonferrous metals were mixed. Leading rubber stocks took fractional losses. Rails were off fractionally.

Christian Science Views Mesmerism

How individual rights are defended through spiritual perception of God's complete power and wisdom will be brought out at Christian Science services in Woodstock Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the Golden Text from Proverbs (21): "There is no wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against the Lord."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (pp. 234, 235): "Evil thoughts and aims reach no farther and do no more harm than one's belief permits. Evil thoughts, lusts, and malicious purposes cannot go forth, like wandering pollen, from one human mind to another, finding unsuspected lodgment, if virtue and truth build a strong defense."

From the Bible will be read these verses from I Peter (5): "Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: Whom resist steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world."

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society of the Woodstock Reformed Church will hold a lawn market on the Village Green on Saturday, May 27. The teenagers will offer for sale dishes, bric-a-brac, furniture, books and records and some antiques.

Stokes Resigns

cial Prosecutor Tompkins had no authority to bring the proceedings and held that only the District Attorney of the county or a citizen of the town involved could institute such proceedings. The Appellate Division held that facts mentioned in the petition were of substantial proportion, but denied the application on the grounds the actions had been instituted by the wrong party.

Later Special Prosecutor Tompkins turned the testimony over to the District Attorney, Raymond J. Mino, since elevated to the County Court bench, on order of Justice Henry Clay Greenberg. When Corwin assumed office those facts were turned over to him. Later after additional testimony had been given before the grand jury that testimony was made available to District Attorney Corwin's office. The present action to take the matter back to the Appellate Division followed.

It is alleged the two town superintendents are guilty of "misconduct" in office in that they received a "kickback" of a cent a gallon on road oil purchased.

The allegation has been denied by both of the town superintendents. Mercier is represented by Vincent G. Connelly and John E. Egan for Amos Stokes.

Discusses JFK Slate

VIENNA (AP) —White House press secretary Pierre Salinger today conferred with Austrian officials on a schedule for President Kennedy's two-day meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev here next month.

A tentative schedule calls for Kennedy and Khrushchev to meet on June 3 at the U.S. Embassy and the next day in the Soviet Embassy.

Negro on Tenn. Jury

BROWNSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Negro has been selected for the first time to serve on the grand jury of Haywood County, a civil rights battleground for more than a year.

Joseph Ballard, 65, custodian at City Hall, was selected Monday to serve with 11 white men. The criminal docket will be called Monday.

Sturges to Test

Benefits Listed

In addition to the savings in electrical consumption and gas consumption other benefits sought are a greater supply of hot water, a cooler basement in summer, and less maintenance expense as head pressures are lowered.

The diner, located at a busy intersection in Trenton, operates around the clock. Its power bills during the summer exceed $600 per month.

The nine refrigeration condensing units are air-cooled Tecumseh hermetic type. Six are of ½ housepower each, serving 3 water coolers, two pie cases and a Baine-Marie. Two ¾ horsepower units serve an ice cream cabinet and a reach-in kitchen cooler. A 1 horsepower unit serves a walk-in cooler.

Sturges Optimistic

Sturges points out while this is the first diner he has tackled, the heat exchangers have been amply tested by the various utilities serving New York State on dairy farms and in markets. One dairy farm, Franklin Kelder, in Accord, is now getting all his hot water on an energy-free basis from his Thriftchanger alone, as is Nelson Boice's general store at Olive Bridge and the Boiceville Market at Boiceville. However, he is eagerly awaiting the results of the test by the giant utility.

Alabama Capital

ing tension was the expected arrival of 12 American Nazi party's "hate bus" riders. Party head George Lincoln Rockwell described the bus as a protest against communism and integration.

Guardsmen in Jeeps, or on foot in squads with fixed bayonets, patrolled the streets. City police aided, but the hundreds of federal marshals ordered here by Atty. Gen. Kennedy were no longer on the streets.

The marshals, who kept the Sunday night mob at bay at the Negro First Baptist church until state patrolmen and guardsmen arrived, were withdrawn by the Justice Department. They are standing by at Maxwell Air Force Base on the outskirts of the city.

May 31 Tax Deadline

City Treaurer Orrie R. Riehl today issued a reminder that May 31 is the deadline for payment of the second half of the general city tax without penalty. A two per cent charge will be added to the tax rate after that date, and after 20 days, from May 31 the penalty will be five per cent plus $1 for issuance of notice.

Switch From Declining Rail to Growing Firm

Q—"In 1952 I began to purchase Louisville & Nashville Railroad and now own 50 shares at an average price of $78. With the stock selling round $50, I am wondering if I should take my loss and switch into a more promising situation, such as a good growth stock. What do you think?" J. H.

A—You have held the stock long enough, and I suggest you make a switch.

Louisville & Nashville, like many other railroads, has suffered under the weight of sharp competition and rising costs. Earnings in 1960 were $4.28 a share—one of this road's poorest showings since World War II—and the dividend was reduced.

While the picture may improve a bit this year, I have little reason to believe that former earnings highs will be reached or, for that matter, even approach. It is true that a merger could do much to help the outlook, but such a remedy will not come overnight.

I advise you to sell your Louisville & Nashville shares and to put the proceeds into stocks with a pattern of rising earnings such as J. W. Mays (NYSE) or Fischbach & Moore (OTC). Both of these stocks have prospects for consistent appreciation that the railroads do not provide.

Q—"I have had very good results with utility stocks such as Arkansas Western Gas, El Paso Electric and Public Service of New Mexico. Since purchase, these stocks have increased in value and have paid good dividends. Can you recommend other utility stocks with similar prospects?" E. P.

A—I congratulate you on having picked three growing utilities serving some of the fastest expanding areas in our country. For additional purchases, I suggest you take a look at Arizona Public Service (OTC) and Southwestern Public Service (NYSE), both of which I regard as outstanding growth investments in their field.

CHEAPER MONEY AHEAD?

To stimulate the national economy, powerful voices in Congress are demanding that interest rates be reduced. The easiest way to do that is to lower the rediscount rate at the Federal Reserve Banks.

Any change in the basic rate would significantly influence security prices. Government bonds, corporate obligations and preferred stocks would be affected.

If today, any conservative investor will anticipate a lowering of the interest rate which 12 Federal Reserve Banks have charged their borrowers, many high-grade securities can be bought at bargain prices.

In 1958, the rediscount rate at the Reserve Banks fluctuated from 1¾ per cent to 3 per cent. Today, this rate is 3 per cent. Before this article appears, it may be lowered. If that happens, doubtless the securities mentioned here will have advanced in price.

Thousands of conservative investors with unemployed money believe that many common stock prices are too high. And they are right. Yet, they want to put their money to work. Here are some suggestions.

In 1958, when the rediscount rate was 2 per cent, the non-callable $7 cumulative preferred stock of U. S. Steel Corporation —the top ranking industrial company of the world—sold for $158 a share. Today it can be bought for $145. If interested rates were reduced this stock could advance 10 per cent in price.

Likewise in 1958, the non-callable $7 cumulative preferred of International Harvester, the ranking enterprise in its field, sold for $166 a share. It is available today at $146.

The $7 preferred of American Smelting and Refining Company sold for $155 a share in 1958 when money was cheaper. Just now, an investor can buy it at about $142, affording a yield of almost 5 per cent in perpetuity.

The very high grade $3.75 callable preferred stock of General Motors which earns its dividend 70 times over, sold for $92 a share in 1958. Today, is on the bargain counter for conservative investors and can be purchased for about $82.

The high-grade $4.50 preferred of that chemical giant, Du Pont, can be bought at around $101 a share. In 1958, it sold for $112.

If the rediscount rate is lowered ever so slightly, the United States Treasury bonds will sharply advance in price.

As this is being written, several of the 2½ per cent governments are selling at 89 and 90. If the rediscount rate were lowered from the present 3 to 2¾ per cent or to 2½ per cent, these bonds would advance 5 points at least.

* * *

Occasionally, it is wise for the managers and trustees of funds for social, educational, religious and philanthropic organizations to shift their investment policies. And such is now a time. A change in the basic interest rate is in the cards, and investment managers should change policies, too.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television, if repeated audience samplings are accurate, is a woman's world.

Newly issued report on the make-up of the nation's viewing audience by the A. C. Nielsen Co. whose studies are considered authoritative by the industry, states that there are more adult women in the TV audience than men, teen-agers or children from morning to midnight—except for the 5-6 p.m. kiddie's hour.

Also, there are more women than men in the home audiences for Westerns (29 per cent women; 32 per cent men) and for mystery-suspense programs (45 per cent to 34 per cent)—both bread-and-butter programs presumed to have strong masculine appeal. The proportion becomes even greater then the programs are in the categories of drama (50 per cent women; 34 per cent men), variety (49 per cent to 33 per cent) and situation comedy (40 per cent to 27 per cent).

Complexion of the daytime audience is strongly feminine, as would be suspected. Between 2 and 3 p.m. women form 63 per cent of the audiences—just about the percentage which watches the soap operas.

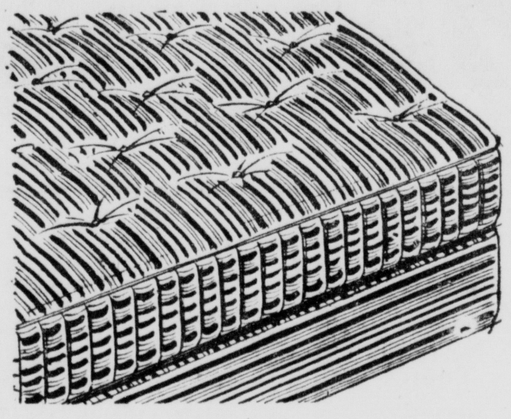

Most popular viewing time for everybody is — logically — between 8 and 10 p.m.

The big new trend in TV is the animated cartoon — next season there will be seven of them: "Bugs Bunny," "The Flintstones" and "Rocky and His Friends" will return for another season, and there will also be NBC's "Bullwinkle," CBS' "Alvin and the Chipmunks," plus ABC's "Calvin and the Colonel," and "Top Cat."

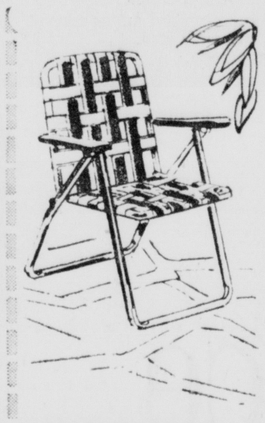

Recommended tonight: "White Paper," NBC, 10-11 (EDT) — "Railroads: End of the Line?" is the title and it is a study of the current problems of rail transportation.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—American oilmen are well aware that when the Russian Bear goes on a raid he can be bruising. And today other American businessmen are studying the latest Soviet economic switch in tactics to see what's in it for them.

For some the announced policy of putting more emphasis on Soviet consumer goods may mean a chance for a new market.

If Soviet Premier Khrushchev means what he says about making more things than just heavy industry items, he may want to buy consumer goods machinery, such as those that make textiles, shoes and appliances, or buy more raw materials and semi-finished materials that go into consumer goods.

U.S. exports to the Soviet Union and its European satellites already had hit a 13-year high in 1960 of $193.4 million. The new move could increase that still further.

For other American consumer industries it could mean in the long run a new competitor in the already crowded scramble for world markets. The Soviet home market might absorb all the new production for a while, but you can't count on it. You never know when Khrushchev may decide to withhold some consumer good from his own people in order to raid an outside market.

And when the Soviet Union enters a world market for any reason—often political it plays rough. Americans often find it hard to compete when all customary rules are scrapped.

Ask the oilmen.

Soviet oil has suddenly appeared at cut-rate prices in markets which American and Western European oil companies have been serving.

Russia can set any price it wants to: First, it doesn't have to fit prices to costs if political purposes outweigh any loss. Second, it can forego a profit without disturbing its stockholders (the Soviet government is the only one). Third, it can barter its cut-rate oil for local goods, which it can either use itself or dump elsewhere (American private firms have much less leaway to do that).

Soviet oil is still but a trickle in the entire world flow. But it is its direction to certain markets, to capture them or to disrupt U.S. trade that hurts.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

An interesting magazine was brought to my attention. It is called the "Log of Mystic Seaport." It is published for members of the Marine Historical Assn. Inc., of Mystic, Conn. The story and the picture of the "President's new desk discovered by Mrs. John F. Kennedy" reads like a TV adventure.

It seems this now famous historical desk was made from the timbers of the Resolute, and was presented to President Hayes in 1880 by Queen Victoria. The Resolute was a British exploring ship in the year of 1852, under the command of Captains Henry Kellett and George F. McDougall. The Resolute had joined a squadron of six ships bound for the Arctic and the search for the lost expedition of Sir John Franklin, which had vanished attempting the discovery of the legendary Northwest Passage.

It seems around the entrance to Melville Sound in 1854 the fleet was beset by ice and the Resolute had to be abandoned. Her lucky crew escaped, joining those of the remaining vessels. Somehow the mysterious Resolute drifted away from the ice and landed on Cape Mercy off Baffin Island some 1,000 miles away. It took a master of a New London Whaleship the George Henry, Captain James Monroe Buddington, to sight the abandoned Resolute. Captain Buddington boarded the Resolute on September 10, 1855, and found her sound in hull, and with accumulation of ice on her port side. I always had an idea that the first man aboard an abandon vessel such as this, became its owner.

Captain Buddington took a boat's crew and refitted the mysterious Resolute while he placed his own whaleship, the George Henry, in charge of John Quale. When ready, Buddington brought the strange Resolute back to New London, where he arrived on Christmas Eve, 1855. His George Henry, arrived at the same port five days before. Captain Buddington could have kept the Resolute as a Christmas present but the Resolute has a much stranger ending that.

The news, of course, when it reached England was most surprising, because it is not often when a British exploring craft is abandoned that it is considered worth recovering or repairing. At the time there was strained relations between the two countries, and so, a Henry Grinnell, a New York merchant, thought it would be a nice gesture on the part of the United States to completely refit the Resolute and return her to England. It cost the United States $40,000 which was appropriated by Congress. So this young country of ours, put the Resolute in real ship-shape condition and sent it back to Portsmouth, England, there the Queen Victoria, herself, boarded her three days later.

The Resolute did service for the British Navy until 1880 when she ended her active career. It was then suggested that a piece of fine furniture be made from her timbers and presented to the President of the United States, "in grateful acknowledgment of the restoration of the Resolute in 1856, as a free gift of the people of the United States." The desk was then made and presented to President Rutherford B. Hayes by Queen Victoria.

More on Captain James Monroe Buddington, the famous whaleman who found the Resolute and first refitted her. He sailed both the Antartic and the Arctic. At the age of 70 he served as mate for his son on a sealing voyage, and retired at the age of 73. He was over 90 when he went to Sailors' Snug Harbor and on December 24, 1908, the 53rd anniversary of his successfully bringing the mysterious Resolute to New London, he died. Captain Buddington's own ship George Henry was lost in the Arctic in 1863.

Named Manager At Kingston IBM

IRVING P. MAURER

The appointment of Irving P. Maurer, of Port Ewen, as electro-mechanical manufacturing manager has been announced by Richard J. Whalen, general manager of the IBM Federal Systems Division Command Control Center at Kingston.

A graduate of Kingston High School, he is the son of Mrs. Russell R. Maurer, of Doris and Bayard Streets, Port Ewen.

Maurer joined IBM in 1948 as an assembler at the Poughkeepsie plant. He was transferred to early SAGE computer development at Kingston as manager of manufacturing in early 1954. He was named technical assistant to the assistant superintendent and then manager of SAGE assembly in late 1954. The following year he was named project manager of card assembly, pluggable unit assembly and final test cell assembly and in late 1955 administrative assistant to the manager of manufacturing. Two years later he was named manager of second shift plant operations. In late 1959 he became adminisrative assistant to the works manager, a post he has held until his present appointment.

Maurer is a member of the American Legion Post 1298, 40 & 8 Voiture 381, Port Ewen Fire Dept., and has served as president of the Esopus Little League.

Maurer, his wife, Irene, and daughter, Diamme, 19, who is presently a student at St. Rose College, Albany, reside on Doris and Bayard Streets, Port Ewen.

WHAT'S BEHIND OUR SLOGAN, "DOLLY MADISON GIVES YOU MORE OF EVERYTHING"?

Sound like a lot of brag and boast for an ice cream? We'll admit it's a pretty all-inclusive statement, but we're describing a product that is significantly different. For instance?

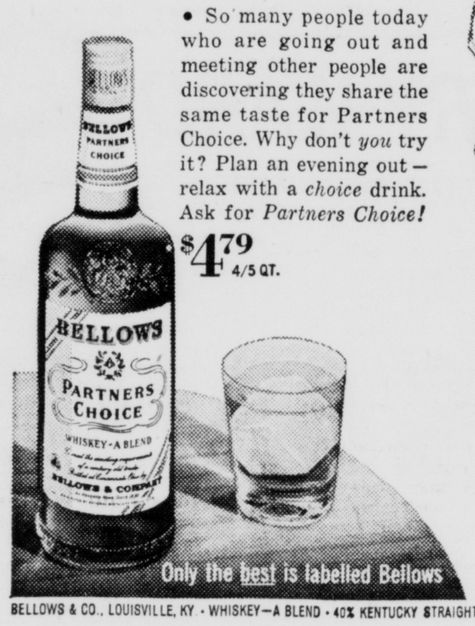

Well, Dolly Madison ice cream is not full of air—as a result, you get more ice cream. There's more real body to this ice cream, thus you get more servings per container. You get more flavor—we describe it as old-fashioned hand-dipped flavor, the kind you remember from the time when we all screamed for ice cream.

This is the kind of product that made ice cream all America's favorite dessert.

If you'd like to test our claim, we'll go along. We've arranged a special "try and see" price—simply find the real coupon described below and take it around to your Foremost and Dolly Madison dealer. But don't you dillydally now—our offer ends June 30.

Reformed Church Show Is Success

A capacity crowd filled the auditorium of the Tillson fire hall at the stage show, "Frolics of '61", presented Saturday evening, May 20, under the auspices of the Tillson Reformed Church.

Featured on the show were Fred VanDeusen, Kingston magician, who performed a number of mystifying acts that were well received by the audience; Barbara McGrath, Woodstock actress, who received appreciative applause for her monologue taken from scenes of the play "My Fair Lady," and Robert "Bob" Tremper of Ulster Park, whose comedy routine was amusing. Bob appeared as the winner of a "Miss Tillson" contest, and his impersonation of such a person was cause for constant laughter and much applause.

A fire baton twirling exhibition by Miss Judith Buckman of Kingston thrilled the audience as the performed with fire burning at either end of her baton in the darkened auditorium.

Bruce Hampshire and Alan Theiss, local musicians, on trumpet and saxaphone, opened the show with their rendition of the theme from Peter Gunn, followed by a novelty number.

The Four Queens, of Saugerties, including Jean Wood, Barbara Schultz, Pamela LaPlant and Mary Pat Gavigan, sang "Tonight You Belong to Me" and "Gonna Get Along Without Ya Now" and were called back for an encore.

Laurie Barringer received much applause for her song, "I'm Little but I'm Loud", and the dance team of Lesley Barringer and Toni Timbrouck was greatly appreciated. Rose Marie Sutherland, making her Tillson debut, sang "I've Told Every Little Star" and was called back to sing "My Happiness." Leslie Barringer, well-known local vocalist, received considerable applause after he sang "I Can't Begin to Tell You" and "Love Me Tender."

William Dunn, who acted as accompaniest on the show, was featured playing the electric organ and was well received.

The show ended with a 25-minute one-act hilarious comedy, "I Love You Truly", with a cast from Tillson, including Helen Sutherland, Janet Wakeley, Margaret "Peggy" Sutherland, Barbara DeWitt, Hollis Harvey, Thomas Rowe and Walter Born. This comedy provided many laughs and chuckles every minute it was being produced, and as the cast was introduced, each received much applause from the audience.

Assisting in the back stage work were Arthur Toman, Ernest Hopper, Mrs. Joel Woolsey and Miss Mary Ann Woolsey. Usherettes were Mrs. T. E. Miles and Mrs. Walter Warren. Mrs. Shirley Cafeerty took tickets at the door. Refreshments were sold by members of the Youth Fellowship Group, and the Ladies Aid provided decorations and awards.

Master of ceremonies on the stage show was Hollis E. Harvey, who produced and directed the show for the benefit of the building maintenance fund of the Tillson Reformed Church. Harvey has expressed thanks to all who in any manner aided in making the benefit affair a success.

$2 Million Plant Due for Orange, May Employ 200

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—The Dyan-Foam Corp. has announced plans to build a $2-million-dollar plant near Campbell Hall in nearby Hamptonburg Township.

Donald G. Gedde III, international operations manager of the corporation, said Monday night the plant would employ 60 persons to start, with long-range plans calling for a staff of 200.

The plant will manufacture a new plastic for installation, decoration and cushioning, Geddes said. He estimated construction would begin some time next spring.

Police Break Up $20 Million Per Year Game Rings

NEW YORK (AP)—Police and Brooklyn district attorneys men made five raids Monday and Monday night on bookmaking and numbers operations that officers said had a combined annual volume estimated at more than $20 million.

Police announced these major results:

1. Simultaneous raids led by top-ranking police officials on a hotel, an office building and an apartment in Manhattan smashed a gambling ring that handled $8 million a year in bets on sports events.

2. A $2-million-a-year Harlem numbers racket was broken up by police, and three persons were arrested.

3. Members of Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver's rackets squad trailed three suspected numbers collectors to a lower East Side tenement in Manhattan. They broke down a door and seized numbers slips which, according to Silver's estimate, represented an annual handle of $12 to $13 million.

Early today, police arrested 30 men engaged in a dice game on Manhattan's West Side.

Jacqueline Giving President Golf Course for May 29

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy is giving the President an abbreviated golf course of his own for a birthday present.

Workmen have been busy at the Kennedy's weekend estate in Middleburg, Va., carving out a course of three or four holes for the President's private use.

It's pretty hard to keep a present like that a secret and Kennedy already has been trying out the layout.

According to reports, Mrs. Kennedy is footing the bills for greens and fairways covering some 20 acres on the 400-acre Glen Ora estate the Kennedys have leased for a year in the heart of the Virginia hunt country.

The longest hole will be about 350 yards.

Already, a sign denotes it as the "Glen Ora Country Club."

Kennedy's birthday is next Monday, May 29, when he will be 44 years old.

Wants Mixed Bomber-Missile Force

LeMay Believes B70 Needed, Will Argue Against Cut-Back

EDITOR'S NOTE — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, who will take over as Air Force chief of staff July 1, is a veteran bomber pilot and the first chief of the Strategic Air Command. He believes in the B70 bomber. His appointment, writes Fred S. Hoffman, an Associated Press military affairs reporter, may signal a new effort to get the speedy plane in the air soon.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's advent as Air Force chief of staff may signal a new effort to win an administration go-ahead for the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 bomber.

LeMay a veteran bomber pilot and first chief of the Strategic Air Command, is an exponent of the B70 and a believer in the concept of a mixed bomber-missile force as a main deterrent to enemy attack for some years to come.

Genral Wants Action

An associate of the incoming staff chief said LeMay believes the B70 is needed and that the general doesn't want to see it canceled or delayed.

This LeMay associate contended the B70 project has not been abandoned; that the Kennedy administration has reached no final decision. He spoke in terms of presenting a case for the B70 "in court," apparently meaning the highest levels of the administration.

Generally, the source familiar with LeMay's thinking said he expected "no radical changes" when the bluff, vigorous, 54-year-old general takes over from retiring General Thomas D. White July 1.

May Have More Influence

LeMay has been vice chief under White for four years, the source noted, and thus has worked with White in developing the policies and practices now in effect.

But where White was an appointee of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, LeMay is President Kennedy's choice—and thus may have more influence at the top of the current administration than White could exert.

Presumably, LeMay could exert that influence in the direction of gaining support for the B70, which Kennedy has proposed cutting back—at least for the present.

North's Bid Is Interesting

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When a good partnership is clicking away it is a pleasure to watch it operate. Mervyn Key and Bobby Nail of Houston are one of these good partnerships and it is worth-while to see how easily they reached three no-trump with the North-South cards.

Of course, many other players would handle these cards all right also. Experts don't have a monopoly on good results.

Bobby has a normal double of West's one heart opening and Mervyn, in the South, has a sound one no-trump response. He has eight high card points, two potential heart stoppers, and no interest in the other major suit.

Bobby's raise to two no-trump is the interesting bid of the hand. He saw no reason to show one of his four card suits after Mervyn had bid no-trump and his only problem was whether to bid two or three. His choice of a mere two no-trump showed his confidence in the fact that Mervyn would know about the bonus for bidding and making a game.

Sure enough, Mervyn went to three. There was nothing much to the play. West opened the queen of spades. Mervyn won in dummy and led the jack of hearts. Eventually he set up one heart trick which was enough when added to his two spades, two diamonds and four clubs.

L.I. Man Hurt As Loaded Rifle Goes Off in Car

A Central Islip man was seriously injured Sunday night when a loaded rifle in a car in which he was a passenger was accidentally discharged. His condition is described as "poor" at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

Charles Becker, 22, of Central Islip, L. I., was struck when John Dederick, 16, of Oak Hill attempted to grab the rifle as it slipped toward the driver, Francis McCarthy, 37, of Central Islip, as the car rounded a curve on Route 26 in the Town of Greenville, Leeds state police reported.

The bullet went through the front seat of the car and struck Becker who was seated in the back seat. The .300 calibre bullet lodged in the rear seat.

Greenville Justice of the Police William Graff fined McCarthy and Dederick $10 each for carrying a loaded gun in the car.

The accident was investigated by Troopers G. E. Davis and A. T. Johnson.

Victory for Murchisons . . . But

Formal Word Due On Vote by Alleghany

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Wrter

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The epic "battle of millionaries" for control of the $6.7-billion financial empire ruled by Alleghany Corp. ends today with a victory for the insurgent Murchison brothers.

Never before had a proxy fight been waged for such stakes.

All that remained was formal announcement of the margin in stockholder votes they rolled up over vanquished management forces led by Allan P. Kirby, outgoing chairman.

Counting disputed proxies, it was expected to top 800,000. Disregarding them, it was still well over a half million, informed sources said.

Kirby May Bide Time

Unanswered, however, was this question: By winning the battle, did John D. Murchison, 39, and Clint, 37, win the war?

Paradoxically, the outcome left Kirby, rich and proud, owning nearly 35 per cent of Alleghany's 9,844,970 common shares, a holding larger than that of the corporation's new rulers and their associates combined.

In the lexicon of poker, Kirby was "looking down the throats" of the victors. The best indication was that he would bide his time, spurning the Murchisons' expected profer of representation on the board.

Kirby, 68, reputedly worth $300 million built on a Woolworth 5-and-10 cent store inheritance, stayed away from today's thrice-recessed session of Alleghany's May 1 annual meeting.

The count of proxies was finished only last weekend.

The dissident Texans whose father, fabulous oilman and investor Clint W. Murchison Sr., once was a Kirby business ally swept all nine director berths—the seven elected by common stock votes and the two chosen by preferred shareowners.

Angling for McCloy

The Murchison forces planned to assemble in New York on Wednesday to take over officially, probably by installing an interim crew of new corporate officers.

One report had them angling for services of John J. McCloy, former New York banker and government official, as directing head of the company.

Robert B. Anderson, a former secretary of the Treasury and now a special partner in a Wall Street investment firm, was another possibility.

Alleghany controls the $2.5-billion New York Central Railroad and Investors Diversified Services, a $3.7-billion, Minneapolis-based investment company complex.

In addition, it has multimillion-dollar holdings in the Baltimore and Ohio and Missouri Pacific railroads, Webb & Knapp Inc., giant New York realty firm, and Transamerica Corp., an insurance holding company.

Lefkowitz Calls On GOP to Push Positive Program

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz today that Republicans "must not be lulled into a sense of complacency" by the achievements of the party in the state and Gov. Rockefeller's administration.

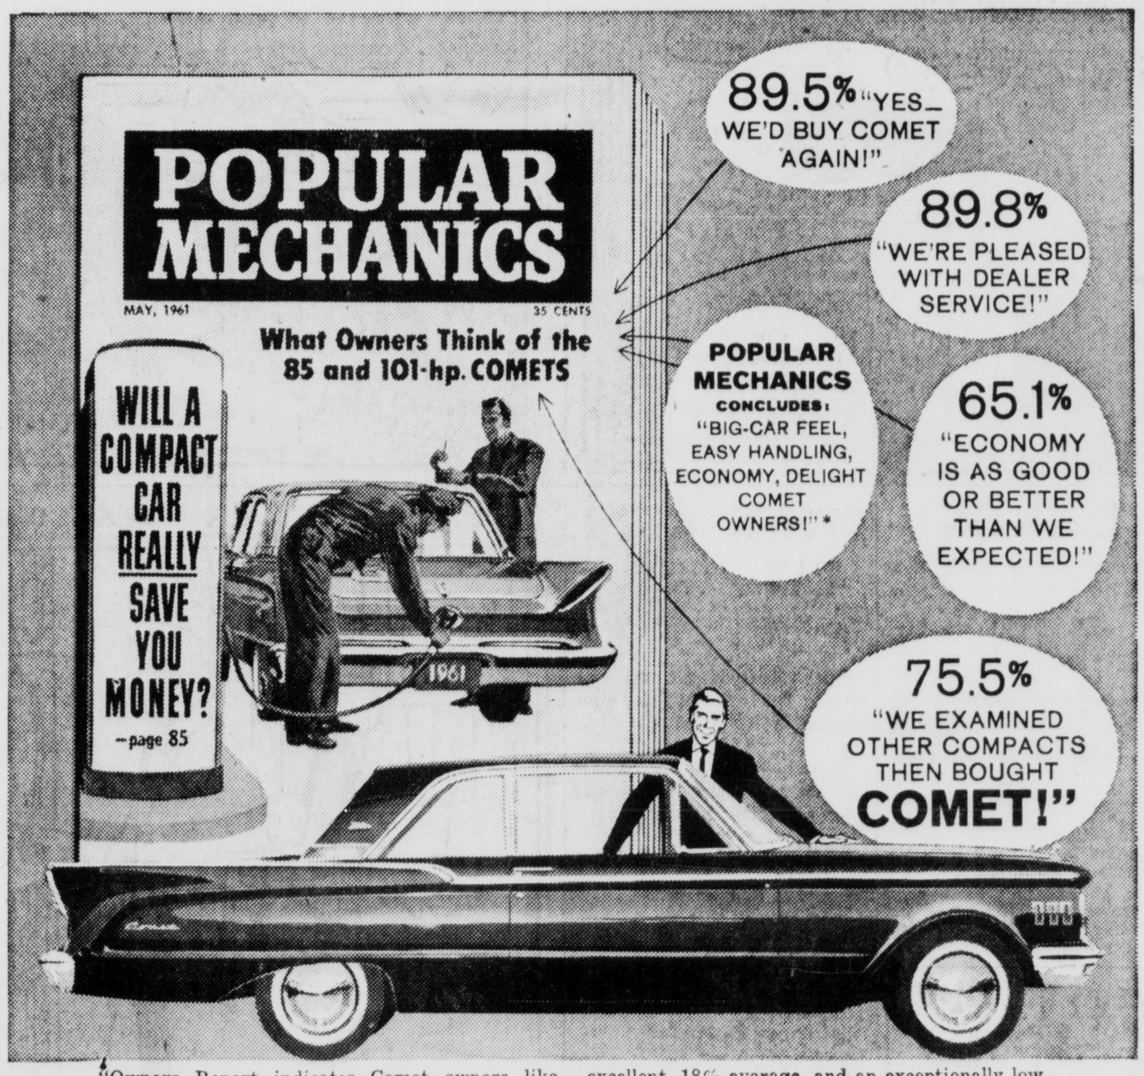

"We must continued to present to the electorate positive, progressive programs which are responsible to the needs of the people and candidates who. . .will carry on a dynamic campaign aimed at informing and arousing public opinion on the vital issues," he added.

Lefkowitz called for "devotion and hard work" by all in the party in a talk prepared for a breakfast meeting of the Monroe County Republican Committee.

One Dies, Three Hurt in Crash at Plattsburgh Port

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—A single-engine plane crashed while attempting to land at Municipal Airport here Monday night, killing one man and injuring three others seriously.

Ronald Smythe, 27, of Huntington, Que., believed to be the pilot, died an hour after the accident at Champlain Valley Hospital.

Smythe's wife, Joan 31, Kenneth Wentworth, 24, and his wife, Marie, 20, also of Huntington, were reported in serious condition at the same hospital.

The plane crashed about a mile and a half short of the runway it was approaching. It landed 300 yards from St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church.

The cause of the accident was not determined.

The group took off earlier Monday from Malone and flew to Burlington, Vt., where they had lunch, then headed for Plattsburgh, officials at the airport said.

The owner of the A35 Beechcraft Bonanza was listed as Donald T. Mageean of Bangor, N. Y.

AirForceResumes SearchforMaheux

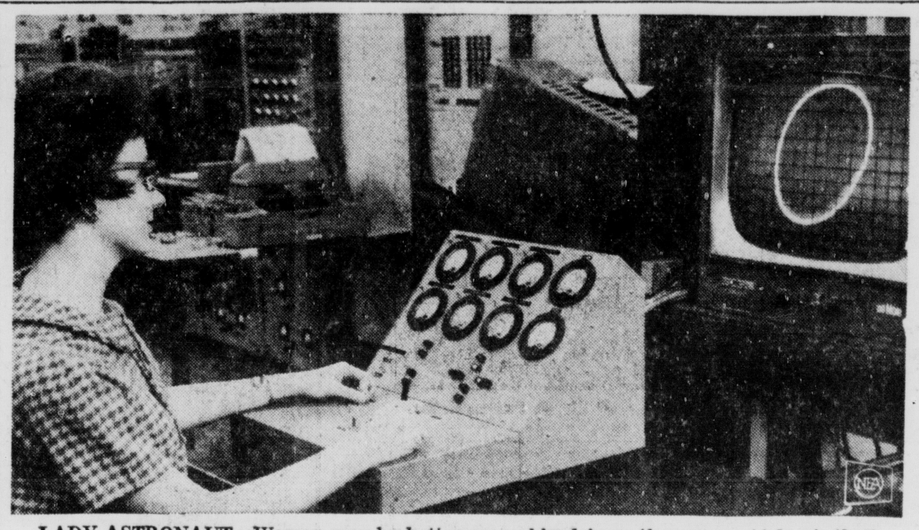

NORTH HUDSON, N.Y. (AP)—About 50 Air Force men today resume a search around this Essex County community for an airman who has been missing since last December.

The Air Force announced in Plattsburgh Monday night that they would begin looking for S. Sgt. Pierre Maheux, 27, of Auburn, Me., who parachuted from a B52 bomber over the Adirondack Mountains.

The seven others were found alive shortly after the crash.

Two helicopters join in today's search.

The Air Force searched for Maheux for about three weeks after the crash but finally suspended looking for him for the winter.

Zoning Changes Are Discussed by Paltz Town Board

NEW PALTZ—The New Paltz Town Board was faced with some major changes in the town zoning ordinance at its last meeting.

The two main proposed changes were: Changing the south side of Route 299 from Joalyn Road on upper Main Street, to the Putt Corners Road for a depth of 350 feet from residential to business. The north side will be business for a depth of 350 feet except for an area of 1,000 feet west of the Putt Corners Road and 1500 feet deep which will be industrial.

Changing the residential area along the Springtown Road to industrial. The industrial section, as proposed, will include the land between the railroad and the Wallkill river on the east and a depth of 1,000 feet west of the railroad continuing to the northern line of the town.

It was explained that most of the other proposed changes were relatively minor and were being suggested in order to do away with too much generalization in the zoning ordinance. Changes of a specific nature will be a help to the zoning board of appeals.

Most of the changes have been suggested by the planning board. They will finally need to be approved by the board, then, the town board will then have to give its final approval.

The town board will hold a public hearing June 14 on the request of Anthony Schiro to widen to 50 feet his 25 foot right of way which leads to the old DuBois Road.

Supervisor Peter Savago, has announced that the final 1960 census figures are 5,841 for the town, which includes the village, and 3,041 for the village, which includes college students.

Town Clerk Theodore Lasher has reported that the licensing of dogs is finished for the year, and that New Paltz received one of the largest sums of money back from the county on dog license fees. The number of dogs which is now 800 for the Town of New Paltz.

The board also decided that some of the town books will need to be rebound before they are moved and stored in the new vault of the new town building, and that all the existing books will have to be sanitized before they are moved.

The new town building has progressed to the point where the trim work will soon be started. The water and sewer lines are completed, and electric wiring is now under way. Waterproofing paint is to be used in the vault instead of the regular paint since the cost is approximately the same.

A request for a sign saying "Children Playing—Drive Slowly" for Joalyn Road, was referred to Issac Pole, Highway Commissioner.

The board voted to accept an invitation to articipate in the Memorial Day parade.

Those present at this meeting were the Supervisor, Peter Savago; Town Clerk, Theodore Lasher; Highway Commissioner, Issac Pole; Councilmen, Robert Elting and Kenneth Hotaling; Justices S. Parks Glenn and John Tenaglia, and Attorney Peter Harp.

Memorial Day Parade Plans Are Announced

The Memorial Day parade and services will be held Tuesday, May 30, beginning at 9:30 a. m. The members of the Sullivan-Shafer Post 176, American Legion, invited all organizations to take part in the parade and services with them. A special invitation is extended to all veterans to participate.

The parade will start from North Manheim Boulevard, at 10 a. m. with all participants to be in line at 9:30. The line of march will be from North Manhein Boulevard to North Front Street to Church Street to Broadhead Avenue to North Chestnut Street to Main Street and continue up Main Street to the monument where the memorial services will be held.

Modena, 8 a. m.; Lloyd, 8:15 a. m.; New Paltz, 8:40 a. m.

The public may attend the services.

Local Boy Scouts Attend Camporee

New Paltz Boy Scout Troops 74 and 77 were among the 175 scouts and scouters at the Southern District spring camp-o-ree recently, together with their scoutmasters, Frank Kidney and Fred Sutter.

As each troop arrived in camp their patrols made their fires and cooked supper. On the second day each troop competed in various events varying from the centipede race to the scout skill such as signaling. The Explorers of Troop 77 under the advisorship of William Morris, supervised and judged the events.

Troop 74 was given the special award for the best use of the patrol method. The Eagle patrol of this troop also won an award. Awards for these and other events were presented at the round table, May 22 at the Highland Presbyterian Church.

The next camp-o-ree will be held at the Trimount Scout Camp-o-ree in the middle of June, where the scouts of the entire Rip Van Winkle Council will attend. The camping committee is already planning for a full campsite lined up for that affair.

Former Resident Is Promoted by College

Professor Theodore Manolakes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Micholas Manolakes of 15 North Front Street, New Paltz, has been named head of student teaching in the University of Illinois College of Education. This was announced by Professor Charles M. Allen. His appointment will become effective as of September 1.

He will be in charge of assignment of students to Illinois elementary and high schools for the "professional semester" required of all students preparing to become teachers. He has been head supervisor of elementary teachers at the university for the past two years.

Before going to Illinois in September 1959, Prof. Manolakes has taught in elementary schools at Suffern and Kensington, and at Hunter College and at Teachers College, Columbia University. He received his BB degree from New Paltz State University College of Education and his MS and EdD degrees from Teachers College, Columbia.

St. Joseph's Church Lists Activities

At teachers recognition day last week, the children of St. Joseph's school honored the Sisters and lay teachers with gifts from each class.

At the assembly Tuesday morning, members of the graduating class put on a play depicting the story of Our Lady of Fatima. Arthur Michel was awarded a medal from the American Automobile Association for his excellent work in organizing the school safety patrol, by the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward F. Monckton.

Friday, 11 a. m., the Most Rev. James A. Griffiths, DD, administered the Sacrament of Confirmation at St. Joseph's Church. Boy Scouts under the direction of John O'Donnell directed parking.

The newly elected officers of the Men's Club of St. Joseph's have taken the initiative in approaching all men of the parish to invite their interest. In a letter mailed to every prospective member, a series of questions were asked which will guide the executive committee in deciding the future plans for the success of the club.

The men of St. Joseph's Parish turned out Saturday to paint the church.

Area Activities

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner, owners and operators of the Western Auto Store here, recently visited Santa's Workshop in Boston.

Two Get Prison Terms For Passing Bogus Bills

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Two men have drawn federal prison terms for passing counterfeit $20 bills at a suburban shopping plaza last November.

William Lupo, 33, of suburban Penfield, was sentenced to four years by Federal Judge Harold P. Burke. James Cannarorro, 24, of Rochester, drew a 2½-year term. They were convicted last week of an 11-count indictment charging them with passing, concealing and possessing counterfeit bills.

HearingContinues In Girl's Death

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—A closed preliminary hearing continued today for Charles Ducharme, a 20-year-old farm laborer accused of killing a 17-year-old girl who rejected his love.

City Judge Irving Goldman, after listening to three witnesses behind closed doors Monday, adjourned the hearing until today. The identities of the witnesses and their testimony were not made public.

Newsmen and spectators were barred by Goldman. Only one witness testified in the room at a time.

State Police charge Ducharme shot Betty Ann Davison as she returned home April 30, after a date with another youth. Ducharme was captured May 4 after he had shot himself in the stomach, police said.

Ducharme is accused of first-degree murder. At Ducharme's arraignment last week, his attorney, J. Byron O'Connell of Plattsburgh, said he would contend that the crime, if any, occurred in Canada.

State Police charge the girl was killed in a home at Mooers Forks, eight miles south of the Canadian border.

Po'keepsie Man Is On Visitor Board

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—James L. Lumb of Poughkeepsie, was appointed by Gov. Rockefeller today to the board of visitors of Hudson River State Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Lumb was named to serve to Dec. 31, 1964 in the unexpired term of Mrs. Belle W. Saltford of Poughkeepsie, who resigned last November.

The appointment of Lumb, 54, is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Rockefeller, in another appointment, reappointed Monday Mrs. Etnah R. Boutlee of New York City, to the Board of Visitors of Warwick State Training School for Boys.

Both posts are unsalaried.

Shell reveals how Jimmy Doolittle's pioneering fight for finer aviation gasoline helps today's Super Shell give your car top performance

One of the nine ingredients in Super Shell comes straight from aviation.

It is called Alkylate. Read how Jimmy Doolittle helped Shell develop this extraordinary ingredient—and how Alkylate helped Shell take 100-octane gasoline out of the laboratory and put it into the skies.

You'll also learn why Alkylate is now blended into today's Super Shell for top performance.

YOUR ENGINE may run smoothly at low speeds—but knock when you put your foot down at highway speeds. This is called "high-speed knock." It has been a problem for years.

What Doolittle knew

The high-speed knock problem cropped up for the first time in the early 1930's, when the earliest really powerful aircraft engines were being developed.

Jimmy Doolittle, then Shell's Aviation Manager, realized that such engines couldn't run efficiently without higher-octane gasoline to prevent high-speed knock.

He knew of a 100-octane fuel already being tested in Shell Laboratories. That fuel was iso-octane, the basic ingredient of Alkylate. But iso-octane had never been produced in quantity.

Doolittle acts

Working with Shell scientists, Jimmy helped pioneer Shell's first large-scale Alkylation plant.

This opened the way to Shell's commercial production of 100-octane aviation gasoline. The new fuel made giant airliners possible. And it helped make today's high compression automobile engine possible, too.

How high-speed knock can hurt car engines

Although your car travels much slower than an airplane, its engine often turns faster than the engines of a DC-7.

Long trips at sustained highway speeds put a heavy heat load on your engine. This can cause high-speed knock—resulting in engine roughness, power loss and even damaged engine parts—unless your gasoline is up to the job. And Super Shell is.

Super Shell's nine ingredients

In all, there are three special anti-knock ingredients in today's Super Shell. You've read about the first one, Alkylate.

Read now what the other two contribute—and how all of Super Shell's ingredients help your car deliver top performance.

#2 is new, improved TCP* for restored power, added mileage and longer plug life.

#3 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knock. It helps control combustion, so that pistons get a firm, even push rather than a hard knock.

#4 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr. It's the super-octane result of 900-degree heat and catalytic action.

#5 is Butane for quick starts. It is so anxious to get going, Shell stores it under pressure 400 feet below ground.

#6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups. It is made by tearing petroleum apart, much as you split kindling.

#7 is an anti-icer to help check cold-weather stalling. It is added whenever the temperature is likely to be less than 45 degrees.

#8 is gum preventive to help keep carburetors and automatic chokes from clogging.

#9 is Platformate for extra mileage. Shell uses eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst to make this super-energy ingredient.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try today's Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs.

Test Super Shell any way you choose—for fast starts, for pick-up, for knock-free power, for long mileage. You'll discover what Shell scientists really mean by top performance.

Fate of Move for Protestant Reunion Up to Episcopalians

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The fate of a newly launched move for Protestant reunion rested today with the Episcopal Church.

Whether it will go along with an action initiated here by the 173rd General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church was the question.

If it doesn't, the specific plan apparently is done for.

This was confirmed by the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, chief Presbyterian administrative officer, who said the procedure depended on a sequence of denomination approvals.

"There is a value in moving step by step rather than sending out a broadcast invitation", he said.

As spelled out in the plan, the next step is up to the Episcopal Church at its governing convention in Detroit next September.

"I have great hopes," Dr. Blake said.

If the Episcopal Church agrees to the unification effort, then it and the Presbyterian Church will jointly seek to enlist the Methodist Church and the United Church Of Christ in the negotiations.

The policy-making presbyterian assembly yesterday overwhelmingly approved the moves aimed at establishing a "united church, truly catholic truly reformed, and truly evangelical."

It was explained that the words "truly evangelical," were added to the original motion because of Methodist emphasis on this aspect.

The Episcopal Church stresses pre-Reformation Catholic traditions as well as Protestant elements, while Presbyterians and the United Church of Christ (including Congregationalists and the Evangelical and Reformed churches) stress the non-ritualistic customs.

A major problem as highlighted by floor discussions of the plan is the Episcopal Church's adherence to the traditions of apostolic succession.

The resolution also expresses the United Presbyterians' continuing desire to unite with Southern Presbyterians.

The assembly also approved further steps to develop a national Presbyterian church and center in Washington, D.C.

But, the Rev. J. Cristie Wilson of Princeton, N.J., said Presbyterians don't need "a shrine or cathedral in the nation's capital."

Mr. Cristie also joshed the Rev. Edward Elson, pastor of the present National Presbyterian Church in Washington and a key mover in the project, which could cost an estimated $20 million.

Mr. Cristie said that Mr. Elson had "baptized and brought into the church" former President Eisenhower, but that it ought not to be held against Mr. Elson that he was "not able to take into church a young man named John Kennedy."

"The cards and the cardinals were stacked against him," Mr. Cristie jested.

It was announced that Eisenhower has agreed to be chairman of a sponsoring committee for the project.

Res Found Guilty of Manipulating Market

Father, Son Bring on Big Probe Of the American Stock Exchange

Editor's note—The nation's second largest stock market, the American Stock Exchange in New York, has been jolted by the case of Jerry and Gerard Re, important father-and-son members expelled from the exchange by the Securities and Exchange Commission on charges of price rigging and market manipulations. The exchange itself now faces an extensive federal investigation. The following is the first of four articles exploring the situation.

American Exchange (Part 1)
By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the most important men in Wall Street held a meeting 17 months ago at the American Stock Exchange, close by Trinity Churchyard in lower Manhattan.

Their conference represented a showdown between the exchange and two of its most prominent members, Jerry and Gerard Re (pronounced Ray).

The Res, father and son, stood accused by their colleagues of flouting certain laws and regulations designed to protect the nation's 15 million investors.

Are Exonerated

The result—Jerry Re was barred from the exchange floor for just 30 days and Gerard was exonerated.

Among those who viewed the verdict with concern were officials of the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission, which soon began its own action against the Res with these recent results:

—On April 29, SEC investigators accused the Res of illegally selling nearly $10 million in stocks of nine corporations, of rigging market prices on a wholesale basis, of operating an "underground business combine" rooted in deceit and bribery, of doing "many millions of dollars of harm to thousands of unsuspecting investors."

The Res, according to their accusers, were guilty of the most flagrant market manipulation in the 26-year history of the SEC.

—On May 4, a lawyer for the Res told the commission that Jerry Re, 64, is a "truculent and arrogant old man" who could not be defended against the charges. However, the lawyer argued that Gerard, 38, tried to do the right thing, did not willfully violate the law and should be dealt with less severely.

In less than 90 minutes, the SEC gave its answer: Jerry and Gerard Re were guilty as charged and, as a consequence, were expelled at once from the American Exchange and barred from employment in any phase of the securities business. This was the maximum penalty the commission could impose.

—On May 15, the SEC announced plans to investigate, behind closed doors, "the rules, policies, practices and procedures" of the American Exchange in regulating its members.

To Determine About Laws

The purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether new laws or regulations are needed to protect the investing public.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Exchange says he welcomes the inquiry "because of the unwarranted inferences which have been made by some" as a result of the Re case.

The Business Conduct Committee of the exchange concluded lengthy hearings on charges that the Res violated rules designed to prevent market operators from driving down stock prices by selling short. The committee recommended that the governors of the exchange find the Res guilty.

Some top exchange officials agreed. These included McCormick and Joseph F. Reilly, then head of the Floor Transactions Committee and now chairman of the Board of Governors.

No Strangers to Trouble

The Res, at that time, were no strangers to trouble. In mid-1957 they had been hit with a federal injunction prohibiting them from making allegedly illegal stock sales. A year later the SEC had uncovered what it considered evidence of still further violations but, as yet, had taken no direct action.

The governors exonerated the Res.

Middletown Firm Moving to L.I.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—The Castwell Foundry Co., a $250,000 firm situated here since 1958, will shift to an undisclosed Long Island site shortly.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the Middletown Industrial Expansion Corp. Monday night by Michael V. Fratello, president of the company which employs 80 persons.

The expansion corporation said that in light of losing the foundry, plus other developments, it plans to hire a professional industrial coordinator to work out a program to attract new industry to this community of 24,000 persons.

World in Shock, People Can't Think

Steinbeck, One of Best Living Writers, Sees Authority Breakup

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK AP)—"The whole world is in a state of shock," said author John Steinbeck. "That is why people don't think.

"You can't think when you're in a state of shock."

At 59 Steinbeck, rated among the best of the United States' living writers, has turned out 27 books. His latest novel, "The Winter of Our Discontent," will be published next month.

But for 30 years Steinbeck also has made an intensive study of the Middle Ages, and feels mankind is again entering that kind of historical period.

Old Forms Breaking

"Again we're seeing the breakup of old forms of authority—religious, governmental, even parental—before new ones are established," he said, pugging cheerfully on a pipe in the study established," he said, puffing cheerfully on a pipe in the study of his East Side home.

"That's why people are so restless and worried. They don't know what to tie to.

"There's even a new trend in cocktail parties here. Instead of showing up with their husbands or wives or mistresses or lovers, people bring their psychiatrists.

Retains Gusto for Living

"Good Lord, the way we live."

But Steinbeck, who saw life in the raw in half a dozen jobs ranging from brick laying to war reporting, retains a wonderful gusto for living. Rumpling his graying hair and beard, swiveling his glasses from his nose to the 2,000 words of prose almost daily top of his head, he scribbles out 2,000 words of prose almost daily with a ball point pen in a series of old fashioned ledgers.

"I used to write 3,000 words a day, but it got to be too exhausting," he said.

The ledgers in which he writes would be gold mines to future literary scholars — if Steinbeck kept them. But he says he throws them away.

"They don't seem awfully damn important to me," he said in the rapid-fire, half mumble with which he talks.

"I heard once that J.P. Morgan spent a fortune for three of Shelley's hairs. Ridiculous. If he had lived when Shelley did, he probably wouldn't have read a line of his poetry."

Grows Intense, Mature

Hailed as a social reformer when "Grapes of Wrath" appeared in 1940, Steinbeck feels he has grown both more intense and more mature with the years.

"Everything in life is colored by your personality," he observed "but as you mature you become more aware of outside things, less concerned about yourself.

"There's nothing that cleans up like dying. If you stick around too long, they get tired of you. Sometimes I think I've stuck around too long.

"I may run out of gas, but not out of ideas as ideas have pups. It's when you're not doing anything that you don't have ideas."

Gala Variety Show Closes Tonight; Good Performances

From all reports the variety show given by the Holy Name Society of St. Peter's Church in Kingston has met with tremendous success.

A last performance will be given tonight in the school hall on Adams Street.

Particular attention has been drawn to the performances of vocalists Mrs. Virginia Mancuso, Mrs. Dorothea Flick, Mrs. June Scherer and Richard Scherer and the latter's sons, Kenny and Francis. Also appearing is Miss Lillian Fondino of the Latin Quarter.

Providing a comic tempo are Jim Gallagher, Ronald Diers, Lawrence Geuss and Nick Lemister, as well as Donna Mary Short and George Schupp.

Also in the show are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Komosa of Connelly, John Markett, tenor; Walter Harder, baritone; Jim Mikesh, Bob Radel, Joseph Bouchard and Donald Sills.

Boy Scout News

Hurley Cub Pack

Den 1 of Hurley Cub Pack 20 went on an adventure and nature hike up Hurley Mountain Saturday. Leading the hike was Edward Sheldon, scoutmaster of Hurley Scout Troop 20; and Douglas Enders, father of one of the boys. The boys went up the old fire road, ate lunch at the summit and returned cross country through the woods. Many varieties of insects, birds and wild flowers were discovered. Present on the hike were Chris Bellows, Kenneth Ellsworth, Douglas Enders, Gary Hanvey, William Schaaf, Daniel Sheldon and William Van Allen.

Scout Troop 20

Last Tuesday, Hurley Scout Troop 20 had its first annual parents night dinner and court of honor.

The Scout's Mothers' Auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. Doris Tweedy, served a dinner. The invocation was given by the Rev. Harold F. Schadewald of the Hurley Reformed Church.

Assistant Scoutmaster James Roosa, conducted Tenderfoot investiture ceremonies for new scouts, James Carver, Robert Geolewski, Randell Kelder, and Craig Millikin.

Scoutmaster, Edward Sheldon, announced the promotion of Robert Schmidt Jr. to junior assistant Scoutmaster. He gave second class awards to Michael Honan and Alan Pedersen; and the safety merit badge to Robert Schmidt Jr., James Tweedy, and John Henze. Vaughn Askue received the geology merit badge.

Following the court of honor Alex McDonald, council scout executive spoke to the boys and their parents. Robert Tremper, assistant district commissioner, put on a program featuring life at Camp Tri-mount. Also announced was the new troop committee for the coming year:

Oliver Tweedy, institutional representative for the Hurley Lions Club (troop sponsor); Randall Kelder, chairman; and committee members Donald Wolford, Gotfried Baum, George Miller, Clifford Henze, Lowell Popp, Erwin Grelewski, and Alex Milliken.

Care for Woolens

If you want your woolen dresses to look spruce next fall, now's the time to have them cleaned and bagged. If you wait until autumn, they will have collected more dirt and wrinkles through the summer months.

At the Markets

MILK AND DAIRY PRODUCTS — June marks the seasonal high point in milk production, and for the 25th year members of the dairy industry will celebrate June as Dairy Month. The nation's dairy herd will join in this celebration, the oldest such festival for any food, by producing more milk per cow than in any year in history and possibly setting a new all-time record of 125,000,000,000,000 pounds of milk before this year ends.

Fluid milk production during the current flush season exceeds demand, despite the fact that milk and its products contain a wealth of inexpensive calcium, the nutrient most likely to be deficient in the American diet. Milk not needed for fluid consumption is used for other dairy products, and these products are numerous. All dairy products are suitable foods for the summer season but many are especially adapted to warm temperatures.

BROILERS — Large supplies and low prices combine to make broilers a top choice for June meals — indoors or outdoors. Shoppers will find supermarkets crowded with fully 25 per cent more of these versatile birds in June than a year earlier. Broilers will be generally priced from 10 to 15 per cent less than at the same time last year or will be featured as low price specials.

POTATOES — Americans eat about 100 pounds of potatoes per person, more than any other vegetable. This June good-sized crops from several producing areas will load vegetable counters. Florida potatoes will still be in evidence with supplies increased by harvests in California, Arizona, Alabama, North Carolina, and Virginia. Prices are very low for this season — 2 cents for 5 pounds, 10 cents less than a year ago, according to the New York City Department of Markets.

How To Use Water To END YOUR CONSTIPATION WORRIES

Here's how to get to the basic root of your constipation problem. Bring enough moisture to your lower colon every day. As soon as food wastes are normally moistened, they will "move" as they should and you will enjoy daily elimination.

So do this to end your constipation worries. Take SERUTAN every day with plenty of water. SERUTAN is a pure vegetable gel which carries twenty times its weight in water to your lower digestive tract where it is needed to promote more normal regularity.

SERUTAN provides the proper moisture, bulk and peristaltic action to help keep you regular. This is utterly different from chemical laxatives which cause diarrhea and may dry you out.

Get SERUTAN today. Use it faithfully as directed for at least one week. You must enjoy daily regularity or your money back from the maker.

Jersey Approves Tax Package, to Add $78 Million

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — New Jersey legislators generally agreed that the state would spend $467.4 million during the coming fiscal year.

Although they figured and refigured, it appeared the state's income would be $39 million less than expenditures.

They solve the problem Monday by approving a three-unit tax package which could add $78 million annually to the treasury.

The Senate and Assembly approved a one-cent increase on cigarette taxes for $8 million, a penny boost in gasoline taxes for $20 million and a novel income tax on New Jersey-New York commuters for $50 million.

The commuter tax is designed to capture for New Jersey the $50 million paid to the New York state income tax by New Jersey commuters. It would levy an income tax on the 150,000 New Jerseyans who work in New York and on some 30,000 New Yorkers who have jobs in New Jersey.

Then, at the end of the year, New Jersey would give New York the estimated $10 million it had collected from the New Yorkers in return for about $50 million paid to New York by the New Jersey commuters. New York has a state income tax but New Jersey does not.

The commuter tax "is a beauty," one senator said, but he predicted a long, hard court battle with New York.

Mrs. William Keith Elected President Of Junior Marrieds

Mrs. William Keith, 16 Westrum Street, was elected president of the Junior Married Women's Club of the YWCA at the organization's annual election meeting last week. Chairmen to the standing committees will be announced by the president-elect at the club's annual dinner, June 1. Together, these new leaders form the executive committee of the Junior Marrieds and assume responsibility for initiating all club activities.

Also elected to the new slate were Mrs. Richard Rand, vice president; Mrs. Richard Vigurs, recording secretary; Mrs. Ronald O'Neil, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John Mueffelmann, treasurer.

At the business meeting presided over by Mrs. Robert Murray, reports were made by the respective chairmen of the card party and spring dance, Mrs. John Mueffelmann and Mrs. Richard Vigurs. Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg gave a resume of the Ulster County TB and Health Association dinner which she attended as representative of the Junior Marrieds. She reported on the commendation given to the club for its donation of over 500 birthday cakes for patients during the past six years. The club has also received a certificate of appreciation for its participation as the bank committee in the Easter Seal Appeal, according to the chairman, Mrs. O'Neil.

Arrangements for the annual dinner, which traditionally concludes the year's activities, were announced by Mrs. John VanDine. It will be held at the Capri, Port Ewen, June 1 at 7:15 p. m. Reservations may be made with Mrs. VanDine until May 29. Highlighting the dinner will be the installation of new officers. Attending as guests of the club will be Mrs. Eleanor Booth, executive director of the YW, Mrs. Mary Short, director of the YW's teen program, and Miss Marcia Clark, president of the board. They will represent the YWCA in the club's presentation of contributions to the various programs of the YWCA.

Doctor Who Removed Own Appendix Fine

MOSCOW (AP)—The young Soviet doctor who removed his own appendix in the antarctic April 30 is in perfect health and has gone back to work, Tass, the Soviet news agency said today.

Dr. Leonid Rogozov was at the Novo-Lazarev Research Station on the Queen Astrid coast of Antarctica when he was stricken by appendicitis on April 30. A blizzard kept him from flying to the main Soviet antarctic base at Mirny, several hundred miles away.

Tass said he observed his abdomen in a mirror while he opened it and despite severe pain cut out the infected appendix.

HERE'S ONE ICE CREAM THAT'S NOT FULL OF COLD AIR

Ever notice how some ice cream, especially when it's pretty well melted, seems to be all foamy and frothy-looking? That's the air coming out.

But in the old days, ice cream had some body to it—a good substantial texture so smooth you could see it tasted wonderful. We know, because we were making Dolly Madison ice cream in the old days.

Now our point is simply that we're still making Dolly Madison ice cream. It still has real body, fine texture, true taste. There's the rub. For it means we must charge more than the ordinary. But you get more deep flavor—more ice cream, in fact!

To prove it (until June 30), find the coupon described below and take it around to your nearest Foremost or Dolly Madison dealer. He'll then give you a special "try and see" price on a half gallon. You'll enjoy getting back to the kind of product that made ice cream so famous. Fair enough?

Spring Festival Program at MJM Is Announced Here

Nearly 300 students will participate in the annual Spring Festival of the Myron J. Michael Junior High School to be presented in the Kingston High School auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 8 p. m.

Opening the program will be a musical group by the MJM Band under the direction of Marlin Morette. Numbers will include: March Sabo, Bennett; Suite No. 1 in F Major featuring Jeff May as clarinet soloist, Mozart; Tambourine, by the Woodwind Ensemble, Gossee; Blue Tango, Anderson; Sonata No. 5 in F Major, with Joan Levy as flutist, from Handel; and March College Boy by Bennett.

A new feature this year will be an exhibition on the trampoline by seventh and eighth grade students under the direction of Mrs. Jean Ryan, physical education instructor. The trampoline is one of the most recent pieces of apparatus in the field of physical education. It combines one of the most natural activities with one of the most enjoyable sports. The simplicity of jumping make this activity available to all students. Many of the students have attained considerable skill on the trampoline which will make this part of the evening's performance enjoyable to everyone.

With Markian Baczynsky directing the MJM Orchestra will featuring the following selections: True Blue March, Merle J. Isaac; Mazurka, John Pulaski; Tango, Robert Leland; Valsette, Barbara Adams; and Scene Chinoise, by Courtney Drake.

Groups of dancers in colorful costumes will present the following folk and interpretive dances: Kaluelis (Lithuanian); Fado Blanquita (Portuguese); Troika (Russian); Sicilian Tarantilla (Italian); and an interpretive number featuring modern creative movements. Dance Director is V. Jane LaMotte, physical education instructor.

A choral group with James Brian Steeves, instructor, conducting, will feature the following selections: Brother James's Air (Marosa) arranged by Gordon Jacob; Do-Re-Mi (from "Sound of Music") Rodgers and Hammerstein; When Over Sunlit Paths, Swift-Moller; Sound of Music (from "Sound of Music") Rodgers and Hammerstein; and Old Ark's a Moverin' (concert version) by Noble Cain. Choral accompanist will be Joseph Esposito.

The program will conclude with a Finale with the entire student cast participating.

Ghana Statesman Is Speaker at Model UN Session

Africa and its problems became the focus of most students attention Saturday at the Model United Nations at Saugerties High School. Fifteen schools and over 250 students grappled with international politics as representatives of 86 of the 99 UN members. Late cancellations prevented seating representatives for all 99.

Principal speaker Paul Baddoo of China pointedly reminded the assemblage that the United States was the first colony to throw aside the shackles of imperialism. In referring to our heritage he suggested an African parallel, for as the U. S. had sought isolation in the 19th century so Africa seeks neutralism in the 20th. He said Africa too faces "New Frontiers" and they must meet them now. He asked for the American hand of friendship and guidance but no direction. He indicated that time heals wounds of two centuries of oppression and discrimination brought about under rulers and foreign dominion. Past masters can become friends and are accepted as such when they renounce illegitimate goals. He cited England and her relationship with the former American colonies. He did not reassure his listeners that Africa must necessarily reject the overtures of aggressive Communion although his hearing and speech content left little doubt that educated Africans at least in Ghana were not blinded by red stars and promises.

A second highlight of the day was the simultaneous translation of speeches from foreign to English languages. Marcia Farhat, an exchange student from Brazil at Whitesboro, addressed the assembly on Latin-American reactions to American proposals for aid and friendship in Portuguese. Her speech was translated by Jane Malecki of Utica. Lee Sillen, Arlington, presented the Russian views on admitting China in Russian and was followed by Joseph Curran, Arlington, as translator. Miss Jane Markowsky, Saugerties, representing Lebanon replied in Russian which was translated by Frank Mauro Saugerties. She repeated her linquistic juggling on the Mauritania question by speaking in French with Mauro again translating.

Trophies for outstanding statesmanship were awarded in each of the six agencies. Joseph Curran (Russia) of Arlington received the General Assembly award despite the unpopularity of his proposals. Craig Coelan (Russia) of Arlington received the award in the Economic and Social Council. Richard Williamson (United States-Jeffersonville) received the Security Council award. Albert Fasoldt (Italy-Columbia High School) received the acclaim in the Trusteeship Council and the Disarmament accolade was won by Bruce Oppenheimer (United Kingdom-Poughkeepsie). Saugerties Chief Justice of the World Court Wayne Abbott (Norway) received the World Court award.

Sean Murray of Aquinas representing Ireland presided over the General Assembly. National representatives served as presiding officers in the principal model agencies of the U. N. counterparts. Robert Francello, president of the Saugerties Forensic Forum, directed a secretariat composed of Ronald Smith, Jack Wilde, Fred Sandner, and Pamela LaPlante. Malcolm Bump assisted by Paul Whiting, local coaches, were coordinators. Visiting coaches acted as scorers.

Art arrangements for the session were handled by Karen Fous, Patricia Breen, and Joan Thornton. Reservations were accepted by Patricia Mayone and Virginia Roeser. Hostesses were Susan Schirmer and Marlene Carpino. Robert Herb was chief security officer handling arrangements, demonstrations, and pages.

SHARON JEAN STAHL, 14 year old accordionist and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stahl of High Woods, Saugerties, who will appear on Teenage Barn, Schenectady television program, on Friday. A pupil of Roger Baer's, Miss Stahl has appeared locally for many shows and benefits.

Martello Heads St. Mary's P-TA

Anthony S. Martello was elected president of St. Mary's Parent-Teacher Association at the Sunday night meeting of that organization.

Other officers elected to serve for the coming year were Kenneth Blundell, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Buser, secretary; Donald Beckert, treasurer. Mrs. Joseph DiDomenico was appointed as a member of the board of directors for a three year term.

The nominating committee consisted of Edward Altenau, William Garzione and Mrs. Jinor Pesce, and the slate of officers presented by them was approved without opposition.

In other business during the meeting Mrs. Ann Karashay asked if parents were interested in sending their children to St. Philomena's day camp this summer. Information concerning this will be announced at a later date.

The Rev. Joseph Hamilton announced that parents of eighth grade students would meet tonight 8 o'clock at the school to discuss the graduation party. He requested that one parent of each child should attend.

Vincent Amrod spoke briefly on details of the community college and urged the parents to actively work towards making it a reality.

Appreciation was extended to the P-TA for its donations to the CYO, books to the school and diplomas to the eighth grade.

Refreshments were served by the third grade mothers, Mrs. Phillip Breithaupt, chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Christiana and Mrs. Daniel Sheehan.

Rebekah Lodge Notes

The installation staff of the Queen of Catskill Mountain Rebekah Lodge 36, and members from the Ulster Lodge 34, will attend the meeting June 1 at the Olive Bridge Lodge.

Mrs. Virginia Sampson of the Olive Bridge Lodge, will be installed as Deputy President for the coming year. Although some members of Lodge 36 will attend the ceremonies, others will attend the regular meeting at the lodge hall at 8 p. m.

The Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs are now sponsoring a program to help retarded children and a check has been sent to the Grand Lodge Home for this cause.

A pilgrimage will be held at the Grand Lodge Home at Ithaca, June 3, when a bazaar and chicken barbecue is featured to raise money for the infirmary.

A benefit party will be held at the June 15 meeting.

Food Sale Saturday

The Thonda Theta Rho Girls Club, 26, are making plans for a food sale Saturday, beginning at 10 a. m. at Cousin's Appliance Store Woodstock. Money raised on this project will be used towards expenses for the girls' rally in Rome, Oct. 7 and 8.

Area Notes

Douglas Chaney, who will be seven years old May 25, celebrated his birthday Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chaney, Kalina Drive. Guests included Betty Ann Dean, Coy Henderson, Monica Young, Denise Fowler, Barbara Jo Hands, Laurie Evans, Kenny House, Gary Schnell, Barbara Mecionis, Richard Newcomb, Kathy Dobbin, Bruce Pyle and Douglas' sister Pamela.

Honored at Party

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lachmann were given a surprise farewell party on Saturday evening by their neighbors on Spaulding Lane at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgenson. Mr. and Mrs. Lachmann will be moving in June to a home they recently purchased on Route 9-W, Barclay Heights not far from their present residence. All the neighbors on the street contributed to the gala evening affair, which included a buffet supper, and a specially decorted cake made by Ralph Lachmann. The feted couple were presented with a chaise lounge, and two pieces of crystal as a token of remembrance from their Spaulding Lane friends.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warnecke, Mrs. Lachmann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lachmann, Mr. and Mrs. Terrance Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Modjeska, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Vladimir Chlud, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schoen, Mr. and Mrs. George Jorgenson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Decker, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Ricketson, Mr. and Mrs. Silas VanEtten, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arold, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zielman, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Schaff and Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgenson. Unable to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frazier and Mr. and Mrs. Vladimir H. Chlud.

Personals

Francis Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer of West Bridge Street, is a patient at the Kingston hospital, where he underwent a cataract operation on his eye, Thursday. He is a fifth grade student at St. Mary's of the Snow School, Saugerties. He is expected to be a patient there for at least ten days.

Frank Hommel of Mt. Airy, assessor for the Town of Saugerties, is in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ross and daughters, Jessica and Alice of Chappaqua, Westchester spent the weekend with Mrs. Ross' mother, Mrs. Anna Cawein of Malden-on-Hudson.

Minister's Son Receives Award

RICHARD W. COWEN

A Pennsylvania newspaperman, Richard Walter Cowen, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Cowen of Saugerties, is one of 15 journalists from 13 eastern states named to receive awards for excellence in reporting on public affairs.

The selection was made by the American Political Science Association which makes awards under grants from the Ford Foundation. Along with the others selected Cowen will receive a plaque and be guest at a seminar of political scientists, newspapermen and public officials on June 11-17 at Buck Hill Falls, Pa. The 15 were chosen from a group of 65.

Cowen's award was for a 12-part series on tax collecting in Lehigh Valley, Pa., which appeared in the Allentown Morning Call Nov. 28 through Dec. 10. As a result, many of the municipalities which the series included have been reappraising their collection systems with a eye to increasing efficiency and reducing costs.

Newspapermen from 12 northeastern states and the District of Columbia were eligible for the competition, with preference given those under 40. The awards were for the 12 best articles or series of articles on any phase of state or local government or politics published in any newspaper in the eligible states.

Cowen, whose father is pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties, in 1959 was made a fellow of the National Religious Publicity Council for outstanding reporting on religion the previous year. He also won, in 1959, a first award from the Middle Atlantic District of American Newspaper Guild for a series on the Negro in Lehigh Valley, Pa.

He has won two honorable mentions and one second place in annual competitions sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

Civil Service Exam

The Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, U.S. Naval Training Device Center, Sands Point, Port Washington, L. I., announced a continuously open competitive examination for Training Specialist GS-11, $7,560 a year and GS-12, $8,955 a year. Experience is required in technical training programs concerned with complex technical equipments which are parts of major weapons systems. No written test is required. The nature of the required experience and/or education is set forth in detail in the announcement, which should be reviewed carefully before submitting an application. Copies of the announcement, No. 2-6-1 (1961), are available at all Post Offices (except in Manhattan and the Bronx in New York City), at the Second U.S. Civil Service Regional Office, News Building, 220 East 42nd Street, New York 17, and at the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, U. S. Naval Training Device Center, Port Washington,

Kozlov, Close K Aide, Is Ailing, Soviet Won't Say

MOSCOW (AP)—Rumors circulated in the diplomatic colony today that Frol Kozlov, one of Premier Khrushchev's close associates, is seriously ill with heart trouble.

Asked about the rumors, a spokesman for the Soviet Foreign Ministry said, "We know nothing about any illness."

Kozlov, a secretary of the Communist party's Central Committee who has occasionally been mentioned as a possible successor to Khrushchev, was last seen in public April 17, when he attended a "Freedom for Africa" reception and a dinner for Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos.

Po'keepsie GOP Will Elect New Leader Thursday

Election of a chairman of the Poughkeepsie City Republican committee will take place at a meeting of the group Thursday, when William V. Welch, incumbent chairman, expects to resign after 14 years of service.

It was reported Monday that Robert E. Stevens, a member of the Dutchess County Board of Elections and former mayor of Poughkeepsie, is winning support of the committee members to succeed Welch.

Election of the committee chairman is slated for the Thursday night session at the County Courthouse at 7:30 p. m.

Youngsters Still Like Their Comics In Papers: Survey

NEW YORK (AP)—There is no evidence that newspaper comics and television are competitive for the attention of children, says a research professor of journalism at Boston University.

Dr. David Manning White told the National Newspaper Promotion Association Monday that studies show kids who watch a lot of TV also read the comics.

White heads a team making a three-year study of effects of comics on American culture.

He was backed in his opinion by E. T. McClanahan, promotion director of the Denver Post, who said a survey in his city of children 8-12 years old showed wide readership of comics among children who watch TV for an hour or more every day.

Jaycees to Hold Auction June 3

The sale will start at 10 a. m. and continue until all items are disposed of, Jaycee officials report.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to defray expenses of the Jaycee convention committee which will attend the national convention in Atlanta, Ga.

Residents having articles for the sale are requested to contact Robert Stedge or any member of the Jaycee organization.

Marlboro Teacher Attends Conference

Mrs. Thelma L. Loth, head of the Commercial Department of Marlboro Central high school attended a conference for Business Teachers Wednesday, May 17, at the Gidney Avenue Memorial School, Newburgh.

The conference was under direction of Hunting Sherrill of the Bureau of Business Distributive Education of the State of New York.

Sherrill said the importance of close relations between the Commercial and Guidance Departments of each high school in preparing students for their future vocation. He also suggested that college entrance students enlarge their programs to incorporate a business sequence in their course. Thus, students would have a vocational skill to use for part time or full time work as soon as he completes his high school education.

Fines Totaling $690 Paid in Traffic Court

The disposition of 55 traffic cases last week heard by Saugerties Town Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers resulted in the payment of $690 in fines.

Of the 55 traffic violations, 38 were for speeding on the Thruway with a total of $510 in fines. Sixteen other violations resulted in the payment of $170 in fines.

Five cases resulting from a roadblock by Kingston state police were disposed of with the payment of $35 in fines. One was for speeding, three for failure to keep right and one for driving without inspection certificate.

Firemen Critical Of Boston Shrine

BOSTON (AP)—Is Faneuil Hall, historical "cradle of liberty" a fire trap? The National Fire Protection Association said the 219-year-old meeting hall of colonial times has inadequate entrances and exits, narrow staircases, no sprinkler system, an undesirable quality of electrical wiring and a trash fire hazard exists on the first floor and basement.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Missy is back on the movie stages, and she has been missed.

As every Hollywood worker knows, Missy is the nickname for Barbara Stanwyck, who evokes an almost fanatical following among her fellow laborers in the movie mills. The reason is not only that she is a pro. She is also "one of the boys."

She laughs, kids and swears with the crew. They swear by her. So does the rest of the cast. She is a refreshing throwback to an era of professionalism.

Where has she been? She just finished a season in the TV jungles and won an Emmy for it. Before that, she admits she waited for the producers to call her. "Forty Guns" was her last film, and that was in 1957.

Producer Charles K. Feldman called her for a role in "A Walk On the Wild Side."

"I'm playing a madam in the picture," she grinned. "Chalk up another first for Stanwyck."

The actress was sitting on the set, her feet propped up on the makeup table while her frankly gray hair was being prepared for the scene. She makes no secret of her age, which is 53. Nor does she conceal her eagerness to work.

"I'm always at my best when I'm on a picture," she said as she climbed a long flight of stars to the set. "I wouldn't know what to do with myself if I wasn't working."

Miss Stanwyck's Emmy win last week had a touch of irony. She won't be back next season in the medium that supplied her first major award. She never made it with Oscar, though she was nominated four times.

Saugerties Police Warn Residents of Salesman

Saugerties Village Police today cautioned residents about magazine salesmen who say they are selling subscriptions for the benefit of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Sgt. Harold Mills said he had been advised by Robert Thein, commander of Saugerties Memorial Post, VFW that no one has been authorized to sell magazines for the VFW.

Several residents on Lighthouse Drive complained to police that a magazine salesman was canvassing the area claiming to represent the VFW.

Barger Fans 11 in Alpine's 13 to 6 Win Over Armstrong's

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

• Batting the Breeze:

Gene Massa, the former Kingston High All-DUSO backfield star and kicking ace, is being thwarted at every turn trying to get a professional football tryout. Several contacts made by local friends have failed to bring results. Barring a late development, it appears the rugged Kingston youngster is doomed to complete his football career as a semi-pro.

In addition to his lack of college background, there are other technicalities blocking Massa's efforts to get recognition. It's a sordid story but everything that could conceivably be done has been done for Gene and he still finds himself on the outside looking in.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Richard Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Strong of Kingston, was recently awarded a Varsity "S" in basketball at Springfield College. . . The football field at the new high school in Port Jervis will be named Al Chase Field, a fitting tribute to the late Alvin E. Chase, athletic director, the first of the DUSO's famed "Big Five" to make his earthly exit. . . New York State Women's Bowling Association officials on their recent visit to Kingston firmly supported a handicap basis of no more than 2/3. The prevailing rate in Kingston is 80 per cent and there is little likelihood it can be changed. . . . Jones Dairy of Kingston picked up $100 for a 2878 score at the Jenny Bowling Contest finals at Olympic Bowl in Rochester. Paulines of Delmar won first prize of $1,000 with a 3071 series. The professional Jenny 5 rolled 2998, finishing third in the field. . . Syracuse University, the upstate football foundry, has 1961 home games with West Virginia, Holy Cross, Pittsburgh, Colgate. Six road games include a Nov. 18 test against Notre Dame at South Bend. Also to be played on the road are Oregon State, Maryland, Nebraska, Penn State and Boston College. . . Hardly a powder puff schedule.

• Customers Always Write:

A. J. B., who asked that his name be withheld charged that publicity prior to the Kingston Braves, opening workout on May 14 was a farce and a delusion. "I'd like to know who was picked from the mid-Hudson area on May 14. Better yet, I didn't see any tryouts," says A. J. B. "All I could see was Davi having batting practice for an already organized team most of whom were wearing Brave uniforms. The only action was a handful of local boys retrieving balls. The only visible change in Davi's 'wide open roster' was a pitcher from the Haverstraw ball club and a catcher who is working in this area until September. What's become of the enthusiasm of mid-Hudson area ball players? At this rate the beautiful Dietz Memorial stadium will once more be sparcely seated throughout the baseball season." So said Mr. A. J. B. As to whatever became of the enthusiasm among mid-Hudson players, he knows as well as the next person. We feel that Fred Davi is sincere in his desire to put qualified local players on the NY-NJ roster. But, if any local player was shut out of a tryout we'd like to know about that, too.

• Of Men and Mice:

Henry (Sonny) Barnes of Kingston has received a check from the Louis A. Wehle Fishing Contest for second place in the brown trout division. The award is for the month of April. Barnes' 10-lb. 4 oz., 31-inch brown was taken from the Ashokan reservoir on Saturday, April 15. His entry is also eligible for the annual grand award made upon completion of the trout season. . . Bill Ebel of New York city is looking for someone to sponsor a local professional boxing card featuring his new lightweight sensation, Ray "Sonny Boy" Schlamp, who was born in Rifton. Schlamp, of German-Polish-American stock, engaged in 16 amateur fights, winning them all, 11 by kayoes. He won the Metropolitan AAU Lightweight crown by scoring five one-round knockouts. He is a babyfaced lad, who is still a student at DeWitt Clinton High School in New York.

• Slider Sometimes Slides:

You've heard it a dozen times, pitchers blessing the name of a pitch called the "slider" and raving how it made a new man of them. But Chuck Dressen, the Milwaukee Braves' manager, a rather outspoken gentlemen, buys none of it. After watching his Braves mauled four straight by enemy homers, says the Sporting News, Dressen moaned: "The slider is the most overrated pitch there is. It slides over the plate, then it slides out of the park." Apparently what the Braves' sliders need is more slide.

Canosa Slams Homer, 5 RBIs

Dave Barger fanned 11 batters and Mike Canosa knocked in five runs with a home run and single, as Alpine knocked off Armstrong's, 13 to 6, in the City Softball League.

Augie Passente had two doubles among the 11 Alpine hits off Bill Costello. J. Armstrong homered and Johnny Armstrong had a double for the losers.

Chez Emile downed Red Hook, 13-8, in a slugfest in which Ronnie Scheffel slammed a single, double and home run, George Glaser stroked a single, double and triple. Don Hobart homered for the winners. G. Kilgour of Red Hook had 4 for 5, including three singles and a home run and J. Kilgour tripled. Carpino was the winning pitcher and Don Moul took the loss.

Hurls 5-Hitter

Mike Boyle continued his brilliant pitching for Anchorage Rest, unfurling a 5-hitter in a 10-1 triumph over Bob Lasher and Subway Grill. The Anchorage collected 11 hits off Lasher and Vince Peck, all singles, and Rod Whittaker and Don Moyer slugged three each and Roy Casella had two.

A five-run fourth inning catapulted Nadler Motors to an 8-5 win over Yallum's Kings, who had won two straight. Steve Leoce survived a 12-hit barrage to gain the decision over Joe Amato.

Hank Benicase of Nadlers slammed a double and two singles in four at bats. John Crespino matched the performance for Yallum's and Fred Orr tripled for Nadlers.

Top PGA Personality

Name John Budd New Golf Pro At Shawangunk Country Club

Endicott Veteran Succeeds De Stefano

John Budd of Endicott, a member of the Professional Golfers Association for 25 years, has assumed duties as professional at the Shawangunk Country Club at Ellenville, Robert Stapleton, president, announced.

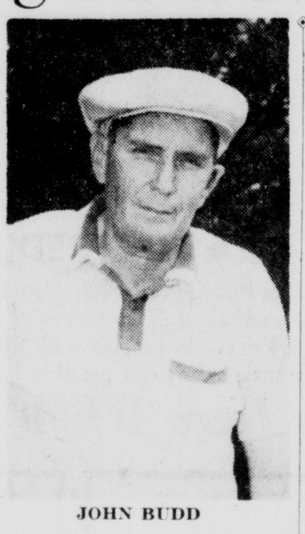

Budd, who comes to Shawangunk after 16 years at En-Joie Golf Club at Endicott, succeeds Ralph De Stefano, of Poughkeepsie, who resigned.

One of the PGA's best known personalities, Budd was named Central New York PGA Golf Professional of the Year in 1958. He is also well known for his speeches and articles on golf and is now preparing a series of 25 articles on teaching golf for Golf World magazine. His articles have also appeared in Golfdom, National Golfer, Golfing, The Golf World and Golf Digest.

The new Shawangunk pro qualified sectionally for six national championships and played in all these events. He qualified for the National Open in 1930 and 1940 and played at Spring Mill in Philadelphia and at Canterbury Golf Club in Cloveland. He was sectional qualifier for the National PGA championship in 1940, 1945, 1948 and 1950. .. ..

Budd held the course record for six years at Tallahasseee Country Club and he presently holds the professional record at the En-Joie Club with a 65 played in 1953.

In 1937, he served as vice president of the Southeastern section of the PGA and was secretary-treasurer of that section in 1938-39-40. He represented that section as a delegate to the National meeting of the Association three years. In 1940 he served as first chairman of the National Education Committee of the

JOHN BUDD

PGA and organized the first educational program.

In Executive Posts

When Budd went to New Jersey, he was honored by being selected as secretary-treasurer of that section. He served in that capacity for four years, 1941-44, and during that time also served as delegate from New Jersey to the annual meetings of th PGA.

He served as national vice president for District 2, which is made up of Philadelphia, Metropolitan and New Jersey sections for the years, 1943-44. Upon moving to his Endicott post, Budd became secretary-treasurer of the Central New York section and held that position from 1947 to 1955. He was again elected in October, 1960.

Budd has held several important committee chairmanships in the PGA, including the Informal Delegates Meeting, Educational Committee, the Industrial Golf Committee, the Sectional Affairs Committee and others. He was a director of the PGA Foundation for Education and Relief, and as a member of the Emblem Specifications Committee, he served as president of the Central New York Section for 1957 and 1958. He is a lecturer on the staff of the National PGA.

A native of Millville, Missouri, Budd is a graduate of Emory University of Atlanta, Ga. He made his debut as a golf professional at the Dotham Country Club at Tallahassee, Fla. where he remained for seven years. In 1941, he was named professional at the White Beeches Country Club at Haworth, N. J. and after two years moved to the larger Hackensack Golf Club of Oradell, N. J. He left the Hackensack club in 145 to take over the duties as professional and manager of complete operations of the En-Joie Golf Club at Endicott. This club is owned and operated by the Endicott Johnson Corporation.

Top Golf Teacher

Budd is recognized as a top golf teacher, organizer and public relations expert. Recognition of these qualities has gained him a regular panel speaking berth on the faculty of the National PGA Business School at Clearwater, Fla.

He is a graduate of the National Boy Scout Executives Training School of New York. He is a member of the Methodist Church, the Endicott Rotary Club and the PGA. His hobbies are public speaking, hunting, fishing and writing on golf and related subjects. He is a property owner in New Port Richey, Fla. and Endicott. Budd is married to the former Flora Cook and they have one daughter, 15.

Maroon-Olivet, Thayer-Jensen Bridge Winners

Miss Dorothy Maroon and Dr. John Olivet combined for a 57 per cent game to take first place on the North-South side of the Glenerie Bridge Club's monthly Master point tournament.

Harry Thayer and C. Paul Jensen of Kingston paced the East-West contingent with a high 65 per cent effort. Twenty-four boards were in play in a 9-table Mitchell movement.

Runnersup on the North-South side were: Emile Jenson and Robert Smith, Poughkeepsie; 55 per cent; Major and Mrs. Robert Briggs, Newburgh, 54 per cent; Henry Bahret, Poughkeepsie, and Joseph Zahtila, Hyde Park, 52 per cent.

On the East-West side, Mrs. Joan Madden, Ellenville, and Milton Daskal, Kerhonkson, posted 60 per cent; Roy Wulff and Dr. Murray Fletcher, Kingston, 55 per cent; Al Tirsch and I. H. Wheatcroft, Kingston, 50 per cent.

Reports Differ On Carry Back

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily News said today that Carry Back, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, "was injured in shipment between Pimlico and Garden State and is a doubtful starter in the Belmont Stakes."

In Camden, N.J., however, site of Garden State Park, Jack Price, trainer of Carry Back, said the 3-year-old colt shipped in excellent shape from the Pimlico track in Baltimore.

("I've got about 15 calls about whether he's been hurt," Price said. "Where do these things start?")

The News said that Carry Back, expected to be the first 3-year-old since Citation in 1948 to win racing's triple crown, "is believed to have suffered an injury to the big cannon bone of one back leg."

Name Richards All-Star Pilot

BOSTON (AP) — Surprised but pleased Paul Richards will make his debut in the All-Star baseball games — as American League manager.

Richards was named Monday by American League President Joe Cronin as pilot for the two games, July 11 at San Francisco and July 31 here.

Richards had never made an All-Star appearance.

Richards, named the AL manager-of-the-year when he directed Baltimore to a second place finish in 1960, commented in New York:

"I feel it is a great hnonor with grave responsibility which is generally recognized. The games mean a lot to all the players and we shall do our best to try to win.

"I am surprised I got the job. I thought it would go to Ralph Houk. But it is not for me to reason why. . ."

Richards' selection marks only the third time since the late Connie Mack led the junior circuit players into the 1933 All-Star inaugural that the previous year's pennant winning manager has not automatically directed the team.

Cronin said the retirement of Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees last year, necessitated the action. Cronin added that both Stengel and his successor, Houk, had been considered before Richards was picked.

The American League starters, except for the pitchers, will be chosen on the vote of all active AL players, managers and coaches. Managers will name the rest of the squad including the pitchers and two coaches.

Newburgh Tops KHS in Tennis

Second place Newburgh Academy blanked third place Kingston High, 5-0, in a DUSO League tennis match.

The Goldbacks, who trail the Poughkeepsie Pioneers for the DUSO League, dropped only two sets in sweeping three singles and two doubles.

Pete Roberts, in No. 2 singles and Bob Reardon, No. 3 singles, were the Maroon set winners.

On Third Try

Avery Scores First Feature Victory at Onteora Speedway

Don Avery, the West Shokan Whiz who was getting pretty tired of it all, shucked his bridesmaid role with a thumping victory in the 25-lap feature Sunday at Onteora Speedway.

Avery grabbed the lead on the 12th lap and stayed in front the rest of the way to capture his first victory of the season. The 1961 champion had chased Rebel Harris of Poughkeepsie and Johnny Flach of South Westerlo across the wire in previous outings.

This time Avery had to fight off a strong challenge from Harris and Ernie Beesmer of Olive Bridge, who projected himself into the limelight for the first time.

Beesmer, a provincial favorite who lives within the flag-draped shadows of the track, led the first six laps, and gave way to Harris. Harris took the lead for the next five laps, but on came Avery to power his "white 16" ahead of the field on the 12th lap.

Harris finished third as Doug Garrison of Hudson sneaked ahead of him to take second place. Beesmer, by the time the checkered flag had been flaunted, was in fourth place. And, another capacity crowd was on its collective feet showering Avery with neighborhood praise as he drove the victory lap. Walt Schubert of Cold Spring finished fifth.

Avery had an inkling it was "his afternoon" when he scored a half-length victory to outpoint Don Cronk in his first outing of the afternoon. It was a sizzling victory as he also outpointed Pete Keator of Kerhonkson. Keator was third, Beesmer fourth, and Ruby's Bill Scheffel fifth.

Harry Brazee of Torrington, Conn., grabbed the bauble in the first 10-lap head, heading home in front of Willard Martin of Hillsdale Lake and Bill Rathberg of Kerhonkson. Bob Hinckley of Accord was fourth and Dean Alexander of Glenford, fifth.

The Big Moment

Harris had his biggest moments in the third heat when he scored a victory over Garrison. Bob Schreiner of Poestenkill was third; Ray Anderson, fourth, and Walt Schubert of Cold Spring, fifth.

Jim Brate of Clarksville captured the victory in the 10-lap consolation, followed by Ray Chapman, Skip Waterfall, Bob Brennan and Gill Avery.

Onteora will present a thrilling midget auto racing program on Memorial Day at 3 p. m. when the top drivers of the Northeastern Midget Assoc. will speed around the Olive Bridge track.

The summaries:

First Heat — 10 laps — Harry Brazee, Willard Martin, Bill Rathberg, Bob Hinkley, Dean Alexander.

Second Heat — 10 laps — Don Avery, Don Cronk, Pete Keator, Ernie Beesmer, Bill Scheffel.

Third Heat — 10 laps — Steve "Rebel" Harris, Doug Garrison, Bob Schreiner, Ray Anderson, Walt Schubert.

Feature — 25 laps — Don Avery, West Shokan; Doug Garrison, Hudson; Steve "Rebel" Harris, Poughkeepsie; Ernie Beesmer, Olive Bridge; Walt Schubert, Cold Spring; Ray Anderson, Newburgh; Bob Schreiner, Poestenkill; Don Cronk, Paterson, N. J.; Jim Brate, Clarksville; Al Ostrander, Willow.

BIG HIT—When abandonment of farming left the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary with two large barns on their Mount Carmel grounds in Dubuque, Iowa, they turned them into recreation areas with two bowling lanes.

Stanley Dancer Stable Due At 'Mighty M' First Time

MONTICELLO — The famed blue and gold colors of the Stanley Dancer stable will be seen on a regular basis for the first time at Monticello Raceway when the Catskill Mountain track opens its summer meeting on June 15.

Dancer is expected to ship 20 horses to Monticello in time for opening night.

Jack Adams, Stanley's first assistant trainer, will be in charge and handle the training and the bulk of the driving.

However, Dancer has indicated he will take more turns in the sulky at the Mighty M than in the past.

Al Burton, a New Jersey neighbor of Dancer; Levi Harner and Austin (Ned) Galentine are other big-name drivers who will check in with full stables in time for the inaugural.

Galentine and Harner are no newcomers to Monticello, but Burton is. In the past, Burton has campaigned almost exclusively at the Metropolitan ovals.

Had Good Season

A resident of Columbus, N. J., Burton's stable banked a commendable $90,141 in 1960 against the stiffest competition.

Harner, of course, is best known as the trainer for Free-For-All pacer Tar Boy. Monticello racegoers remember the powerful duel Tar Boy put up against Adois Butler last year in a special match race at MR which gained nationwide attention.

Always among the top drivers, Harner is a veteran of more than 20 years in the racing business. He works for upstater Ted Zornow and in '60, Harner's mounts earned an eye-popping $226,608.

Galentine raced for half the season during Monticello's premier meet in '58 and was one of the leading drivers. He skipped the past two summers to campaign mostly in Canada.

Galentine drives for his father-in-law, Henry Clukey, of Harrington, Del. His stable made $64,928 last year.

Monticello has added 57 new stalls to boost its total to 612. Horses are arriving daily and stall space is filling up rapidly with little more than two weeks before the opening program.

Fights Last Night

Tampa, Fla.—Ike Vaughn, 146, Panama, outpointed Tom Dennis, 146, Tampa, 10.

Springfield Giants Boost Lead to Three

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's much to be said about the streaking Springfield Giants, including the fact they've proven so far they've got the strongest bullpen in the Eastern League.

Add to this their talented starting pitching staff and it's easy to see why the Giants have pushed their EL lead to three full games over second-place Binghamton.

Hen Bracey was the man-of-the-hour Monday night, coming on in the seventh inning to preserve a 7-4 victory for Roger Sinner over Lancaster.

Basketball Scandal

De-Emphasis Starts In Carolina Colleges

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A long series of basketball troubles at the University of North Carolina and N.C. State College culminated Monday in a dramatic program of athletic de-emphasis decreed by the administration and trustees.

Involvement of players from both schools in the basketball gambling scandal was the spur for the action.

The man credited with oringing big-time collegiate basketball to the Tar Heel state, veteran coach Everett Case of N.C. State, reacted philosophically.

"We must remember, these men are running, first of all, educational institutions. This thing was starting to run away with itself. An evil influence was getting into the game," Case said.

In announcing the de-emphasis to the consolidated University of North Carolina's 100 trustees, President William Friday, explained, "Our aim is to save athletics."

With but three or four exceptions, the trustees stood up to signify approval of the program that:

1. Kills the 12-year-old Dixie Classic basketball tournament sponsored by N.C. State College and matching State, UNC, Duke and Wake Forest against four top intersectional teams.

2 Limits UNC and state basketball competition to the 14 conference games required by the Atlantic Coast Conference, participation in the ACC tournament, participation in the NCAA tournament and only two non-conference games.

3. Curtails player recruiting by allowing only two athletic grants-in-aid a year to basketball prospects outside the ACC states of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Friday said the same principle would apply to football.

4. Bars basketball players from participating in organized competition during the summer months.

The Dixie Classic had hardly been killed, however, before there were hints of rebirth. Wake Forest Athletic Director Bill Gibson said Monday night that since Colgate, Illinois, Tulane and Stanford had been scheduled to participate, Wake Forest and Duke would talk about staging the Classic in another city, possibly Winston-Salem, Greensboro or Charlotte.

N.C. State Athletic Director Roy Clogston said he would have no objections, but couldn't "be a part to encouraging it."

Two players from North Carolina, reserve Lou Brown and star Doug Moe, were implicated in the game-fixing scandal being investigated by the New York district attorney's office. Charges of accepting bribes to shave points for gamblers have been brought in Carolina against three N.C. State players: captain Stan Niewierowski, Anton (Dutch) Muehlbauer and Terry Litchfield.

The gambling scandals followed player recruiting violations of recent years which resulted in the NCAA placing State on probation for four years and North Carolina for one.

Steltz Hits Three Home Runs

Roger Steltz pounded three home runs, one a grand slammer, and a double in four times at bat to pace the Glasco-East Kingston Little League Dodgers to a 20-5 victory over the Yankees.

It was a historic win for the Dodgers who had not won a single game during the 1960 season. Ciarlante contributed a home run and Gorsline, the winning pitcher, fanned 12.

When the Dodgers got around to winning they did it wth a vengeance. They dented the Light Aggregate home plate in five straight innngs in telephone number fashion—4-2-6-3-5-0.

Grosline, meanwhile, overcame a shaky start and pitched 4-hit ball didn't yield a run over the last three innings, C. Legregnie hit two singles for the Dodgers. Jack Watzka doubled for the Yankees.

Chick Fans 14

Julius Chick of the Giants allowed only 2 hits and struck out 14 to gain a 7-2 decision over G. Falcon and the Braves. The Giants flinger pitched shutout ball after the first inning and led his team's hitters with a single and home run. Henry Rua contributed a double among the five Giants safeties. C. Misasi and Falcon accounted for the Braves hits.

The scores:

Jays Rap Eagles In Jaycees, 12-8

The Jays and the Eagles produced 20 runs on 15 hits and 13 walks in the Jaycee Little League yesterday, the Jays winning, 12-8, with a steady flurry of scoring.

A six-run barrage rocked starter Bob Buchanan of the Eagles in the second inning and by the end of the fourth the Jays led, 10-0. Then it was the Eagles' turn with a 7-run explosion in the fifth and the summary removal of Joe Ingarra, the Jays' starter. Andy Murphy saved Ingarra's victory, but Buchanan was charged with th loss. Mike Hawkins relieved Buchanan in the second inning.

Ed Argulewicz had a perfect "3 for 3" stint for the Jays, including a single, double and homer, the latter a 3-run blast in the second inning. John Denter homered for the Eagles. Gary Snyder hit a double and single and Hawkins and Ken Sayles had two baggers.

Kiwanis Yanks Top Tigers, 4-1

Mike Collodi of the Ulster Kiwanis Yankees one-hitted the Turco's Milk Corp, Tigers, 4-1 in the Town of Ulster Little League yesterday.

The winners collected seven hits off G. Androvich. Collodi lost a shutout in the fourth inning when Dive Every doubled for the Tigers' lone safety.

The seven Yankee hits went to seven different players. Three were doubles by Ricky Weishaupt, John Senor and Ed Myer.

Player, Palmer 1-2 in Earnings

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, who have dominated the field of touring golfers, kept up a torrid pace this week in competition for money winning honors of 1961.

Player, 25-year-old South African, holds an $8,869 edge over Palmer. But the margin appeared to be anything but safe. Palmer, leading money winner of 1960, could catch up with strong finishes in the coming weeks.

Figures released by PGA headquarters put Player's official winnings at $48,954 in 17 tournaments. Palmer, competing in 15 events, has pocketed $40,085. Each has finished among the top five entries in eight tournaments.

Doug Sanders is in third place with $29,503. Then come Tommy Bolt, $19,991; and Jay Hebert, $18,725.

American Little League Sends Distress Signal

Officials of the American Little League have made a dramatic appeal to parents and interested persons to participate in a general cleanup of the Manor Avenue diamond on Wednesday and Thursday at 6 p. m.

Those participating in the cleanup are requested to bring rakes and paint brushes.

A spokesman for the league, expressing bitter reaction to parental apathy toward the league, said:

"The lack of interest on the part of the parents seems to be getting worse each year. The officers of the league wanted to have an opening day ceremony such as last year, but without the help and cooperation of the parents this is impossible this year. The least some of these people can do is help clean up the field and get it in shape for the opening game on June 5."

Dodgers Take Fifth Straight Tigers Rap Athletics, 10-2

Hold 3½ Game Lead Over 2nd Place Indians

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

First place Detroit walloped Kansas City 10-2 Monday night and retained a 3½-game lead in the American League race over Cleveland. The Indians defeated Minnesota 7-5 in 15 innings, and the third place New York, retired in order for five innings by Jack Fisher, beat Baltimore 8-2. Boston defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 and the Los Angeles Angels beat Washington 6-4.

Clete Boyer broke up the perfect game by Fisher (1-5) with a leadoff single in the sixth inning for the Yankees and came around with an unearned run for a 1-1 tie. Boyer also hit a three-run homer in the eighth—with all the runs unearned—off Fisher, who finished with a five-hitter.

The Yankees, with Jim Coates (4-2) winning it in relief of Art Ditmar, put it away in a four-run seventh. Two walks and a single by Yogi Berra broke the tie, and the clinching run came home when second base umpire Larry Napp ruled second baseman Marv Breeding had trapped a liner by Elston Howard. After the Orioles gave up their argument that Breeding had caught the ball, Tony Kubek capped the inning with a two-run, two-out single.

The Tigers came from behind on a tying, solo homer by Norm Cash in the fourth inning, then flattened the A's with six runs in the fifth off Norm Bass (2-2). Right-hander Phil Regan (5-0) allowed just five hits, one a pinch homer by Don Larsen.

Cleveland Streaking

Cleveland, 4-0 in extra-inning games, made it six straight on Willie Kirkland's tie-breaking single in the 15th off losing reliever Ted Sadowski and eight innings of two-hit, shutout relief by Frank Funk (5-2). A pair of two-run homers by Woody Held overhauled a 5-1 lead by the Twins.

Bill Monbouquette put away only his third victory in seven decisions for Boston, but reduced his earned run average to 1.93 for 60 2-3 innings while beating the White Sox with a seven-hitter. Frank Baumann (2-3) was the loser, giving up a walk and singles by Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Pagliaroni and Frank Malzone as the Red Sox broke a 1-1 tie in a three-run fourth.

The Angels cut down one Washington runner at the plate in the eighth and escaped another score when rookie Chuck Hinton left third base too soon on Jim King's apparent sacrifice fly in the Senators' seventh. Los Angeles made the deciding run on a squeeze bunt by winner Eli Grba (4-4) in the sixth. Pete Burnside (2-2) was the loser.

Pitching—Frank Funk, Indians, won his fifth with eight innings of two-hit, shutout relief, walking just two and striking out seven in 7-5, 15-inning victory over Twins.

Hitting — Dick Groat, Pirates, broke 1-1 tie with eighth-inning home run, his first of year, for 2-1 victory over Braves.

Stan Williams Tops Reds, 2-1 In 10 Innings

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers, winning their fifth in a row, beat Cincinnati 2-1 in 10 innings behind the four-hit pitching of Stan Williams Monday night and remained just percentage points shy of first place in the National League race.

San Francisco stayed .014 percentage points ahead with a 3-1 victory at St. Louis. Third-place Pittsburgh, one game behind the Giants, defeated Milwaukee 2-1 in the only other NL game.

Williams, who struck out 11 when he beat the Braves, fanned 8 in this one and walked but 3 while blanking the Reds on two singles after they had tied it 1-all in the first inning.

Get Ten Hits

The Dodgers, winning their eighth in a row on the road, collected 10 hits, but barely pulled it out. Loser Bob Purkey (4-2) gave up a walk to Maury Wills opening the 10th, but after a sacrifice and Willie Davis' single moved him to third, Wills was nailed at the plate trying to score on Wally Moon's infield bouncer. A two-out single by Tommy Davis finally broke it up.

The Giants, after losing three in a row to the Dodgers, bounced back behind Jack Sanford (3-3) at St. Louis, cracking a shutout duel with two runs in the sixth off loser Ernie Broglio (3-5). Two singles, by Chuck Hiller and Harvey Kuenn, and errors by second baseman Alex Grammas and right fielder Joe Cunningham, both on a grounder by Willie Mays, gave the Giants one run. Hobie Landrith's sacrifice fly produced the clincher. Orlando Cepeda closed it out with a home run, his 11th, tops in the NL, in the eighth inning.

Pittsburgh managed just four hits off Bob Buhl (1-4), but one was a tie-breaking home run by Dick Groat in the eighth. It was Groat's first of the year. Harvey Haddix (3-0) was the winner.

Pulled Muscle Benches Roberts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Veteran hurler Robin Roberts, whose 233 victories are the most ever recorded in the history of the Philadelphia Phillies, today was under treatment for a pulled muscle in his right shoulder.

RCA EDP NEEDS

Computer Programmers

EDP Training Specialists

Computer Systems Specialists

RCA has immediate openings in its fast-growing EDP division for qualified applicants who are ready to accept the challenge of more responsibility in this field. Positions are in the Greater Philadelphia area and openings now exist for the following:

COMPUTER APPLICATIONS

These openings offer a wide range of activity and opportunity to programmers and operations research personnel.

If you are presently working as a programmer in EDP, RCA has requirements for experienced men in:
- Automatic Programming and Service Routines (COBOL)
- Scientific Programming (ALGOL)
- Systems Analysis
- EDP Methods
- Computer Techniques and Simulation
- Operations Research

TRAINING SPECIALISTS

If you have a high interest in computer education and at least 2-3 years experience in machine or assembly language programming, RCA has openings for junior and senior specialists who will be working with large scale digital computers, on both RCA and customer EDP equipment.

Teaching experience is helpful but not necessary. However practical experience in numerical methods and a BS or advanced degree in Math, Physics or engineering is required.

SYSTEMS QUALITY ASSURANCE

RCA requires specialists who are experienced in all phases of large solid state computer systems. These men must be able to assemble, de-bug, engage in marginal testing, conduct performance acceptance tests and supervise final shipping of equipment from RCA's plant site to customer site.

A degree is not required but a minimum of 2-3 years practical field experience is important.

Kingston High's Candidate for Legion Boys State

A 16-year-old Kingston High School Junior, Thomas M. Tierney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tierney of 61 Smith Avenue, will represent Kingston American Legion Post 150 at Boys State which will be held June 25 to July 1.

Tierney is a member of the Kingston High School Choir, Maroon Masquers, and recently directed the Junior Skit. He is also a past member of Student Council and Drama Club. He lists as his interests golfing and swimming. For several years he has been a member of the Colonial Cadets.

His ambition is to study Business Administration possibly at Albany. Tierney was chosen for the honor to attend Boys State by the High School Faculty.

Saigon Gets Planes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The United States handed over six AD6 fight-bomber planes to the South Viet Nam air force today. They were the last shipment of 25 replacement planes, a U.S. Embassy source said.

Mayors Signing Unity Plege to Send to Kennedy

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today that he has joined other mayors in the nation's 50 states in signing a "declaration of unity" in support of President Kennedy's "leadership for world peace."

The declaration, it was noted, was inspired by Mayor Anthony J. Cellebrezze, of Cleveland, and is to be presented as a unity plaque to the president before his departure for France May 31. It says:

"In recognition of the awesome responsibility borne by you as president of the United States in guiding the destiny of our nation in this critical period of world turmoil, we as mayors of the nation pledge to you our full support and encouragement in your quest to preserve freedom and maintain peace with honor.

"We stand with you. The nation stands with you in these days of fateful decision, determined to make whatever sacrifice the cause of freedom may demand.

"May God grant us the wisdom and courage to prevail in the cause of peace with justice for all mankind."

Changes,Demands Threaten Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crackling charges and demands threatened the tractors-for-prisoners trade today from two sides—the U. S. Congress and Fidel Castro.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was faced with angry congressional demands that he say whether the administration approves the private efforts to exchange earthmoving equipment for the freedom of 1,200 Cuban invasion prisoners.

A flurry of heated speeches in which Cuban Prime Minister Castro's proposal for such an exchange was described as a "heinous barter" by an "inhuman monster" kept the Senate in session until early evening Monday.

From Cuba, meanwhile, came word that Castro reportedly threatens to break off the negotiations.

"If the insults of Mr. Kennedy's agents continue with regard to the indemnification Cuba demands," said an official Cuban radio commentator, "then all discussion will be stopped and the mercenaries (prisoners) will have to face the revolutionary tribunals of the Cuban people."

Family Calls Off Try to Recover Body

NAMPA, Idaho (AP)—Efforts to recover the body of a 55-year-old farmer buried last Wednesday in a cave-in 160 feet down a water well shaft have been abandoned.

The family of Herbert A. Tiegs of Nampa said Monday night it did not wish to endanger the lives of anybody else.

Rescue workers, after slow, dangerous digging, found Tiegs Monday night at the 175-foot level. The cave-in pushed him that far down the 22-inch wide shaft.

Special 20-inch steel casing had to be used by rescuers to protect them from further cave-ins.

Tiegs had gone down to continue plastering sides of the shaft when the sides caved in.

Will Chart Future

GENEVA (AP) — The East-West conference on Laos prepared today to chart its future course after a week of opening statements that showed the delegates deeply divided on the way to supervise neutrality in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The conference must now decide whether to (1) split up in study committees, (2) go on debating points at issue in full sessions, or (3) recess until after the June 3 meeting in Vienna of President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Blood Condition Blamed

DETROIT (AP)—The illness of Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., is from a blood condition.

His physician said Monday that Ford, ill at home since May 11, has infectuous mononucleosis. This was described as a blood condition usually associated with an excess of white corpuscles. Ford was reported responding well to treatment.

Claims Eichmann Top Authority of Jews in Romania

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was described in court today as the supreme authority over the Jews in Romania during World War II, with more power even than the collaborating Antonescu government.

The prosecution produced documents showing the Gestapo officer, on trial for directing the Nazis' Jewish pogrom, dealt directly with Bucharest and often bypassed the Nazi Foreign Ministry.

Eichmann delegated his power to SS (Elite Guard) Maj. Gustav Richter on the scene.

In one document introduced by the prosecution, Richter said he had scolded the puppet government because one of its courts had ordered the return of money an official had taken from a Jew on the false pretense of helping him to emigrate. The ruling was set aside and the Jew was deported to a death camp.

July 26, 1942, was the black day for Romania's Jewry.

Orders flew out of Berlin to whip up the pogrom. Deportations to Auschwitz followed and many thousands also were shot in Romanian ghettos by roving bands of the Einsatz Kommandos—special action squads whose reports came to Eichmann's office "for Jewish affairs."

Mrs. Perle Mark testified that her husband, the chief rabbi, was shot in a group of about 160, her father and mother were shot when they fell on a march through the streets to a hastily constructed ghetto and her brother and her son were deported.

Moscow Insists On Unlimited Underground Ban

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union insisted today that the United States and Britain agree to an uncontrolled, unlimited moratorium on underground nuclear tests.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the three-power nuclear test ban conference his government cannot accept a Western proposal that the moratorium expire at the end of a three-year research program. The research would provide better detection of small atomic underground blasts.

Tsarapkin again rejected the two Western governments' view they cannot commit themselves to an unlimited moratorium until the research program shows to what extent underground explosions can be detected.

He told acting U.S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle and Sir Michael Wright of Britain a limited moratorium would be of advantage only to the United States and other countries "which want to resume the nuclear armaments race." He accused the United States of seeking a resumption of nuclear weapons testing.

Dutchess to Get Bid for County Office June 12

Recommendations to the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors to authorize the sale of $2,600,000 bonds for a new county office building and $400,000 for an addition to the county jail, will be made June 12 by members of the board's sheriff's and budget and finance committees.

A public hearing has been scheduled for the same day at 11 a. m., preceding the board's meeting at which action is anticipated on the recommendations.

$100,000 Damage

Explosion Rips Waterloo Eatery

WATERLOO, N. Y. (AP)—An explosion tore out the front of the Lamplighter Restaurant here today, rocked the area, and turned the vacant building into a torch.

Damage was estimated at $100,000.

No one was reported njured. A crowded bus and a Greyhound bus missed being in the path of flying glass and brick.

Fire destroyed the one-story building. Deputy sheriffs said an accumulation of gas probably touched off the explosion.

Mamie Gets Ticket

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower has a giant-sized ticket to a June 1 fund-raising dinner in Washington at which her husband, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will speak.

Mrs. Eisenhower was presented the ticket at a luncheon here Monday with a group of prominent Republican women.

Eisenhower met at his Gettysburg office with Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and with a member of the Japanese Diet (parliament), Banboku Ono.

A spokesman said that Ono called to express a wish that Eisenhower pay a visit to Japan.

Ellenville Man Hurt in Mishap

A 22-year-old Ellenville man was injured at 11:30 p. m. Monday when his car went out of control and struck a tree off Monday when his car went out of control and struck a tree off Samsonville Road, about 3½ miles west of Route 209 in Ellenville.

Trooper Michael Mahoney identified the injured motorist as Albert Henry, who was taken to Veteran's Memorial Hospital suffering back and chest injuries.

According to troopers, Henry said he was driving east on Samsonville road and as he reached to tune the car radio he lost control of the vehicle, crossed the road and struck a tree on the north shoulder.

The car was heavily damaged.

Area Educators Going To Hunter Dinner

School officials from eight area counties including Ulster, Greene and Dutchess, are expected to attend the Area 4 State School Boards' Association dinner meeting tonight at Hunter-Tannersville Central School.

Everett R. Dyer, executive director of the state association, will be guest speaker. John E. Ginter of Broadalbin, Area 4 director, will preside. The session was called for 6:45 p. m. in the senior high school cafeteria.

Other counties in Area 4 are Columbia, Delaware, Albany, Rensselaer and Schoharie.

G. Richard Ham, president of the Hunter-Tannersville Board of Education, will be host for the session.

Cerebral Palsy Drive Will Open Monday, June 5

June 5 will be D-Day for Cerebral Palsy's week-long 1961 fund raising drive, it was announced today by a joint statement of the campaign chairmen.

The date was set last night at a meeting between county chairman Howard C. St. John, city chairman Francis J. Vogt, industrial chairman James F. Maloney, and public relations chairman William C. Klein.

With plans finalized for all phases of the campaign, the chairman prepared for an "Open House" meeting with city and county volunteers. The organization meeting will be held at the CP Treatment Center, 400 Broadway, Kingston, at 8 p. m. Thursday, May 25.

The joint statement stressed workers have the "rare" opportunity to see evidence of the fruits of their fund raising efforts. "All but 12.8 per cent of the money collected in last year's campaign," the chairman pointed out," "supported essential rehabilitation services for the physically handicapped children of the city and county."

A documentary movie filmed at CP Treatment Center and a tour of the facilities will highlight the "Open House," and convince all campaign workers of the importance of their services, they said.

The chairman urged all who would make a meaningful contribution of their time to the good of their community to join the "53 Minute March" June 5 by attending the "Open House" May 25. The name, "53 Minute March" refers to the fact that a child is born with Cerebral Palsy every 53 minutes in the United States.

Ben-Gurion Off For JFK Visit

LYDDA, Israel (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel left by plane today to pay a friendship visit to Canada and meet President Kennedy in the United States.

Ben-Gurion will spend the night in New York and arrive in Ottawa Wednesday morning. He returns to New York next week.

The White House announced Monday that President Kennedy would confer with Ben-Gurion next Tuesday afternoon in New York.

Alabama's Racial Picture in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MONTGOMERY — Police arrest man charged with beating two newsmen during savage mob attack on integrated "freedom riders."

MONTGOMERY — National Guardsmen rule Alabama capital with firm hand after federal agents are removed from patrol duty. Roaming bands of white youths and bomb threats heighten tension. Gov. John Patterson may be called on to report to legislature. Byron White, deputy U.S. attorney general, says federal agents will remain in Montgomery as long as necessary to guard civil liberties.

200 More Marshals

WASHINGTON — Anxious federal authorities order 200 more U.S. marshals to Montgomery to help maintain order. The reinforcements swell the total of federal agents to nearly 700, along with 800 National Guardsmen called to duty.

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says federal government has no plans to send federal forces to Alabama at the present time. But a high government source says they could be used if needed.

ANNISTON, Ala.—FBI agents jail four men on charges of setting fire to an interstate passenger bus May 14 at outset of racial violence in Alabama.

LONDON—Moscow radio says racial bloodshed in Montgomery has "aroused indignation throughout the world."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. —Chairman of Nashville student nonviolent movement, James Bevel, a Negro, says integrationists still plan to travel across Mississippi to New Orleans.

JACKSON, Miss. —Gov. Ross Barnett says highway patrol will be ordered to escort "freedom riders" nonstop across Mississippi should they show up.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. —Gov. Orval E. Faubus asks Arkansas congressional delegation to join Alabama congressmen in demanding that extra federal marshals be withdrawn from Montgomery.

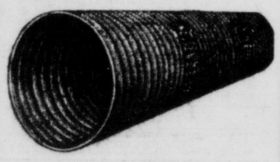

COLUMBIA, S.C.—South Carolina Gov. E. F. Hollings asks U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to investigate "freedom riders," whose appearance in Alabama touched off rioting.

ATLANTA — Georgia Gov. Ernest Vandiver says Alabama authorities have made it plain they intend to preserve peace and calls "freedom riders" unwelcome, subversive groups.

Alabama Capital Fears New Outbreaks, Guard Now Has Firm Control

Penalties For Race Acts Stiff

5 Alabama Men Held, After More

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department geared today for a possible long line of criminal prosecutions over Alabama's "freedom riders" racial violence.

A force of FBI agents, thrown into the area over the weekend, made its first arrests late Monday and more arrests were expected. The Justice Department indicated it would seek stiff penalties.

All of last week's outbreaks followed efforts by out-of-state white and Negro students to break Alabama's ban on integrated bus seating.

In the initial arrests, four men were taken into custody by FBI agents at Anniston, Ala., and charged with the fire bombing of an interstate bus near the city May 14.

The offense carries penalties up to 20 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The Anniston incident, in which the mob of white men broke the bus windows and tossed in a fire bomb, was the first of the past week's violence.

Other freedom riders, traveling by bus into Alabama from Atlanta, Ga., were kicked and beaten at Anniston and Birmingham. On Saturday, a major free-for-all broke out—with a number of persons injured—when an interstate bus arrived at Montgomery, Ala.

Despite the Alabama race troubles, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the administration will not seek new civil rights laws this year.

The Alabama congressional delegation — both senators and all nine House members—joined Alabama Gov. John Patterson Monday in urging that federal marshals be recalled from the state.

A telegram made public by Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., said the delegation deplored violence but had been assured by the governor that the state "has the means, the ability and the will to keep the peace without outside help." The appeal was sent to President Kennedy and the attorney general.

Browning Named HonoraryMarshal Of May 30 March

Arrangements announced today by the Kingston Veterans Association for the Memorial Day parade here Tuesday, May 30, include the naming of an outstanding veteran of World War 1 as honorary marshal.

Honorary guard marshal of this year's parade will be Robert "Bob" Browning, well-known Hudson Valley newscaster, who served as a second lieutenant in the 318th Infantry, 80th Blue Ridge Division. A holder of the Order of the Purple Heart, he was wounded twice and was gassed in the Battle of the Argonne. As a result of his wounds, he lost his left arm.

Parade Chairman John Ray Mayone announced today that letters to organizations seeking their participation in the parade were not sent out this year. All organizations planning to march or enter a float must contact Chairman Mayone in order to be included in the line of march. He said parade floats must hold to a solemn theme and must be cleared by the committee.

The parade this year will start at Pearl Street and Clinton Avenue following a memorial service 2 p. m. at Academy Green. The program will include members of the clergy and guest speakers.

DA Moves Against Road Bosses

Stokes Resigns Post, Mercier Holds Ground

Following an announcement today by District Attorney David W. Corwin that he would institute proceedings for removal of two town road superintendents accused of taking road oil kickbacks, one of them resigned.

Amos Stokes gave The Freeman a statement saying, "I am today filing my resignation as town superintendent of highways of the Town of Marbletown." He insisted he is innocent of any wrongdoing, said he and his wife are in poor health, and that he lacks money to conduct another legal battle.

Stokes and Paul Mercier, the road superintendent in the Town of Esopus were served today with copies of petitions that the district attorney filed to start proceedings for their removal from their jobs.

District Attorney Corwin said that after reviewing testimony taken before the grand jury of the Extraordinary term of Supreme Court which investigated kickbacks in the county, he concluded there are sufficient grounds to warrant bringing proceedings for removal of the two.

Prior to Stokes' resignation the matter involving him and Mercier was scheduled to be heard before the Appellate Division in Albany on June 12.

Corwin Reviews Testimony

The district attorney's statement today said:

"The testimony taken before the Grand Jury of the Extraordinary Special and Trial term of the Supreme Court, Ulster County in January 1961, was recently made available to my office by the Attorney General. After reviewing this testimony together with the testimony and other evidence previously submitted to the District Attorney's office, I have concluded that there are sufficient grounds to warrant the bringing of proceedings for the removal of Paul Mercier and Amos Stokes as town superintendents of the towns of Esopus and Marbletown, respectively."

Petitions for removal under Section 367 of the Public Officers Law have been served on both officials returnable before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Albany on June 12, 1961, at 1 p. m."

Stokes' Statement

"I am today filing my resignation as town superintendent of highways of the Town of Marbletown.

"This is being done solely because neither my health nor my financial position permit me to carry on a long legal battle in Albany in the defense of the new legal proceeding just brought against me.

"I am completely innocent of any wrongdoing and the previous proceeding, had great legal expense to me, was unanimously dismissed by the Appellate Court. However, I do not have the money to conduct another such legal battle.

"Both my wife and myself are in poor health and neither of us could stand the mental strain and aggrevation that such a battle would involve. Accordingly I am filing my resignation today with Frederick G. Baumgarten, town clerk of the Town of Marbletown."

Proceedings were first taken under Section 36 of the Public Officer Law before the Appellate Division, Supreme Court, by Special Assistant Attorney General Bernard Tompkins who conducted the Ulster County "kickback" probe, under a presentment by the special grand jury which directed him to institute the proceedings.

The Appellate Court held Sue-

Sturges to Test Heat Exchange Unit at Diner

A diner in Trenton, N. J. and a New Jersey utility have agreed to test the performance of a heat exchange circuit developed by Paul M. Sturges of Stone Ridge. All nine refrigeration units serving the diner will be crossed with the water heating system which uses natural gas through two "Thriftchangers" manufactured by Sturges Heat Recovery, Inc.

Rone W. Staudt, proprietor of the Dinner Bell diner at Olden Avenue Exit and Parkway Avenue in Trenton has concluded an agreement with the local manufacturer whereby Sturges will furnish the two units for an agreed price of $500.

To Test for Economy

Installation will be made by local mechanics after a two week period during which power use engineers of Public Service Electric and Gas Company of 80 Park Place, Newark, N. J. will meter all electricity consumed by the refrigeration units, the gas consumed by the water heater and the amount of hot water used by the diner during this period.

A second two week energy metering period will follow installation of the "Thriftchangers" together with pressure controls to shut down condenser fans when they are no longer required.

The Water Department of the City of Trenton has donated the use of a water meter for this test. Soon after the conclusion of

Cabbie Not Aware Fare Is the Man

NEW YORK (AP)—After being away 10 years, the white-haired man settled back in the taxi cab and asked the driver how a fellow might spend his time on such an afternoon.

The hackie suggested a ride around Manhattan on a tour boat.

"Oh, I did that some years ago," the rider replied. "I remember the boat going by Gracie Mansion and seeing the mayor on the lawn."

"Who was the mayor you saw on the Gracie Mansion lawn, mister?" the cabbie asked.

"O'Dwyer."

Cabbie Starts Tirade

"That crook! That thief!" the cabbie exploded.

"Is he in jail?" the rider asked gently.

"Oh no," the driver said. "His political cronies kept him from going to jail."

"Who did he steal from?"

"I'll tell you who he stole from. He stole from the poor, from the home reliefers. That's what he stole. He's got millions and millions and millions of dollars," the driver asserted.

When the fare alighted from the cab, he tossed the driver a 50-cent tip, and remarked quietly:

Never Faced Charge

"I'm O'Dwyer. I don't find a bit of fault with you for not liking me—many people exposed to the press feel like you do. But I have never been charged with a crime, let alone convicted."

The cabbie was shocked. ex-Mayor William O'Dwyer told a Herald Tribune reporter as he recounted the occurrence Monday at his Park Avenue apartment.

O'Dwyer was mayor from January 1946 to September 1950 when he became ambassador to Mexico for two years.

Lives Alone

He remained below the border most of the time for 10 years, and returned here a year ago.

Now 71, he lives alone in an apartment.

Is O'Dwyer bitter?

"Everybody asks that one. Of course not. I'd be less than human if I didn't resent the many untruths that are still being published about me."

Saugerties Budget Up 8 Per Cent

Meeting July 11 On '61-'62 Figures

Saugerties Board of Education will submit to the taxpayers in July a budget totaling $1,796,648.03. This is an increase of $134,873.72 over the current year's budget.

This is approximately an eight per cent increase and will result in an increase in taxes of approximately $4 to $5. The main increases in expenditures include the following:

Salary increases for teachers, $40,400.

Additional teachers (8½), $39,400.

Operation of plant including fuel, water, power, and custodial costs, $4,224.

Transportation, $14,000.

Teacher's pensions, $19,000.

Insurance, $4,000.

Building equipment, $8,900.

Instructional furniture and equipment, $7,800.

Cite Two Decreases

There are two major decreases, one of $12,000 for maintenance of plant, and another $7,687 in debt service. There will be some increase in revenue including an estimated increase in state aid totaling $103,000, and an estimated increase in revenue from assessment on new property of $28,800.

The proposed budget and date for the annual meeting was announced at the Monday night session of the board.

The annual meeting of Saugerties Central School District will be held in the high school auditorium, Washington Avenue, July 11.

It should be noted that this is the first time the annual meeting will be held in the new high school building. The election of board members (four) will take place the next day, July 12, in the auditorium of Main Street School.

To Vote for Four

There are four positions to be filled as follows:

One member for a three-year term in place of Steve Stycos of the village. It is expected Stycos will be a candidate for reelection.

A member for a three-year term in place of Mrs. Mary Lasher of Saxton, who has stated she does not plan to be a candidate.

A member for a three-year term in place of John Lowther, board president, of High Woods, who also stated he will not run for reelection.

A member for a one-year term in place of Clarence Brower, who recently resigned from the board when he moved from the community.

Candidates for the board positions should contact Mrs. Margaret Marburger, clerk of the board for information regarding the filing of nominating petitions.

The board appointed Gerald L. Snyder to succeed Patrick Rodden as business manager. There

REBELS SEEK AID IN CAPITAL—Cuban rebels, released by Fidel Castro to arrange funds to buy 500 U. Almost Everything Went Wrong

CIA Says $45 Million Spent on Cuban Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators have been told the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) spent $45 million training and equipping a 1,500-man guerrilla force never geared for a full-scale Cuban invasion.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is reported to have testified before a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee that he gave informal approval of military arrangements for an attempt to land the 1,500 at a point where they could join guerrillas operating in the mountains.

Lemnitzer was said by committee members to have made it clear that he specified the attempt would be successful only if certain conditions were met.

These reputedly included the destruction of Fidel Castro's meager air force, plus realization of the CIA's prediction that anti-Castro groups would rally to help the invaders escape to the mountains when they came ashore.

The objective, it was reported, was to avoid contact with Castro's army, if possible, and to consolidate forces that could harass him and provide cover for possible further landings.

Bombers Never Bombed

Instead, almost everything went wrong. The invaders' old B26 bombers did not bomb the airfields. In fact, the bombers arrived in Cuba in broad daylight when Castro's armed T33 trainers already were in the air.

Castro knew in advance of the landing site and had massed his forces, equipped with tanks and artillery, to greet the incoming guerrillas. His more modern planes shot down several of the World War II bombers, leaving the anti-Castro troops without air cover.

The final disaster was the sinking of an old Liberty ship carrying most of their communications equipment and ammunition.

This explanation apparently has convinced most subcommittee members — except Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn.—that the joint chiefs are not primarily to blame for the fiasco.

Gore, who called previously for replacement of the joint chiefs, renewed in the Senate Monday his contention that those "charged with official responsibility should be held responsible for the part they played."

Amesse Scheduled To Go on Trial For Girl's Death

A 21-year-old Staatsburg man is scheduled for trial before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz and a jury Wednesday on second degree murder and manslaughter, first degree.

David Amesse was indicted on charges arising from the death of Miss Rachel C. Perry, 18, of Poughkeepsie, last Dec. 21.

Authorities accused Amesse of pushing the girl off the Mid-Hudson bridge. Her body was found floating in the Hudson River in March.

Ninety-nine trial jurors reported in court yesterday, 22 were excused by Julge Schwartz and the 77 remaining prospective jurors were told to report Wednesday for the Amesse trial.

Man Held In Beating Newsmen

Another Try Due For Freedom Ride

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Police today announced the arrest of a man accused of beating two newsmen in the outbreak of race rioting that put this city under martial law.

Roving bands of white youths, bomb threats and reports of new attempts at racially integrated freedom rides caused an uneasy night in this Alabama capital city ruled by National Guardsmen with a firm hand.

Trip Touched Off Riot

The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) said it was trying to make bus reservations for another freedom ride. Such a trip Saturday touched off the bloody riot and led to Sunday's attempted mob assault on a Negro church.

Assistant Police Chief E. P. Brown said a man identified as Claude Henley, 37, of Montgomery was jailed and then released under $200 bond on charges of attacking NBC cameraman Maurice (Moe) Leavey and soundman H. W. Riser.

A mob jerked cameras from photographers and beat the newsmen before savagely attacking nearly two dozen white and Negro freedom riders just after they stepped off a bus in the Greyhound station Saturday.

Kennedy Aide Beaten

Also beaten was John Seigenthaler, an assistant to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. Seigenthaler had come here as President Kennedy's emissary to ask Gov. John Patterson to guarantee the safety of the freedom riders.

Five persons were fined from $25 to $100 Monday for failing to obey officers at the bus station riot. Police said the five did not take part in the violence.

National Guardsmen, who took over the city under Gov. Patterson's order of qualified martial law, Monday night quadrupled their guard at the Greyhound bus station to keep away loitering white youths. City police arrested seven youths who surrounded two Negroes in a car.

Train Demolishes Teacher's Auto Caught on Tracks

An automobile owned by Miss Mary L. Frederick, 26, of Wingdale, a teacher at Bennett College, South Millbrook, was demolished early Monday when struck by a locomotive on the New York Central Harlem division.

According to State Police Corporal Neil Flynn, Dover Plains, the rear wheels of the car became wedged between the tracks at the Pleasant Ridge Road crossing, Wingdale.

Flynn said Miss Frederick left the car to summon help but before she returned the freight train locomotive smashed into the vehicle and demolished it.

U.S. Shows Concern Over Korean Political Moves

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The U.S. Embassy today expressed deep concern about the abolition of all political parties by South Korea's new military rulers. The military junta also refused to approve an agreement bringing their soldiers back under U.N. control.

"Any step suppressing free government processes and which makes more difficult restoration of civil government is a matter of deep concern," said a U.S. Embassy spokesman.

The generals ruling the country showed no sign of backing down under U.S. pressure.

The embassy also is supporting the U.N. Command in its efforts to have the South Korean military recognize the authority of U.S. Gen. Carter B. Magruder. As U.N. commander he is operational chief of all military forces in South Korea.

Maj. Gen. Pak Chung-hi, chief political strategist of last week's coup, told newsmen Korean forces would return to Magruder's control as soon as possible.

But several hours later the U.N. Command issued a statement saying the 30-member Supreme Military Council had overruled Pak on part of an agreement with Magruder.

This voided the entire agreement, the U.N. Command said, although it added that there were still "some points on which their views coincided."

The council's balky stand tended to confirm reports of dissension within the group. Some marine and paratroop commanders are reported demanding more places in the Cabinet composed largely of army men.

Stratton Confident of Reapportionment Talk Despite Rockefeller's Objections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., says that despite the objections of Gov. Rockefeller, reapportionment will be discussed at the governor's dinner Wednesday night.

Stratton said last night that he had the support of the entire Democratic delegation of House members in his attempt to place the subject on the agenda.

Rockefeller has said the purpose of the dinner-meeting is to acquaint New York congressmen with state matters which may be of interest to them. Reapportionment, Rockefeller said, is solely a state matter.

In Albany Monday night, Rockefeller's office said the governor would have no immediate comment on Stratton's statement.

"I don't think the governor will be able to stop it," Stratton said Monday night in regard to the Democrats plan to force a discussion of the issue.

Stratton charged that the governor apparently had attempted to drive a wedge between him and the rest of the New York Democrats in trying to hold off a discussion of the issue.

New York House seats will diminish from 43 to 41 for next year's congressional election. The state's population increase failed to keep pace with the national average.

There are reports that the Republican - controlled Legislature, charged with the job of reapportionment, may combine part of Stratton's Schenectady-area district with Albany County.

This would mean that if Stratton wanted to remain in Congress he would have to seek re-election against the politically powerful and popular Rep. Leo O'Brien, D-N.Y.

Stratton has also been mentioned as one of the possible contenders for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to oppose Rockefeller in his attempt for re-election next year.

Under the reapportionment plans now being considered by legislative leaders, some New York City Democrats would be affected by reapportionment plans.

Stratton said any discussion of reapportionment at the dinner would be for the purpose of an exchange of views between the New York Democratic congressmen and the Republican governor.

The present alignment of New York House members—22 Democrats and 21 Republicans—would be changed under proposed plans to 23 Republicans and 18 Democrats, Stratton said.

Stratton suggested three proposals in any plan for reapportionment:

1. Public hearings to give affected constituents an opportunity to express their views.

2. Compact and contiguous congressional districts.

3. An accurate reflection of a state's political division.

Earlier in the week, Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse promised the people "a fair voice" and "sufficient time" to consider the plan.

Greene County Man Is Deputy Master of Masons

James H. Baldwin, New Baltimore, has been appointed district deputy grand master of Greene-Ulster District, it was announced today by Supreme Court Justice Carl W. Peterson of Ilion, newly reelected grand master of the 300,000 Masons of the state. He succeeds Merrill E. Small, RD 1, Box 80, New Paltz, and will serve for one year.

Baldwin is safety engineer at Watervliet Arsenal. He is a member of Social Friendship Lodge 741 and served as its master in 1940. He also served on many lodge committees and was district service representative in 1942-43.

Active in community welfare and civic betterment, Baldwin has been chief of the Fire Department and also commissioner. He is director of the school board and was president of the P-TA. Baldwin was also fire instructor and deputy fire coordinator for Greene County. He has been employed as safety engineer by Unitd States Government and is a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers.

The district deputy is responsible for the annual Masonic Brotherhood . Fund Campaign The monies from this campaign are used for the Masonic Research Laboratory at Utica which is studying the subject of Geriatrics to aid senior citizens. This year, more than $350,000 was raised for this research, which is expected to bring to light much new medical information.

The district deputy is also responsible for area meetings, 100th Anniversary Celebrations and bestowing citations and emblems on Masons who have been in the fraternity for 50 years. He will interest himself in the 5th Annual Masonic Cruise to the Caribbean which will take place January 3-16, 1962.

Through his local staff, he will assist in publishing the Empire State Mason, the official state magazine which goes out to every one of the 300,000 Masons in the state. This magazine will publish in July the 180th Anniversary issue of the Grand Lodge of Masons of the State of New York.

It is expected that the newly appointed district deputy, his staff officers, committee members and many of the Masons from the lodges in this area, will make the pilgrimage to Utica on St. Johns Day, Saturday and Sunday, June 24-25, when the newly appointed state officers will be commissioned by the Grand Master, Judge Carl W. Peterson.

Kennedy to Ask More Funds for Space, Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders reported today that President Kennedy will propose this week substantial increases in government spending on space, military ground forces and aid to Southeast Asia.

Kennedy will send one message —and possibly two—to Congress on Thursday, they said.

The President left open the chance that he will deliver a separate message on space in person. The other two proposals, at least, will be combined in a written message.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas told newsmen after the weekly breakfast session with Kennedy that the President's recommendations will cover the space program, Civil Defense, retraining for unemployed workers, some additional funds for the armed services and a supplemental appropriation for foreign aid.

Whether the retraining proposal would be the only one in the labor field was not specifically stated. Other sources had reported earlier that a modest set of new tools to try to curtail hard-core unemployment was in the works.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., said he understands Kennedy will ask for about $285 million to put more muscle into Army and Marine divisions.

He said this money would be used immediately.

Rayburn said no definite money total was discussed, but the increases sought by Kennedy would be "rather substantial."

Smathers, who is secretary of the conference of Democratic senators, said the President's space proposals would entail a "sizable money request."

Relief Up to JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—If stockholders in E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. are to get any relief from a possible $1 billion tax liability, the initiative may have to come from President Kennedy's administration.

There were indications today Congress is not inclined to act unless the executive branch gives a nudge.

The tax claim was foreshadowed when the Supreme Court held Monday that Du Pont must give up its multibillion dollar holdings of General Motors Corp. stock.

Open Bids June 22 For $2.6 Million Route 209 Project

Bids on a $2,607,000 project for the reconstruction of Route 209 through Sullivan and part of Ulster County, near Ellenville will be opened by the State Department of Public Works in Albany on Thursday, June 22, at 10:30 a. m.

J. Burch McMorran, state superintendent of public works, announced that sealed bids on 30 highway and four canal projects, totaling an estimated $12,231,500 will be opened on that date.

They provide for reconstruction or other improvements along 125.8 miles of highway in 25 counties and canal maintenance in two counties.

A major project is the reconstruction of 8.74 miles of Route 209 in Sullivan and Ulster Counties, from south of Wurtsboro to north of Spring Glen.

Work of the proposed project will start just north of the Route 17 Expressway in Sullivan County south of Wurtsboro, northeastward to a point between Spring Glen and Ellenville, plus 1.01 miles of access roads.

The project includes construction of a 33-foot-long bridge over a tributary to Homowack Kill at Phillipsport, a 100-foot-long bridge over Homowack Kill just north of the Sullivan-Ulster County line and an 84-foot-long bridge over Sandburg Creek just north of the Homowack Kill bridge.

The highway will be reconstructed generally on new location adjoining the existing route, providing a straighter alignment and will have a 24-foot-wide asphalt concrete pavement.

The proposal includes construction of access roads to the old Route 209 sections, plus a parking area off the old highway north of Wurtsboro.

YFC Rally Will Feature Film at Saturday Meeting

The Youth for Christ Rally Saturday evening will feature the 80-minute color film on the life of John Wesley.

Preceding the rally which begins at 7:30 p. m. will be the first round in a series of quizzes to determine the quiz champion of the area. The rally will be held at Poughkeepsie Grange Hall, Manchester Road, east of Poughkeepsie.

Other weekend activities of Youth For Christ will include a days outing at Baird Park Monday, May 29. Groups of young people will attend during the day to make use of the recreation facilities and having their own picnics. At 7:30 p. m. there will be a gathering of all young people at which time a Youth For Christ "Funspiration" will be conducted, including games, stunts, and competition among the young people. Closing the program there will be a brief singspiration and devotional service.

All young people may attend the program of Youth For Christ. There is no specific membership required for Youth For Christ. Youth For Christ is international in organization, world-wide in its scope and geared to the needs of today's youth.

Weather Delays Race

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—Unfavorable weather caused postponement again today of the Bendix Trophy race to New York.

The pilots hope to get away Wednesday.

Ten Hagen Will Retire July 13 From State Post

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Henry Ten Hagen, a veteran of 48 years in the public works field, will retire July 13 as chief engineer of the State Public Works Department.

He joined the department in 1913 and served continually, except for Army duty in World War I. He has been on sick leave since December.

Ten Hagen, who will be 69 June 3, is a native of High Falls, Ulster County, and a 1915 graduate of Cornell University. He was appointed to the public works department as a rod man in Rochester.

During World War I, he served in Europe with the Army's Second Engineer Regiment and later worked on highway projects in the Panama Canal Zone for the Army engineers.

Ten Hagen returned to the Public Works Department in 1919 as an assistant county engineer for Wyoming County.

He was named acting deputy superintendent of the department in 1950 and chief engineer in 1959.

Ten Hagen and his wife will return, after his retirement, to their permanent home in Warsaw, Wyoming County.

Robert W. Sweet, district engineer in the department's Watertown office, will be acting chief engineer of the department pending appointment of a successor to Ten Hagen.

Sweet has been acting chief engineer during Ten Hagen's sick leave.

Threat and Libel Trial Resumes In Dutchess Court

Trial of Irving A. Siebrecht Sr., 56, of Pleasant Valley, on charges of sending threatening letters to his wife and criminal libel, resumed today before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz and a jury.

Siebrecht's attorney, Joseph Jiudice yesterday entered an innocent plea by reason of temporary insanity for his client, contending the defendant was temporarily insane at the time of the alleged letter writing.

A psychiatric commission appointed by Judge Schwartz last fall, returned a finding the defendant was sane at the time of an examination and able to stand trial.

Four Bicycles Stolen

Police get occasional reports of bicycle thefts, but one Monday came like notice of a raid. It involved four, two girls and two boys, and was reported by Mary Boughton, of 83 Hasbrouck Avenue, who said they were taken in front of that address. One, it was learned today, has been accounted for, but three are still missing. They are owned by members of the one family, and it was reported today that a similar theft occurred there last year.

One Justice Assigned

Only one Supreme Court justice has been assigned to hold the June term of Supreme Court which will be convened Monday, June 5. Justice Donald S. Taylor will be the presiding justice and there will be but one part. This is an additional trial term for Ulster County. The May term is being held in two parts, Justice Kenneth S. MacAffer holding Part I and Justice Louis G. Bruhn has been assigned to Part II.

Fined for Assault

Accused of assaulting an Ellenville man Sunday at 9:30 p. m., Roy Keener, 27, of Trailer Haven, Kingston, was arrested Monday night by State Troopers Michael Mahoney and John Huntoon. Keener pleaded guilty and was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel, Kerhonkson, who issued the warrant for the arrest. Troopers said the complaint was made by Joseph Cottam, Oak Ridge Ellenville.

Joan Davis Is Heart Victim; Radio-TV Star

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Comedienne Joan Davis of radio and TV fame died in a Palm Springs hospital today following a heart attack.

An associate said Miss Davis suffered the attack at her home here Monday afternoon and was taken to an emergency hospital. She died at 3 a.m. today.

Miss Davis, 47, had a long run with her television series called "I Married Joan," in which the male lead was played by Jim Backus.

When Miss Davis died in Desert Hospital her mother, Nina Davis, and a Catholic priest were by her side.

The agile and animated comedienne had been in virtual retirement for the last three or four years, spending much of her time at her desert home here. She also had a home in Hollywood.

Began at Age 6

Miss Davis' long career in radio, TV and movies started at the age of 6 when she was taken from an amateur night appearance and signed for the Pantages vaudeville circuit. Her act, a comedy single, was billed as "Toy Comedienne."

She was born Josephine Davis on June 20, 1913, in St. Paul, Minn., the only child of Leroy Davis, a train dispatcher, and Nina Davis.

Miss Davis last figured in the news in 1959 when she said her engagement to a real estate man was ended because he knocked her down with a judo punch.

The comedienne said Harvey Stock hit her after an argument in front of her home here. She had Stock arrested on a misdemeanor assault and battery charge but later decided not to prosecute. This ended their two-year engagement.

Movie Debut in '34

But despite these comic characterizations, in private life she dressed smartly, spoke in a quiet voice and was an attractive woman. She had smooth skin and favored blonde hair.

Miss Davis made her movie debut in 1934 in a film called "Way up Thar." Other pictures in which she appeared included "Holy Terror," "Time out for Romance," "Wake up and Live," "The Groom Wore Spurs," and "Harem Girl."

During her vaudeville days Miss Davis teamed up with another performer, Serenus (Si) Wills, and their act was known as Wills and Davis. They were married in Chicago in 1931.

But Miss Davis obtained a California divorce in 1948. They had a daughter, Beverly.

The axis of Central America extends from northwest to southeast.

Succeeds Paltz Man

Appointment of James H. Baldwin, New Baltimore, as district deputy grand master of the Greene-Ulster District of Masons, was announced by Supreme Court Justice Carl W. Peterson of Ilion. Baldwin succeeds Merrill E. Small, R.D. 1, New Paltz, and will serve for one year. Baldwin, employed as a safety engineer at the Watervliet arsenal, is a member of Social Friendship Lodge 741, New Baltimore and served as its Master in 1940.

DEDICATE NEW PALTZ CHURCH WING —Principals at a consecration service Sunday morning at the New Paltz Methodist Church are (l-r) R. Francis Hasbrouck, lay leader and chairman of the board of trustees; the Rev. Willett R. Proter, pastor; Mrs. Alvin Beatty, church school superintendent; S. Parks Glenn, building committee chairman; the Rev. Dr. John M. Pearson, superintendent of the Newburgh district of the Methodist Church and guest speaker; Peter Jacobs, assistant minister to students, and Mayor Henry DuBois. A recently completed educational wing was consecrated after the 11 a. m. worship service. (Witz photo)

Educational Wing Consecrated at New Paltz Church

The recently completed educational wing of the New Paltz Methodist Church was consecrated at ceremonies Sunday after the 11 a. m. worship service.

Guest speaker at the service was the Rev. Dr. John M. Pearson, superintendent of the Newburgh District of the New York Methodist Conference. The Rev. Willett R. Porter, pastor of the New Paltz Parish, presided. Over 250 persons attended the services. Arthur Ingraham, representing all volunteer workers, was honored.

Also participating in the services was Henry DuBois, mayor of New Paltz. Junior and senior choirs provided special music for the occasion.

The two-story brick and cement block building is attached to the main church structure by a glass enclosed breezeway. It houses Sunday school class facilities, making available two rooms in the church for a music room, church office and pastor's study.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

Events in the Spring of 1862 made it clear to the North that a real war was rapidly shaping up, and that the casualty lists were going to get longer as the months rolled by. Union successes in Tennessee and the lower Mississippi Valley while gratifying to the folks back home, had not obscured the fact that our great Army of the Potomac, composed largely of New York Regiments, remained, in effect, still standing guard over Washington. Signs now began to appear—the series of disasters on the Peninsula and the Yankee retreat to Harrison's Landing, for instance, that these fellows south of the border, imbued as they were with an almost fanatical love of home state, rather than devotion to country, were resolved to fight to the last ditch. The so-called "Insurrection" was going to be a mighty hard nut to crack.

A lot of men had been recruited as a result of Lincoln's three calls for volunteers; a whole lot more were going to be needed, and it was here, again, that New York's wartime governor Edward Morgan took the lead. Morgan, indefatigable in his patriotic zeal, got the 19 other loyal states' Governors to appeal to Lincoln to call up reinforcements in great number. The President with his usual promptness, issued a call, July 1, for 300,000 additional volunteers, to be chiefly infantry. Now began a truly wonderful campaign for recruits, in which some of the best military minds of the times took part in a concerted effort to plan and execute a systematic drive for enlistments throughout the Empire State.

Well, this idea of continuing to raise armies by voluntary enlistment involved a deal of hard work, and was mighty expensive, to boot. A draft, such as had to be employed later on in the war, and with some mighty unpleasant results, too, was not in general favor at this juncture. So now came the intensive search for officers, the raising of vast sums of money, the stock-piling of mountains of uniforms, blankets, tents or what have you, in great depots like the one on Broadway near Canal Street in New York City. And now we can begin to localize this picture, what with camps being set up on the flats at Kingston as well as at other towns along the Hudson River. Later on, in the summer and fall of '62, so many camps had been set up that the assistant inspectors-general were hard put to cover them effectively. One of these busy officials, Col. Silas W. Burt, wrote: "After a conference as to the relative merits of Newburgh or Goshen as a camp site, I left for Kingston where Mr. Geo. H. Sharpe had been selected as commandant of what was to be the One Hundred and Twentieth Regiment. The camp was placed upon a plain near the village (Kingston, that is, not Rondout), and some recruits were already collected and under canvas. The adjutant and quartermaster were gaining some intelligence in their duties."

So, another Ulster County Regiment comes into the column picture—the gallant 120th, a monument to whose memory stands in the First Dutch Church yard at Fair and Main Streets in Kingston. Our Colonel Burt, continuing his rounds of inspection up and down the Hudson Valley, found time to confer, Aug. 11, 1862, with Gen. Chester A. Arthur in New York City about supplies for the 120th and other units. He also submitted plans of temporary barracks that he had recommended for the Kingston and other camps. These would be of "light and rough construction, sided and roofed with 1-inch hemlock boards and put up by the recruits of whom there are artisans of every kind."

These separate buildings would be 96x20, 13 feet high on sides with 19 foot roof peak. Large doors and gable windows at ends; four rows of bunks, each three tiers high for the full length would accommodate 180 men in each building. Sides not battened but space left between boards for ventilation. It was noted, however, that "later regiments complained of this free admission of air in the cooler weather." (Well one would think so, judging by the way the winter winds still come down from the mountains and fan out over our one time fertile Kingston Flats). Other buildings provided mess rooms, kitchens, etc. Colonel Burt admits the buildings were flimsy but served their purpose at a trifling cost, "since the lumber had a certain value after this use."—C.A.N.

Sorry, Wrong Number

Shokan

SHOKAN—Mr. and Mrs. Ben Woloson, Cairo, were recent callers in the village. Woloson has the hobby of collecting the cases and works of antique clocks which he assembles and puts in running order. He is now engaged in fashioning a grandfather's clock of Colonial vintage. Lester Elmendorf, Kingston, reportedly has a clock of this style which belonged to his ancestors in the Winchell family of Olive.

Dr. Robert Arnold and wife of Mifflinburg, Pa., were in town Friday. The couple were on their way to Millerton, Dutchess County, to spend the weekend with friends. Coming by way of Port Jervis and Kingston, they were enthusiastic over the view of the Catskills from Route 209.

Mrs. Edward Monaco and son Robert of Long Island have arrived at their summer place near the village.

Dr. Virginia Alekian of Ohayo Mountain Road was a Shokan caller Thursday.

Henry Gebelein is again greeting local friends after having been at a Kingston hospital for the past three months.

New lock boxes have been installed in the Shokan post office. Enlarged working space and a modern counter are other new features at the office.

Mrs. Ralph Stearns recently was given a retirement party by fellow workers at the Fleischmanns telephone central which was attended by 21 operators. Mrs. Stearns had been a telephone operator 36½ years. During the day she was presented with a leather wallet by District Traffic Superintendent Florence Rotsell of Kingston. Guests present at the party included Ora Moseman who retired seven years ago after 33 years of service with the telephone company.

Mrs. Cornwell Longyear, the former Evelyn Wands of Shokan, is spending some time at the home of her sister, Bessie, in Maitland, Fla.

Mrs. Fred Cabana, Springfield, Mass., resident for many years who as Dora Collins was well known in the old village of Shokan, spent Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Irving Barringer.

Albert Feldman has been named chairman of the Mental Health drive for funds in Olive.

Martha Lord, Maspeth, L. I., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Von der Osten of the Old State Road.

A member of First Baptist Church and the youth fellowship of the church, she serves as organist at the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

This year marks the 20th an-State sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of New York Inc. It is designed to acquaint girls with the workings of government and their responsibility as citizens.

Girls State chairman for Unit 1298 is Mrs. Betty Sanford.

A dinner for all county unit representatives to Girls State will be held Wednesday, June 7, at 7 p. m. at the Capri Restaurant, Port Ewen.

Why We Say--

SCHOOLMASTER: When we "burn the candle at both ends", we are living a fast life and are said to be putting ourselves into an early grave. The saying is from the old French, "Brusler le chandelle par lex deux bouts" and is attributed to an old schoolmaster who wanted more light for his classroom so he lighted both ends of the candle at once, but soon he was out of candles and had to solicit funds for more.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In parts of rural China 50-year-old butter is used as a medicine. The older it is the more it costs. In this country buttering up the other fellow is a social, not a medical, art.

Few U.S. presidents were noted for their musical ability. Harding played the cornet, Truman the piano, Jefferson and Tyler the violin and—here's a surprise—"Silent Cal" Coolidge could blow on a pretty fair storm on the harmonica.

Why pretzel yourself to get in-and-out of a compact car?

WHICH IS THE RAMBLER AMERICAN?

Rambler American's high, wide doors and level front floor make entrance and exit easy. Front door top is 50.8 inches above road.

TALK WITH KHRUSHCHEV

President Kennedy will confer with Premier Khrushchev in Europe not long after the Kennedy-De Gaulle talks early in June. The question whether such a meeting would be a good thing for the United States is still the subject of discussion among observers in Washington.

Although there is room for argument on the question, it is hard to see how a Kennedy-Khrushchev confrontation could be harmful to U. S. interests. The important thing is that Americans hold to a realistic view of the situation and not expect much; then any benefits accruing will be so much velvet.

Mr. Kennedy took the position at the beginning of his administration that quiet diplomacy through normal channels would be more effective than summit meetings. It has been clear from the start that he felt there ought to be careful preparation and reasonable assurance of success. This is unquestionably true. Thorough preparation, and an agenda narrowed to questions on which there is some prospect of advancement, would be desirable. But it may be that President Kennedy now sees some advantage in the simple business of meeting the leader of the Communist world face to face and seeking to come to grips with him on at least one or two basic matters.

One such matter is the nuclear test ban agreement; another is the broad question of what is to be done about West Berlin. If Mr. Kennedy could persuade the Kremlin boss that a test ban would be in the mutual best interests of the leading powers, and if he could convey to Khrushchev our continuing firmness on West Berlin so that there can be no Soviet miscalculation, the talks would be well worthwhile.

MOMENT OF GLORY

A few youngsters who emerged unknown from the Civil War went on to achieve national military renown. One of these was Charles Vernon Gridley, whose name lives because it was he to whom Commodore Dewey said at Manila Bay in 1898: "You may fire when you are ready, Gridley."

In 1863, Gridley graduated from the Naval Academy directly into service on the U.S.S. Oneida. At war's end he became master of the steam sloop Kearsage. It was not until after more than 30 years of inconspicuous rise in rank that his moment of glory came.

At Manila Bay he commanded Dewey's flagship, the Olympia. Though pronounced too ill for service, he was allowed to enter the battle. When it was over he was again examined and ordered home. He died in a hospital at Kobe, but his record had been made—and brilliantly sealed when Dewey turned to him with that historic command.

Spring is fine—except that every year a fellow has a little less of it.

REDS FROWN ON IDLERS

The Soviet Union is cracking down on crime, even the crime of loafing. This makes life more drab and uncertain than ever for anyone of a reflective mind who enjoys whiling away the hours in contemplation.

Idlers, according to a new decree, now run the risk of banishment to restricted localities for forced labor. So do speculators and those who capitulate to the blandishments of private enterprise. But things will be even tougher for embezzlers, counterfeiters, murderers and bandits. They now face the death penalty because punishment heretofore prescribed has not been sufficient to discourage them.

It is odd that such parasitic and violent tendencies exist in this communistic paradise, where crime is supposed to disappear because everyone has work and there is no compulsion for private gain. It's just possible that Ivan is bored to death. Maybe his yearning for a bit of capitalistic reward and escape from the norm has made him forget how wonderful his planned existence really is.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE INTELLECTUALS

The word, intellectual, used to mean a person who devoted himself to the pursuit of knowledge — usually the humanities. In Czarist Russia, a man who read books, wore pince-nez eye-glasses and perhaps a goatee said he was of the intelligentzia to distinguish himself from a peasant or a merchant.

In the United States, where everyone was expected to be able to read and write and even to quote a sentence from a poet, it was assumed for most of our history that all men and women possessed and used their intellects.

That, of course, was before we became class-conscious and sought particular status in lieu of riches such as Horatio Alger regarded as the goal of all good and virtuous men. It was during Franklin D. Roosevelt's regime that the word, intellectual, came into every day use in this country and it was during Senator Joe McCarthy's hey-day that the term, anti-intellectual, was applied to those who favored Joe or Joe's purposes even if they disliked his so-called methods. Such intellectuals as Dr. J. B. Matthews, a linguist of wide renown and William F. Buckley, Jr., who has brought glory to Yale by including it in a title with God, have been described as anti-intellectuals. The truth is that Matthews and Buckley would, in Europe and Asia, pass for intellectuals while some who regard them as anti-intellectuals would be looked upon as proletarians masquerading as Doctors of Philosophy.

The standards of American universities are so diverse that it is difficult to determine what a collegiate or university degree actually means. For instance, a B.A. from some American colleges represents hard work; from others, it merely means attendance. An M.A. from some American universities often means a high standard of intellectual work and discipline; from others, an A is as difficult to get as an entrance into Heaven; In others, it is granted for excellence in apple polishing or for being a big wheel.

The result of this confusion is that many present themselves as intellectuals who hardly know any subject beyond a fly-speck of a so-called discipline. Recently I went down to Greenwich Village in New York where I was reminded of the good, old days just before World War I. The intellectuals of those days sat in Polly's Restaurant discussing any subject that arose with more emotion than is today hard to discover even in a Faculty Club. In those days, an educated man tried to know everything and to read everything. He turned from politics to painting with ease; from music to mathematics as though it were the same subject, which forsooth, it is. It was a time when an educated man was eclectic and an argument was in the realm of thought not of definitions — which cultured persons knew all about.

I went to a cafe called "Figaro." There were assembled all sorts of human beings in every state of disarray. Some were playing chess; others were drinking coffee. But everybody was talking and it was a different kind of talk from that which one hears at such fanciful restaurants as The Colony, or "21," because these people have nothing to do with business or with gossip. They are not concerned with the love affairs of this hoodlum or that multi-millionaire. The conversation was impersonal and abstract and unselfish. Young people talked because they wanted to discover what to them could eventually be the Truth. They supported their arguments with a wide range of knowledge. Some of it was tripe but none of it was useless. And that is how the intellect is drilled. It is disputation that does that.

The so-called "brilliant, young crowd," which nowadays sits about Washington thinking out policy and making mistakes in Cuba, Laos, Korea, about the dollar and gold and what not — is neither so brilliant nor so young. Some have served under Roosevelt; some under Truman. There is a hopefulness about them but also an opportunism which, when expressed in action, can often be ugly and degrading — as opportunism so often is. A true intellectual cannot be an opportunist any more than he can be one of a great crowd.

Pause Before Blaming All Ills on Menopause

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although most well-informed physicians and writers continue to emphasize the normality of the menopause, and decry overemphasis on the "change" as a cause for distress or diease, almost every mail brings letters attributing almost every known complaint or disturbance to this significant event in the life of every woman.

Perhaps it is an oversimplification to define the menopause as nature's method of announcing that the period of a woman's fertility has come to an end. Just that and, with some exceptions, nothing more.

It is not, in and of itself, responsible for other conditions and complaints that may accur on or about the same time. Specifically, I refer to arthritis, hyptertension, emotional instability, mental diseases, obesity and the like.

If these conditions accompany the menopause they are coincidental. They do not bear a causal relationship and hence will not be responsive to the administration of sex hormones whether given by mouth or injection or rubbed into the skin in expensive cosmetic preparations.

An authorized report, prepared for the Council on Drugs, has given support to the views of those of us who stress the normality of the menopause. Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Joseph Rogers of Tufts University School of Medicine asserts that only 10 to 15 per cent of women present themselves for advice concerning menopausal symptoms.

"With some notable exceptions," he states, "the only symptom of the menopause due to deficiency of female sex hormone is the hot flash. The numerous other symptoms such as palpitation, instability, insomnia, fatigue and emotional instability seem clearly to be manifestations of the anxiety and depression that occur rather frequently in mid-life but which are related to the menopause only temporarily."

And Dr. Rogers attribues these psychological conflicts of midlife primarily to "a change in a woman's position in the family circle. The children develop interests outside the home and create in the middleaged woman a feeling that she is no longer needed." Also, due to misconceptions about the effect of the menopause on her personal appearance, she may think "she will be a less attractive person to her husband."

From these views, "it logically follows that the most important and effective portion of the management of the menopause is explanation, reassurance and simple psychotherapy. And, in the majority of patients, such an approach provides notable relief of anxiety."

This does not mean to say that the occasional woman may not need gland treatments to help relieve disturbing hot flashes. But glandular therapy must be only a single factor in an over-all program that includes explanation and reassurance. It must be interrupted one week in each month or so and discontinued as soon as the hot flashes appear to be controlled, sooner if it causes a return of bleeding.

To be sure, explanation and reassurance are more time-consuming than the administration of a "shot." And neither contributes to the revenue of pharmaceutical manufacturers. But they're good medicine, nonetheless. And I advise those of you who need them to cherish their effects and give full honor to the physician who dispenses them at the expense of his time and energies.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Mankind has been doing such a lousy job of running human affairs on this planet that it's a pleasure to report—for a day, and a change of pace, on how the battle against the bugs is coming along.

It's the insects that crawl under rocks—and stay there till the radiation count has died down to zero—which will have to start building a new civilization after the present generation of men blow this one into oblivion with nuclear weagons.

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE is to send Astronaut Alan B. Shepard and his good-looking wife to some uninhabited planet as a new Adam and Eve. They could stay there till the earth cooled down, then send their progeny back for a new beginning.

Or, like Father Noah and his tribe, the Shepards might herd a flock of animals—two by two, the hippo-pbt-a-mus and the kakangaroo—onto a space ship called The Ark. They could stay in orbit till their Geiger counters show it's safe to come back. But that might be a long, long time. And meanwhile, the insects would have taken over.

It's the Department of Agriculture that checks up on insect life today. And its research service scientists have recently discovered some really amazing things about bug life.

INSECT "INSECTS" ARE JUST AS IMPORTANT a part of the Washington scene as are the human insects who get written up in the papers and put on the air so much, so it shouldn't be amiss to give the true insects a little better coverage as the mosquito season opens.

Want to know why mosquitoes bother some people and leave others alone, for instance?

The latest copy of "Agricultural Research" reports that a prominent Canadian entomologist (bugologist) recently remarked that, " a cool, moist-skinned, motionless man in a white suit could avoid all annoyance from mosquitoes—if he would just stop breathing." (That's the trick. Learn how to stop breathing.)

SPEAKING OF SPACE EXPLORATION, a team of Agricultural Research Service scientists has discovered that the lowly cockroach has an important role to play in astronautics.

They found that a species known as the Mareira roach, which is extremely hardy, is well suited for space travel. Madeira is lightweight and requires less air and food than organisms of a higher order. Also Madeira can withstand atomic radiation and multiple "G" acceleration better than mammals.

Shepard withstood 4 G's — four times the pull of gravity—in his pressurized suit and capsule. A Madeira roach could do a lot better than that.

Madeira could be housed in a 12-ounce metal container in a spacecraft. And the entomologists figure they can get an electro-psychological signal from the roach which could be telemetered back to earth. Next thing you know the roaches will be piloting space craft and following man to wherever he tries to escape.

ANOTHER BIG BUG DISCOVERY is that the two-spotted spider mite which attacks almost all plants grown in greenhouses can be combatted by introducing two predator mites: one found in the U. S. and the other imported from West Germany.

The predator mites eat the two-spotters eggs and immature and adult mites which, having a life cycle of only 8 to 12 days for each generation, have become immune to all the chemical sprays and fumigants now known.

Then, all that will be needed will be a spray to kill the predator mites.

Department of Agriculture has just issued the 1961 edition of its handbook on insecticide recommendations. It's full of fascinating bug lore for professional gardners and farmers. You can get a copy for 65 cents from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

Today in National Affairs

Montgomery Intervention By Kennedy Called Mistake

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 22 — There is a Constiutional right to free speech, but — as the Supreme Court has said—there is no right falsely to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater.

There is a Constitutional right to demonstrate, but not a right to provoke or incite people to riot.

There is a Constitutional right to assemble in a hall to espouse any cause but not a right to organize a "sit-in" demonstration for the express purpose of using private property — against the wishes of the owners — to stir up passions and create incidents of disorder.

For decades now the American people have ben denouncing "lynch" rule and mob action, and the cry has been for adherence to Constitutional Law and the orderly procedures of the courts.

Mayor Right on Nazi

But what happened in Alabama over the week end reveals clearly that incitement to riot is the fundamental cause of the trouble. Mayor Robert Wagner of New York, not many months ago, rightly refused to give a permit to a rabble-rouser who wanted to defend the Nazi point of view at meetings in the heart of the metropolis, where the bulk of the population was bound to resent such statements and perhaps be stimulated to mob action.

It was all very well for civic groups later to argue that a permit should have been granted by the mayor and that the champion of Nazi doctrine had a right to free speech, but the mayor knew what the consequences would be and acted wisely. Alabama's attorney general has just told the same rabble-rouser to keep out of the state.

Like Federal Troops

Today the Federal government under the Kennedy administration has made the same mistake at Montgomery as did the Eisenhower administration at Little Rock. Both refused to let local authorities deal with the situation. The more than 400 Federal marshals, fully armed, who were mobilized in Montgomery last Sunday were, as Sen. Dirkson of Illinois says, hardly different from Federal troops.

There are, of course, plenty of legalisms involved. At Little Rock the Governor of Arkansas ordered out the National Guard to prevent mob violence around the school. But the Federal government constructed this as an impediment to the enforcement of a Federal court order on desegregation of public schools.

In Alabama a court order issued by an Alabama state judge had called on the so-called "freedom riders" to abstain from their demonstrations on buses which had been advertised in advance and were certain to stir up trouble. Notwithstanding the existence of this state court order, the Federal government intervened with Federal marshals, claiming that "law and order" had broken down.

Cited 1871 Statute

Indeed, an 1871 Federal statute was cited by the United States Department of Justice as authority for the step, though this law specifically refers to Federal intervention only where there is "insurrection" or "domestic violence" due to a refusal or inability of a state to grant protection. It can hardly be said that the action of a mob, even though some negligence is temporarily displayed by local police, constitutes such an "insurrection" in a Constitutional sense.

On the contrary, the Governor of Alabama recognized the right of the bus to engage in interstate travel and the right of passengers on the bus to be protected. Just how this gets to be "insurrection" is hard to understand. Neither the governor nor the legislature requested the Federal intervention as the Constitution prescribes must be done when "domestic violence" develops beyond the state's control.

Events Were Discussed

It is true that the United States Attorney General and the Governor of Alabama discussed beforehand the events leading up to the crisis on Saturday, but this does not justify Federal intervention any more than it justifies mob action. Unless the regular processes of the law are permitted to take their course, the whole thing just becomes an emotional spectacle with politics and the bid for votes in the populous Northern states playing its part, both under a Democratic and a Republican national administration.

If, as Supreme Court decisions in the past have indicated, there is a right of any citizen to travel through a state or inside a state without color discrimination on vehicles of transportation, the proper course for the aggrieved parties is to apply for court orders. Long drawn out as the cases might be, the necessary court support would be forthcoming and arrests for contempt for violating court orders would follow as a routine procedure.

To say that "all this takes too much time," and that "we have waited long enough" is exactly what the mobsters used to argue passionately as they prepared to lynch a rapist. The cry was then heard: "He's guilty anyhow, why wait for the courts?"

At Point of Bayonet

Unfortunately, the Fourteenth Amendment, under which "equal protection of the law" was fostered, was itself "ratified" at the point of the bayonet when, three years after the Civil War was over, the Southern states were coerced — by militiamen sitting in the state legislatures —into "ratifying" the amendment. The Constitution itself prescribes a proper method of ratification and the present generation is suffering 100 years later the consequences of the disregard of the Constitution in the period immediately after the Civil War. The Supreme Court has ruled on many Fourteenth Amendment cases but has consistently refused to pass upon any case involving the legality of the "ratification" of the Fourteenth Amendment itself.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I think many who enjoyed the Antique Show at the State Armory last summer, which I understand is coming again this summer, would have enjoyed the stamp exhibition at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Saturday and Sunday, May 13 and 14. The Kingston group, organized Feb. 13, 1956, consists of an adult group of men and women, 21 years of age or older. The show was sponsored by Stamptrotter's Society and Upstate New York Precancel Society.

They have many framed exhibits, frames belonging to the group. The prize-winners were noted at the Sunday showing. Each exhibit is a historical item in itself, many have fine art work as background for the stamps, and the history given. The judging is done by experts and I understand art work and neatness does not count for too much towards a prize.

Knowing very little about stamps, I asked for our famous Vanderlyn, "Landing of Columbus (1492-1892)" issue. This was copied from the original painting which is in the Rotunda of the Capitol at Washington. At one of the dealer's stands there was a large glass bowl with hundreds of stamps, and one gentleman I take it also customer, found me Vanderlyn, it is a two cent stamp in purple maroon. The price at this sale was only one cent. He found another so I bought the two, at the unbelievable price of two cents, although I was given one of these stamps some time ago by a reader of this column. The dealer was interested to learn, that Vanderlyn the artist, was born and died in Kigston, and much of his art is right here in our Senate House Museum, just a block away from the hotel.

Another dealer, Marion M. Neefus, of 555 State Street, Hudson, had a 1855 stampless cover, stamped in Kingston. This sold for $1. I did buy a stampless cover for 10 cents, which had sold for 50 cents. It is printed shipping list, of "Mobile, Saturday morning, Nov. 21, 1835." These stampless covers were used in U. S. A. before stamps were used. Some are a sheet of paper folded like an envelope. Mine is both printed and written. Printing, although dated 1835, by the "Printed and Published Weekly, at the office of the Commercial and Patriot" is clear sharp and in perfect condition. It is in two sheets, and on second sheet there is a business letter handwritten. This would be interesting to frame and hang in a business office or school.

Another item I could not resist, was a "United States of America" postal card dated 1893, with General Grant's printed stamp. Those were the days of the Penny Postal Cards of course. This was from the Welch Stamp Co. P. O. Box 414, of Otisville, N. Y. I thought it would be interesting because of Gen. Grant during this 1961 Civil War Anniversary. Among the foreign stamps, Daine D. Noe, of 56 Miracle Lane, Loudenville, had uncancelled stamps of Gagarin, the Russian astronaut. She told me three hours after his flight was completed these stamps were for sale in all their countries. She received them around May 14. They were selling for 40 cents a set of four.

Everyone was admiring four large pictures made by Kingstonian, Augustus Raschke, of Shufeldt Street. One of Washington on a horse, another of the Senate House, another, a seal he designed all cut from various colored stamps, around which printed beautifully in stamps, "Colonial City Stamp Club, Kingston, N. Y." center of which is the Senate House in shaded colors. This stamp exhibition could be enjoyed by everyone, there was no admission and it took at least two days to enjoy it all and talk to the charming people.

Compared to Ike-Faubus Case of 1957

Tougher JFK Stand May Have Chilled Alabama Viciousness

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's only public statement so far on the Alabama race riots gave the attorney general, Robert Kennedy, sweeping power to "take all necessary steps" to handle the situation.

But, for the first time in American history, the attorney general happens to be the President's brother. Robert Kennedy has kept the President informed of every step taken.

Thus President Kennedy, more than might ordinarily be the case with some other chief executive and his attorney general, must bear responsibility for what his attorney general does.

Avoids Angering Dixie

So, if Southern Democrats in Congress or Southern politicians in general get sore at Robert Kennedy, they must get equally peeved at the President.

Nevertheless the President—by letting his brother do most of the talking and being fairly mild himself in his only statement—avoids angering Southerners in the way he might if he were more personally and publicly emphatic.

He has intervened directly, but quietly. For instance, in telephoning Alabama officials.

Still, the question he faces—whether or not to speak out more forcefully—is both psychological and political.

Many persons felt in 1957 that if President Dwight D. Eisenhower had spoken out more forcefully the Little Rock school riots might have been avoided.

On July 17 that year he told a news conference:

Ike Against Troops

"I can't imagine any set of circumstances that would ever induce me to send federal troops into any area to enforce orders of a federal court, because I believe that common sense of America will never require it."

But a federal court had ordered integration of a Little Rock school and, within six weeks after Eisenhower deplored the thought of using troops, Gov. Orval Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to block integration.

In the end, Eisenhower had to do exactly what he had said he couldn't imagine doing: He sent federal troops into Little Rock to squelch Faubus.

It is possible that if Eisenhower had been a lot tougher at that July 17 news conference, Faubus might have been discouraged from doing what he did.

It is also possible that if Kennedy had spoken out far more forcefully after the first Alabama riot—a riot against whites and Negroes riding buses to test the state's segregation laws — he might have chilled the mobs' subsequent viciousness.

Effect Not Same

The President apparently felt that the sweeping power he gave his brother would have the same psychological effect as if he himself had said more.

As it turned out, it didn't. The attorney general has sent hundreds of U. S. marshals into Alabama to be sure the bus riders are protected.

This may turn the trick. If the President had taken a more vigorous position, he undoubtedly would have antagonized a number of Southern Democrats at a time when he needs their help to pass important legislation in Congress.

Sees West Alliance Threatened by Lack Of Union by Groups

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Sir Harold Caccia, British ambassador to the United States, says that a lack of union between Europe's two great economic communities could lead to serious military weakness in the western alliance.

Caccia said Monday night that Britain is seeking to link the European Economic Community and the Eurocean Free Trade Association because their competition "can lead to political divisions."

"Sooner or later such disunity would affect military coherence and strength," he added.

The European Economic Community or so-called "Inner Six" is made up of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxemburg.

The European Free Trade Association or "Outer Seven" community includes Britain, Austria, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Portugal and Switzerland.

Says Formation Of Fiscal Policy Up to Governor

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Formulation of the state's fiscal policies is the job of the governor and the Legislature, and not that of the state comptroller, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson says.

Wilson, a Republican, charged Monday night that State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, "likes to pass himself off as the state's chief fiscal officer."

But, said Wilson, "the constitution specifically assigns the formulation of fiscal policy to the governor and the Legislature."

Gov. Rockefeller's fiscal policies, and that of his administration, have come under a barrage of criticism from Levitt, who is considered a potential candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1962.

Wilson criticized Levitt at the annual meeting of the Otsego County Republican Committee. His remarks stemmed from Levitt's repeated charges that the governor's tax and fiscal policies have benefited the wealthy at the expense of the lower-income taxpayers.

Rockefeller's answer was a report from Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy, who claimed the share of the tax burden borne by persons earning under $6,000 a year has declined under Rockefeller.

At record 354 persons were at last night's dinner.

Former Mayor May Seek Office

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Ex-Mayor Steven Pankow, found innocent last year of bribery charges from his administration said he may seek the Democratic nomination for mayor in the November election.

Pankow was mayor from 1953 through 1957. He was later indicted with three former city councilmen on bribery charges in the awarding of paving contracts but a State Supreme Court jury cleared all four last October.

Pankow's successor, Mayor Frank Sedita, is the prime candidate for the party nomination as a result of a state Court of Appeals decision this month upholding a city charter amendment allowing a mayor to serve two consecutive terms.

City Councilman Victor E. Manz is also seeking the nomination.

Quick Men, the Hose

LARCHMONT, N.Y. (AP)—The Larchmont Fire Company had its hose lines laid out during its monthly drill Monday night and had to roll them up in a hurry when an alarm came in for a fire at the Larchmont Shore Club.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

THE MONROE DOCTRINE REAFFIRMED

However fumbling our part in the invasion of Cuba may have been, President Kennedy deserves thanks for reaffiming the Monroe Doctrine. It was time to draw the line.

E. F. Hutton

President Monroe in 1823 said with respect to Latin-American countries that had gained their independence, that "any interpostiion for the purpose of controlling in any manner their destiny, by any European power" would be considered "as dangerous to our peace and safety."

That meant "Hands Off." Monroe was clearly understood. On the contrary, until Mr. Kennedy spoke, our State Department had hemmed and hawed on Castro until no one knew what our policy was, if any. Meantime, we sank deeper in the mud.

What Mr. Kennedy has now said, should have been said when Russia sent its very first shipment of guns or planes to Castro. That was a clear violation of the Monroe Doctrine and an act of war.

The "Be Kind to Communists" crowd has done all the damage we can stand for. If we had a Congressman or Senator with the inflexible courage of former Senator Walsh of Montana, who exposed the Teapot Dome scandal in our highest Government circles, a Congressional investigation of the State Department since Castro came to power, would be in order.

Monroe said it was impossible for European powers "to extend their political system to any portion of this continent without endangering our peace and happiness."

How right he was!

Ne-ho (nē'hō) n. . . . We say a "covey" of quail, a "gaggle" of geese, a "pride" of lions. Is there one apt word for the great family of cities, towns, villages and neighborhoods that form the historic area we call New England and upper New York State? Although you won't find it in any dictionary (yet), perhaps NEHO would do, for the NORTHEASTERN HOME OFFICE of PRUDENTIAL, located in Boston. NEHO, through its agents and millions of policyholders throughout the Northeast, is intimately linked to the welfare and prosperity of this area. Prudential's NEHO agents are in every sense part of your community, its day-to-day life and its forward progress. They serve with the pride and satisfaction of men whose success is based on the esteem of their neighbors.

NewburghCouncil Wants County to Handle Welfare

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Transfer of the Newburgh City Board of Welfare to the Orange County Welfare Administration is sought by the City Cuncil.

The council Monday night adopted a resolution asking the county Board of Supervisors to make the shift.

The action came four days after revelation of a disagreement between City Manager Joseph Mitchell and Clifford P. Tallcott, area director of the State Department of Social Welfare.

Tallcott said Mitchell "violated the spirit if not the letter of the law" in requiring relief recipients to appear for questioning by police on their qualifications for aid on May 1. Tallcott threatened to cut off state and federal contributions to the city's relief costs if such police questioning was repeated.

Mitchell, denying any violation of the law on his part, said he ordered the questioning in order to verify the relief clients' qualifications for aid under welfare laws.

The City Council last week supported Mitchell's stand.

Browning Named

band at Hasbrouck and Delaware Avenues.

Ten divisions and 11 musical marching units are expected to parade.

Honorary Marshal Browning will ride at the head of the first division and proceed to the reviewing stand to receive the salute of marchers. He will be escorted by representatives of the seven veteran groups comprising the Kingston Veterans Association, led by Sidney Lane, president.

A charter member of Woodstock American Legion Post, Browning served as county Legion commander in 1931. He holds membership in almost every veterans organization including Ulster County Voiture 381, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux.

He was recently named an honorary member of the Veterans of World War I and has received many other honorary titles, memberships and citations.

In 1955 he was named by Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars of which he is a member as the Citizen of the Year, and in 1956 the popular newscaster was "tapped" for the National Lafayette Honor List.

This Saturday, Browning, a native of Texas, will celebrate his 68th birthday.

Mayone announced that parade orders to all participants will be published. In the event of inclement weather, the parade will be canceled.

Methodist Charge Receives 14 New Members Sunday

Fourteen new members were received into the Methodist Churches of the Reservoir Circuit on Pentecost Sunday. Churches of the circuit are Ashokan, Glenford, West Hurley.

Mrs. Erich Schiller, a new resident of Ashokan and the mother of a Methodist minister, was received into that church by transfer from The First Presbyterian Church of Stamford, Connecticut.

New members completing the confirmation class successfully were Joseph Boyce, Eileen Gibbins, Linda Glass, Donna and Paul Goins, Alice Hendricksen, Beverly Henkel, Barry Hopkins, Darlene North, Al Nussbaum Jr., Donald Rice, Poncie Rose, and Terry Seaman. Linda Glass is a student at the Marbletown School; the rest of the class attend Onteora Central High School.

After the confirmation ceremony, the Rev. W. H. Hunter stressed in his sermon the need for the Holy Spirit for a vital Christian experience.

Next Sunday marks the installation of new officers of the Woman's Societies of the churches at the Sunday services: Ashokan 9:30 a. m., West Hurley 11 a. m., Glenford 12:30 p. m. The Ashokan church will hold its first Sunday evening fellowship that evening from 5:30 to 7:30.

Shokan Church Schedules Fun Program Friday

A night of fun and fellowship, sponsored by the consistory, will be held in the Shokan Reformed Church Friday, 8 p. m.

The program will consist of tricks of magic by Fred Van Deusen; musical spoons by Frank Nerhi; skit by the church young people; impromptu act by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith. Other acts will be added to the program.

There will be community singing of the old time songs. Refreshments will be served. A free will offering will be accepted. The public may attend.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Du Pont and General Motors held fairly well in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 251.20 with industrials up .90, rails off .60 and utilities off .40.

Both Du Foint and GM recovered some lost ground in early trading. Later GM erased a fractional advance and showed a small net loss. Du Pont, up about 4 points in early trading, lost most of it as it sold up ½ in early afternoon.

The rest of the market was very narrowly mixed.

Steels were moderately higher.

The firmer spots in the list were the farm implements, aircraft-missiles and electronics. Motorola was up 1⅝. Avnet Electronics gained ⅝.

Chemicals were ahead on balance. Union Carbide advanced a point and Air Reduction rose 1⅜.

Tobaccos tended to sell off. Drugs, building materials and nonferrous metals were mixed. Leading rubber stocks took fractional losses. Rails were off fractionally.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were irregular.

The meeting has been moved up in order the complete plans for the annual Memorial Day parade and exercises sponsored by the Legion post.

Also on schedule Wednesday is the annual election of officers. All members have been urged by Commander Styles to participate in the Memorial Day parade.

Christian Science Views Mesmerism

How individual rights are defended through spiritual perception of God's complete power and wisdom will be brought out at Christian Science services in Woodstock Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the Golden Text from Proverbs (21): "There is no wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against the Lord."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (pp. 234, 235): "Evil thoughts and aims reach no farther and do no more harm than one's belief permits. Evil thoughts, lusts, and malicious purposes cannot go forth, like wandering pollen, from one human mind to another, finding unsuspected lodgment, if virtue and truth build a strong defense."

From the Bible will be read these verses from I Peter (5): "Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: Whom resist steadfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world."

Lawn Market

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society of the Woodstock Reformed Church will hold a lawn market on the Village Green on Saturday, May 27. The teenagers will offer for sale dishes, bric-a-brac, furniture, books and records and some antiques.

Stokes Resigns

cial Prosecutor Tompkins had no authority to bring the proceedings and held that only the District Attorney of the county or a citizen of the town involved could institute such proceedings. The Appellate Division held that facts mentioned in the petition were of substantial proportion, but denied the application on the grounds the actions had been instituted by the wrong party.

Later Special Prosecutor Tompkins turned the testimony over to the District Attorney, Raymond J. Mino, since elevated to the County Court bench, on order of Justice Henry Clay Greenberg. When Corwin assumed office those facts were turned over to him. Later after additional testimony had been given before the grand jury that testimony was made available to District Attorney Corwin's office. The present action to take the matter back to the Appellate Division followed.

It is alleged the two town superintendents are guilty of "misconduct" in office in that they received a "kickback" of a cent a gallon on road oil purchased.

The allegation has been denied by both of the town superintendents. Mercier is represented by Vincent G. Connelly and John E. Egan for Amos Stokes.

VIENNA (AP) —White House press secretary Pierre Salinger today conferred with Austrian officials on a schedule for President Kennedy's two-day meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev here next month.

BROWNSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A Negro has been selected for the first time to serve on the grand jury of Haywood County, a civil rights battleground for more than a year.

Joseph Ballard, 65, custodian at City Hall, was selected Monday to serve with 11 white men. The criminal docket will be called Monday.

Sturges to Test

Benefits Listed

In addition to the savings in electrical consumption and gas consumption other benefits sought are a greater supply of hot water, a cooler basement in summer, and less maintenance expense as head pressures are lowered.

The diner, located at a busy intersection in Trenton, operates around the clock. Its power bills during the summer exceed $600 per month.

The nine refrigeration condensing units are air-cooled Tecumseh hermetic type. Six are of ½ housepower each, serving 3 water coolers, two pie cases and a Baine-Marie. Two ¾ horsepower units serve an ice cream cabinet and a reach-in kitchen cooler. A 1 horsepower unit serves a walk-in cooler.

Sturges Optimistic

Sturges points out while this is the first diner he has tackled, the heat exchangers have been amply tested by the various utilities serving New York State on dairy farms and in markets. One dairy farm, Franklin Kelder, in Accord, is now getting all his hot water on an energy-free basis from his Thriftchanger alone, as is Nelson Boice's general store at Olive Bridge and the Boiceville Market at Boiceville. However, he is eagerly awaiting the results of the test by the giant utility.

ing tension was the expected arrival of 12 American Nazi party's "hate bus" riders. Party head George Lincoln Rockwell described the bus as a protest against communism and integration.

Guardsmen in Jeeps, or on foot in squads with fixed bayonets, patrolled the streets. City police aided, but the hundreds of federal marshals ordered here by Atty. Gen. Kennedy were no longer on the streets.

The marshals, who kept the Sunday night mob at bay at the Negro First Baptist church until state patrolmen and guardsmen arrived, were withdrawn by the Justice Department. They are standing by at Maxwell Air Force Base on the outskirts of the city.

May 31 Tax Deadline

City Treaurer Orrie R. Riehl today issued a reminder that May 31 is the deadline for payment of the second half of the general city tax without penalty. A two per cent charge will be added to the tax rate after that date, and after 20 days, from May 31 the penalty will be five per cent plus $1 for issuance of notice.

Switch From Declining Rail to Growing Firm

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—"In 1952 I began to purchase Louisville & Nashville Railroad and now own 50 shares at an average price of $78. With the stock selling round $50, I am wondering if I should take my loss and switch into a more promising situation, such as a good growth stock. What do you think?" J. H.

A—You have held the stock long enough, and I suggest you make a switch.

Louisville & Nashville, like many other railroads, has suffered under the weight of sharp competition and rising costs. Earnings in 1960 were $4.28 a share—one of this road's poorest showings since World War II—and the dividend was reduced.

While the picture may improve a bit this year, I have little reason to believe that former earnings highs will be reached or, for that matter, even approach. It is true that a merger could do much to help the outlook, but such a remedy will not come overnight.

I advise you to sell your Louisville & Nashville shares and to put the proceeds into stocks with a pattern of rising earnings such as J. W. Mays (NYSE) or Fischbach & Moore (OTC). Both of these stocks have prospects for consistent appreciation that the railroads do not provide.

Q—"I have had very good results with utility stocks such as Arkansas Western Gas, El Paso Electric and Public Service of New Mexico. Since purchase, these stocks have increased in value and have paid good dividends. Can you recommend other utility stocks with similar prospects?" E. P.

A—I congratulate you on having picked three growing utilities serving some of the fastest expanding areas in our country. For additional purchases, I suggest you take a look at Arizona Public Service (OTC) and Southwestern Public Service (NYSE), both of which I regard as outstanding growth investments in their field.

CHEAPER MONEY AHEAD?

To stimulate the national economy, powerful voices in Congress are demanding that interest rates be reduced. The easiest way to do that is to lower the rediscount rate at the Federal Reserve Banks.

Any change in the basic rate would significantly influence security prices. Government bonds, corporate obligations and preferred stocks would be affected.

If today, any conservative investor will anticipate a lowering of the interest rate which 12 Federal Reserve Banks have charged their borrowers, many high-grade securities can be bought at bargain prices.

In 1958, the rediscount rate at the Reserve Banks fluctuated from 1¾ per cent to 3 per cent. Today, this rate is 3 per cent. Before this article appears it may be lowered. If that happens, doubtless the securities mentioned here will have advanced in price.

Thousands of conservative investors with unemployed money believe that many common stock prices are too high. And they are right. Yet, they want to put their money to work. Here are some suggestions.

In 1958, when the rediscount rate was 2 per cent, the non-callable $7 cumulative preferred stock of U. S. Steel Corporation—the top ranking industrial company of the world—sold for $158 a share. Today it can be bought for $145. If interested rates were reduced this stock could advance 10 per cent in price.

Likewise in 1958, the non-callable $7 cumulative preferred of International Harvester, the ranking enterprise in its field, sold for $166 a share. It is available today at $146.

The $7 preferred of American Smelting and Refining Company sold for $155 a share in 1958 when money was cheaper. Just now, an investor can buy it at about $142, affording a yield of almost 5 per cent in perpetuity.

The very high grade $3.75 callable preferred stock of General Motors which earns its dividend 70 times over, sold for $92 a share in 1958. Today, is on the bargain counter for conservative investors and can be purchased for about $82.

The high-grade $4.50 preferred of that chemical giant, Du Pont, can be bought at around $101 a share. In 1958, it sold for $112.

If the rediscount rate is lowered ever so slightly, the United States Treasury bonds will sharply advance in price.

As this is being written, several of the 2½ per cent governments are selling at 89 and 90. If the rediscount rate were lowered from the present 3 to 2¾ per cent or to 2½ per cent, these bonds would advance 5 points at least.

* * *

Occasionally, it is wise for the managers and trustees of funds for social, educational, religious and philanthropic organizations to shift their investment policies. And such is now a time. A change in the basic interest rate is in the cards, and investment managers should change policies, too.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television, if repeated audience samplings are accurate, is a woman's world.

Newly issued report on the make-up of the nation's viewing audience by the A. C. Nielsen Co. whose studies are considered authoritative by the industry, states that there are more adult women in the TV audience than men, teen-agers or children from morning to midnight—except for the 5-6 p.m. kiddie's hour.

Also, there are more women than men in the home audiences for Westerns (29 per cent women; 32 per cent men) and for mystery-suspense programs (45 per cent to 34 per cent)—both bread-and-butter programs presumed to have strong masculine appeal. The proportion becomes even greater then the programs are in the categories of drama (50 per cent women; 34 per cent men), variety (49 per cent to 33 per cent) and situation comedy (40 per cent to 27 per cent).

Complexion of the daytime audience is strongly feminine, as would be suspected. Between 2 and 3 p.m. women form 63 per cent of the audiences—just about the percentage which watches the soap operas.

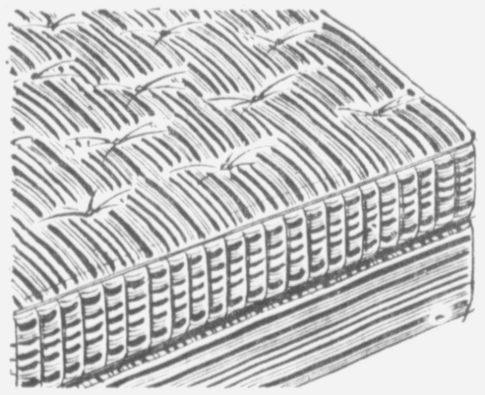

Most popular viewing time for everybody is — logically — between 8 and 10 p.m.

The big new trend in TV is the animated cartoon — next season there will be seven of them: "Bugs Bunny," "The Flintstones" and "Rocky and His Friends" will return for another season, and there will also be NBC's "Bullwinkle," CBS' "Alvin and the Chipmunks," plus ABC's "Calvin and the Colonel," and "Top Cat."

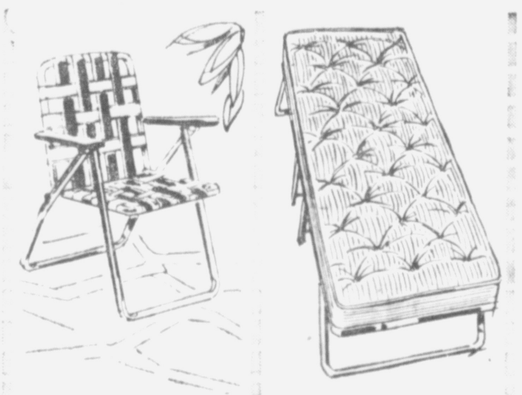

Recommended tonight: "White Paper," NBC, 10-11 (EDT) — "Railroads: End of the Line?" is the title and it is a study of the current problems of rail transportation.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—American oilmen are well aware that when the Russian Bear goes on a raid he can be bruising. And today other American businessmen are studying the latest Soviet economic switch in tactics to see what's in it for them.

For some the announced policy of putting more emphasis on Soviet consumer goods may mean a chance for a new market.

If Soviet Premier Khrushchev means what he says about making more things than just heavy industry items, he may want to buy consumer goods machinery, such as those that make textiles, shoes and appliances, or buy more raw materials and semi-finished materials that go into consumer goods.

U.S. exports to the Soviet Union and its European satellites already had hit a 13-year high in 1960 of $193.4 million. The new move could increase that still further.

For other American consumer industries it could mean in the long run a new competitor in the already crowded scramble for world markets. The Soviet home market might absorb all the new production for a while, but you can't count on it. You never know when Khrushchev may decide to withhold some consumer good from his own people in order to raid an outside market.

And when the Soviet Union enters a world market for any reason—often political it plays rough. Americans often find it hard to compete when all customary rules are scrapped.

Ask the oilmen.

Soviet oil has suddenly appeared at cut-rate prices in markets which American and Western European oil companies have been serving.

Russia can set any price it wants to: First, it doesn't have to fit prices to costs if political purposes outweigh any loss. Second, it can forego a profit without disturbing its stockholders (the Soviet government is the only one). Third, it can barter its cut-rate oil for local goods, which it can either use itself or dump elsewhere (American private firms have much less leaway to do that).

Soviet oil is still but a trickle in the entire world flow. But it is its direction to certain markets, to capture them or to disrupt U.S. trade that hurts.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

An interesting magazine was brought to my attention. It is called the "Log of Mystic Seaport." It is published for members of the Marine Historical Assn. Inc., of Mystic, Conn. The story and the picture of the "President's new desk discovered by Mrs. John F. Kennedy" reads like a TV adventure.

It seems this now famous historical desk was made from the timbers of the Resolute, and was presented to President Hayes in 1880 by Queen Victoria. The Resolute was a British exploring ship in the year of 1852, under the command of Captains Henry Kellett and George F. McDougall. The Resolute had joined a squadron of six ships bound for the Arctic and the search for the lost expedition of Sir John Franklin, which had vanished attempting the discovery of the legendary Northwest Passage.

It seems around the entrance to Melville Sound in 1854 the fleet was beset by ice and the Resolute had to be abandoned. Her lucky crew escaped, joining those of the remaining vessels. Somehow the mysterious Resolute drifted away from the ice and landed on Cape Mercy off Baffin Island some 1,000 miles away. It took a master of a New London Whaleship the George Henry, Captain James Monroe Buddington, to sight the abandoned Resolute. Captain Buddington boarded the Resolute on September 10, 1855, and found her sound in hull, and with accumulation of ice on her port side. I always had an idea that the first man aboard an abandon vessel such as this, became its owner.

Captain Buddington took a boat's crew and refitted the mysterious Resolute while he placed his own whaleship, the George Henry, in charge of John Quale. When ready, Buddington brought the strange Resolute back to New London, where he arrived on Christmas Eve, 1855. His George Henry, arrived at the same port five days before. Captain Buddington could have kept the Resolute as a Christmas present but the Resolute has a much stranger ending that.

The news, of course, when it reached England was most surprising, because it is not often when a British exploring craft is abandoned that it is considered worth recovering or repairing. At the time there was strained relations between the two countries, and so, a Henry Grinnell, a New York merchant, thought it would be a nice gesture on the part of the United States to completely refit the Resolute and return her to England. It cost the United States $40,000 which was appropriated by Congress. So this young country of ours, put the Resolute in real ship-shape condition and sent it back to Portsmouth, England, there the Queen Victoria, herself, boarded her three days later.

The Resolute did service for the British Navy until 1880 when she ended her active career. It was then suggested that a piece of fine furniture be made from her timbers and presented to the President of the United States, "in grateful acknowledgment of the restoration of the Resolute in 1856, as a free gift of the people of the United States." The desk was then made and presented to President Rutherford B. Hayes by Queen Victoria.

More on Captain James Monroe Buddington, the famous whaleman who found the Resolute and first refitted her. He sailed both the Antartic and the Arctic. At the age of 70 he served as mate for his son on a sealing voyage, and retired at the age of 73. He was over 90 when he went to Sailors' Snug Harbor and on December 24, 1908, the 53rd anniversary of his successfully bringing the mysterious Resolute to New London, he died. Captain Buddington's own ship George Henry was lost in the Arctic in 1863.

Named Manager At Kingston IBM

IRVING P. MAURER

The appointment of Irving P. Maurer, of Port Ewen, as electro-mechanical manufacturing manager has been announced by Richard J. Whalen, general manager of the IBM Federal Systems Division Command Control Center at Kingston.

A graduate of Kingston High School, he is the son of Mrs. Russell R. Maurer, of Doris and Bayard Streets, Port Ewen.

Maurer joined IBM in 1948 as an assembler at the Poughkeepsie plant. He was transferred to early SAGE computer development at Kingston as manager of manufacturing in early 1954. He was named technical assistant to the assistant superintendent and then manager of SAGE assembly in late 1954. The following year he was named project manager of card assembly, pluggable unit assembly and final test cell assembly and in late 1955 administrative assistant to the manager of manufacturing. Two years later he was named manager of second shift plant operations. In late 1959 he became adminisrative assistant to the works manager, a post he has held until his present appointment.

Maurer is a member of the American Legion Post 1298, 40 & 8 Voiture 381, Port Ewen Fire Dept., and has served as president of the Esopus Little League.

Maurer, his wife, Irene, and daughter, Diamme, 19, who is presently a student at St. Rose College, Albany, reside on Doris and Bayard Streets, Port Ewen.

WHAT'S BEHIND OUR SLOGAN, "DOLLY MADISON GIVES YOU MORE OF EVERYTHING"?

Sound like a lot of brag and boast for an ice cream? We'll admit it's a pretty all-inclusive statement, but we're describing a product that is significantly different. For instance?

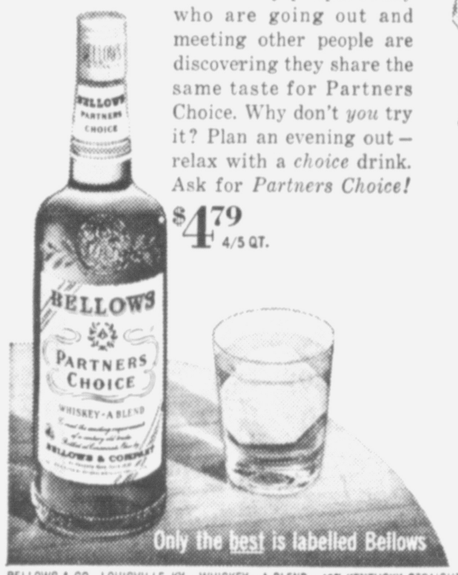

Well, Dolly Madison ice cream is not full of air—as a result, you get more ice cream. There's more real body to this ice cream, thus you get more servings per container. You get more flavor—we describe it as old-fashioned hand-dipped flavor, the kind you remember from the time when we all screamed for ice cream.

This is the kind of product that made ice cream all America's favorite dessert.

If you'd like to test our claim, we'll go along. We've arranged a special "try and see" price—simply find the real coupon described below and take it around to your Foremost and Dolly Madison dealer. But don't you dillydally now—our offer ends June 30.

Tillson

Reformed Church Show Is Success

A capacity crowd filled the auditorium of the Tillson fire hall at the stage show, "Frolics of '61", presented Saturday evening, May 20, under the auspices of the Tillson Reformed Church.

Featured on the show were Fred VanDeusen, Kingston magician, who performed a number of mystifying acts that were well received by the audience; Barbara McGrath, Woodstock actress, who received appreciative applause for her monologue taken from scenes of the play "My Fair Lady," and Robert "Bob" Tremper of Ulster Park, whose comedy routine was amusing. Bob appeared as the winner of a "Miss Tillson" contest, and his impersonation of such a person was cause for constant laughter and much applause.

A fire baton twirling exhibition by Miss Judith Buckman of Kingston thrilled the audience as the performed with fire burning at either end of her baton in the darkened auditorium.

Bruce Hampshire and Alan Theiss, local musicians, on trumpet and saxaphone, opened the show with their rendition of the theme from Peter Gunn, followed by a novelty number.

The Four Queens, of Saugerties, including Jean Wood, Barbara Schultz, Pamela LaPlant and Mary Pat Gavigan, sang "Tonight You Belong to Me" and "Gonna Get Along Without Ya Now" and were called back for an encore.

Laurie Barringer received much applause for her song, "I'm Little but I'm Loud", and the dance team of Lesley Barringer and Toni Timbrouck was greatly appreciated. Rose Marie Sutherland, making her Tillson debut, sang "I've Told Every Little Star" and was called back to sing "My Happiness." Leslie Barringer, well-known local vocalist, received considerable applause after he sang "I Can't Begin to Tell You" and "Love Me Tender."

William Dunn, who acted as accompaniest on the show, was featured playing the electric organ and was well received.

The show ended with a 25-minute one-act hilarious comedy, "I Love You Truly", with a cast from Tillson, including Helen Sutherland, Janet Wakeley, Margaret "Peggy" Sutherland, Barbara DeWitt, Hollis Harvey, Thomas Rowe and Walter Born. This comedy provided many laughs and chuckles every minute it was being produced, and as the cast was introduced, each received much applause from the audience.

Assisting in the back stage work were Arthur Toman, Ernest Hopper, Mrs. Joel Woolsey and Miss Mary Ann Woolsey. Usherettes were Mrs. T. E. Miles and Mrs. Walter Warren. Mrs. Shirley Cafeerty took tickets at the door. Refreshments were sold by members of the Youth Fellowship Group, and the Ladies Aid provided decorations and awards.

Master of ceremonies on the stage show was Hollis E. Harvey, who produced and directed the show for the benefit of the building maintenance fund of the Tillson Reformed Church. Harvey has expressed thanks to all who in any manner aided in making the benefit affair a success.

TILLSON PUPPET SHOW—Sixth graders at Tillson School rehearse for puppet show, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs to be presented at a school assembly 9 a. m. May 31. Police Break Up $20 Million Per Year Game Rings

NEW YORK (AP)—Police and Brooklyn district attorneys men made five raids Monday and Monday night on bookmaking and numbers operations that officers said had a combined annual volume estimated at more than $20 million.

Police announced these major results:

1. Simultaneous raids led by top-ranking police officials on a hotel, an office building and an apartment in Manhattan smashed a gambling ring that handled $8 million a year in bets on sports events.

2. A $2-million-a-year Harlem numbers racket was broken up by police, and three persons were arrested.

3. Members of Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver's rackets squad trailed three suspected numbers collectors to a lower East Side tenement in Manhattan. They broke down a door and seized numbers slips which, according to Silver's estimate, represented an annual handle of $12 to $13 million.

Early today, police arrested 30 men engaged in a dice game on Manhattan's West Side.

Jacqueline Giving President Golf Course for May 29

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy is giving the President an abbreviated golf course of his own for a birthday present.

Workmen have been busy at the Kennedy's weekend estate in Middleburg, Va., carving out a course of three or four holes for the President's private use.

It's pretty hard to keep a present like that a secret and Kennedy already has been trying out the layout.

According to reports, Mrs. Kennedy is footing the bills for greens and fairways covering some 20 acres on the 400-acre Glen Ora estate the Kennedys have leased for a year in the heart of the Virginia hunt country.

The longest hole will be about 350 yards.

Already, a sign denotes it as the "Glen Ora Country Club."

Kennedy's birthday is next Monday, May 29, when he will be 44 years old.

$2 Million Plant Due for Orange, May Employ 200

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—The Dyan-Foam Corp. has announced plans to build a $2-million-dollar plant near Campbell Hall in nearby Hamptonburg Township.

Donald G. Gedde III, international operations manager of the corporation, said Monday night the plant would employ 60 persons to start, with long-range plans calling for a staff of 200.

The plant will manufacture a new plastic for installation, decoration and cushioning, Geddes said. He estimated construction would begin some time next spring.

Wants Mixed Bomber-Missile Force

LeMay Believes B70 Needed, Will Argue Against Cut-Back

EDITOR'S NOTE — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, who will take over as Air Force chief of staff July 1, is a veteran bomber pilot and the first chief of the Strategic Air Command. He believes in the B70 bomber. His appointment, writes Fred S. Hoffman, an Associated Press military affairs reporter, may signal a new effort to get the speedy plane in the air soon.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay's advent as Air Force chief of staff may signal a new effort to win an administration go-ahead for the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 bomber.

LeMay a veteran bomber pilot and first chief of the Strategic Air Command, is an exponent of the B70 and a believer in the concept of a mixed bomber-missile force as a main deterrent to enemy attack for some years to come.

Genral Wants Action

An associate of the incoming staff chief said LeMay believes the B70 is needed and that the general doesn't want to see it canceled or delayed.

This LeMay associate contended the B70 project has not been abandoned; that the Kennedy administration has reached no final decision. He spoke in terms of presenting a case for the B70 "in court," apparently meaning the highest levels of the administration.

Generally, the source familiar with LeMay's thinking said he expected "no radical changes" when the bluff, vigorous, 54-year-old general takes over from retiring General Thomas D. White July 1.

May Have More Influence

LeMay has been vice chief under White for four years, the source noted, and thus has worked with White in developing the policies and practices now in effect.

But where White was an appointee of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, LeMay is President Kennedy's choice—and thus may have more influence at the top of the current administration than White could exert.

Presumably, LeMay could exert that influence in the direction of gaining support for the B70, which Kennedy has proposed cutting back—at least for the present.

North's Bid Is Interesting

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When a good partnership is clicking away it is a pleasure to watch it operate. Mervyn Key and Bobby Nail of Houston are one of these good partnerships and it is worth-while to see how easily they reached three no-trump with the North-South cards.

Of course, many other players would handle these cards all right also. Experts don't have a monopoly on good results.

Bobby has a normal double of West's one heart opening and Mervyn, in the South, has a sound one no-trump response. He has eight high card points, two potential heart stoppers, and no interest in the other major suit.

Bobby's raise to two no-trump is the interesting bid of the hand. He saw no reason to show one of his four card suits after Mervyn had bid no-trump and his only problem was whether to bid two or three. His choice of a mere two no-trump showed his confidence in the fact that Mervyn would know about the bonus for bidding and making a game.

Sure enough, Mervyn went to three. There was nothing much to the play. West opened the queen of spades. Mervyn won in dummy and led the jack of hearts. Eventually he set up one heart trick which was enough when added to his two spades, two diamonds and four clubs.

L.I. Man Hurt As Loaded Rifle Goes Off in Car

A Central Islip man was seriously injured Sunday night when a loaded rifle in a car in which he was a passenger was accidentally discharged. His condition is described as "poor" at Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

Charles Becker, 22, of Central Islip, L. I., was struck when John Dederick, 16, of Oak Hill attempted to grab the rifle as it slipped toward the driver, Francis McCarthy, 37, of Central Islip, as the car rounded a curve on Route 26 in the Town of Greenville, Leeds state police reported.

The bullet went through the front seat of the car and struck Becker who was seated in the back seat. The .300 calibre bullet lodged in the rear seat.

Greenville Justice of the Police William Graff fined McCarthy and Dederick $10 each for carrying a loaded gun in the car.

The accident was investigated by Troopers G. E. Davis and A. T. Johnson.

Victory for Murchisons . . . But

Formal Word Due On Vote by Alleghany

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Wrter

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The epic "battle of millionaries" for control of the $6.7-billion financial empire ruled by Alleghany Corp. ends today with a victory for the insurgent Murchison brothers.

Never before had a proxy fight been waged for such stakes.

All that remained was formal announcement of the margin in stockholder votes they rolled up over vanquished management forces led by Allan P. Kirby, outgoing chairman.

Counting disputed proxies, it was expected to top 800,000. Disregarding them, it was still well over a half million, informed sources said.

Kirby May Bide Time

Unanswered, however, was this question: By winning the battle, did John D. Murchison, 39, and Clint, 37, win the war?

Paradoxically, the outcome left Kirby, rich and proud, owning nearly 35 per cent of Alleghany's 9,844,970 common shares, a holding larger than that of the corporation's new rulers and their associates combined.

In the lexicon of poker, Kirby was "looking down the throats" of the victors. The best indication was that he would bide his time, spurning the Murchisons' expected profer of representation on the board.

Kirby, 68, reputedly worth $300 million built on a Woolworth 5-and-10 cent store inheritance, stayed away from today's thrice-recessed session of Alleghany's May 1 annual meeting.

The count of proxies was finished only last weekend.

The dissident Texans whose father, fabulous oilman and investor Clint W. Murchison Sr., once was a Kirby business ally swept all nine director berths—the seven elected by common stock votes and the two chosen by preferred shareowners.

Angling for McCloy

The Murchison forces planned to assemble in New York on Wednesday to take over officially, probably by installing an interim crew of new corporate officers.

One report had them angling for services of John J. McCloy, former New York banker and government official, as directing head of the company.

Robert B. Anderson, a former secretary of the Treasury and now a special partner in a Wall Street investment firm, was another possibility.

Alleghany controls the $2.5-billion New York Central Railroad and Investors Diversified Services, a $3.7-billion, Minneapolis-based investment company complex.

In addition, it has multimillion-dollar holdings in the Baltimore and Ohio and Missouri Pacific railroads, Webb & Knapp Inc., giant New York realty firm, and Transamerica Corp., an insurance holding company.

Lefkowitz Calls On GOP to Push Positive Program

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz today that Republicans "must not be lulled into a sense of complacency" by the achievements of the party in the state and Gov. Rockefeller's administration.

"We must continued to present to the electorate positive, progressive programs which are responsible to the needs of the people and candidates who . . . will carry on a dynamic campaign aimed at informing and arousing public opinion on the vital issues," he added.

Lefkowitz called for "devotion and hard work" by all in the party in a talk prepared for a breakfast meeting of the Monroe County Republican Committee.

One Dies, Three Hurt in Crash at Plattsburgh Port

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—A single-engine plane crashed while attempting to land at Municipal Airport here Monday night, killing one man and injuring three others seriously.

Ronald Smythe, 27, of Huntington, Que., believed to be the pilot, died an hour after the accident at Champlain Valley Hospital.

Smythe's wife, Joan 31, Kenneth Wentworth, 24, and his wife, Marie, 20, also of Huntington, were reported in serious condition at the same hospital.

The plane crashed about a mile and a half short of the runway it was approaching. It landed 300 yards from St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church.

The cause of the accident was not determined.

The group took off earlier Monday from Malone and flew to Burlington, Vt., where they had lunch, then headed for Plattsburgh, officials at the airport said.

The owner of the A35 Beechcraft Bonanza was listed as Donald T. Mageean of Bangor, N. Y.

AirForceResumes SearchforMaheux

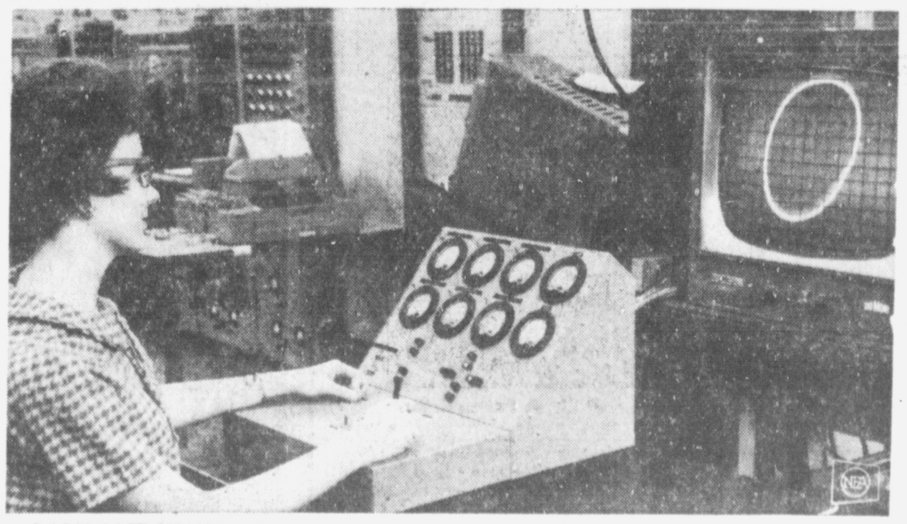

NORTH HUDSON, N.Y. (AP)—About 50 Air Force men today resume a search around this Essex County community for an airman who has been missing since last December.

The Air Force announced in Plattsburgh Monday night that they would begin looking for S. Sgt. Pierre Maheux, 27, of Auburn, Me., who parachuted from a B52 bomber over the Adirondack Mountains.

The seven others were found alive shortly after the crash.

Two helicopters join in today's search.

The Air Force searched for Maheux for about three weeks after the crash but finally suspended looking for him for the winter.

Zoning Changes Are Discussed by Paltz Town Board

NEW PALTZ—The New Paltz Town Board was faced with some major changes in the town zoning ordinance at its last meeting.

The two main proposed changes were: Changing the south side of Route 299 from Joalyn Road on upper Main Street, to the Putt Corners Road for a depth of 350 feet from residential to business. The north side will be business for a depth of 350 feet except for an area of 1,000 feet west of the Putt Corners Road and 1500 feet deep which will be industrial.

Changing the residential area along the Springtown Road to industrial. The industrial section, as proposed, will include the land between the railroad and the Wallkill river on the east and a depth of 1,000 feet west of the railroad continuing to the northern line of the town.

It was explained that most of the other proposed changes were relatively minor and were being suggested in order to do away with too much generalization in the zoning ordinance. Changes of a specific nature will be a help to the zoning board of appeals.

Most of the changes have been suggested by the planning board. They will finally need to be approved by the board, then, the town board will then have to give its final approval.

The town board will hold a public hearing June 14 on the request of Anthony Schiro to widen to 50 feet his 25 foot right of way which leads to the old DuBois Road.

Supervisor Peter Savago, has announced that the final 1960 census figures are 5,841 for the town, which includes the village, and 3,041 for the village, which includes college students.

Town Clerk Theodore Lasher has reported that the licensing of dogs is finished for the year, and that New Paltz received one of the largest sums of money back from the county on dog license fees. The number of dogs which is now 800 for the Town of New Paltz.

The board also decided that some of the town books will need to be rebound before they are moved and stored in the new vault of the new town building, and that all the existing books will have to be sanitized before they are moved.

The new town building has progressed to the point where the trim work will soon be started. The water and sewer lines are completed, and electric wiring is now under way. Waterproofing paint is to be used in the vault instead of the regular paint since the cost is approximately the same.

A request for a sign saying "Children Playing Drive Slowly" for Joalyn Road, was referred to Issac Pole, Highway Commissioner.

The board, voted to accept an invitation to anticipate in the Memorial Day parade.

Those present at this meeting were the Supervisor, Peter Savago; Town Clerk, Theodore Lasher; Highway Commissioner, Issac Pole; Councilmen, Robert Elting and Kenneth Hotaling; Justices S. Parks Glenn and John Tenaglia, and Attorney Peter Harp.

Memorial Day Parade Plans Are Announced

The Memorial Day parade and services will be held Tuesday, May 30, beginning at 9:30 a. m. The members of the Sullivan-Shafer Post 176, American Legion, invited all organizations to take part in the parade and services with them. A special invitation is extended to all veterans to participate.

The parade will start from North Manheim Boulevard, at 10 a. m. with all participants to be in line at 9:30. The line of march will be from North Manhein Boulevard to North Front Street to Church Street to Broadhead Avenue to North Chestnut Street to Main Street and continue up Main Street to the monument where the memorial services will be held.

Modena, 8 a. m.; Lloyd, 8:15 a. m.; New Paltz, 8:40 a. m.

The public may attend the services.

Local Boy Scouts Attend Camporee

New Paltz Boy Scout Troops 71 and 77 were among the 175 scouts and scouters at the Southern District spring camp-o-ree recently, together with their scoutmasters, Frank Kidney and Fred Sutter.

As each troop arrived in camp their patrols made their fires and cooked supper. On the second day each troop competed in various events varying from the centipede race to the scout skill such as signaling. The Explorers of Troop 77 under the advisorship of William Morris, supervised and judged the events.

Troop 74 was given the special award for the best use of the patrol method. The Eagle patrol of this troop also won an award. Awards for these and other events were presented at the round table, May 22 at the Highland Presbyterian Church.

The next camp-o-ree will be held at the Trimount Scout Camp-o-ree in the middle of June, where the scouts of the entire Rip Van Winkle Council will attend. The camping committee is already planning for a full campsite lined up for that affair.

Former Resident Is Promoted by College

Professor Theodore Manolakes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michol as Manolakes of 15 North Front Street, New Paltz, has been named head of student teaching in the University of Illinois College of Education. This was announced by Professor Charles M. Allen. His appointment will become effective as of September 1.

He will be in charge of assignment of students to Illinois elementary and high schools for the "professional semester" required of all students preparing to become teachers. He has been head supervisor of elementary teachers at the university for the past two years.

Before going to Illinois in September 1959, Prof. Manolakes has taught in elementary schools at Suffern and Kensington, and at Hunter College and at Teachers College, Columbia University. He received his BB degree from New Paltz State University College of Education and his MS and EdD degrees from Teachers College, Columbia.

St. Joseph's Church Lists Activities

At teachers recognition day last week, the children of St. Joseph's school honored the Sisters and lay teachers with gifts from each class.

At the assembly Tuesday morning, members of the graduating class put on a play depicting the story of Our Lady of Fatima. Arthur Michel was awarded a medal from the American Automobile Association for his excellent work in organizing the school safety patrol, by the pastor, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward F. Monckton.

Friday, 11 a. m., the Most Rev. James A. Griffiths, DD, administered the Sacrament of Confirmation at St. Joseph's Church. Boy Scouts under the direction of John O'Donnell directed parking.

The newly elected officers of the Men's Club of St. Joseph's have taken the initiative in approaching all men of the parish to invite their interest. In a letter mailed to every prospective member, a series of questions were asked which will guide the executive committee in decading the future plans for the success of the club.

The men of St. Joseph's Parish turned out Saturday to paint the church.

Area Activities

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner, owners and operators of the Western Auto Store here, recently visited Santa's Workshop in Boston.

At the recent Board meeting of the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Bennett Bradt was appointed to be a member of the independent Citizens Committee to study the New Paltz school situation. This appointment was made at the request of the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Bradt is chairman of the League workshop on education which has spent two years studying the subject of financing schools in New York State.

The New Paltz Rod and Gun Club will hold a dance at the lodge on the Wallkill River Saturday, June 3.

Two Get Prison Terms For Passing Bogus Bills

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Two men have drawn federal prison terms for passing counterfeit $20 bills at a suburban shopping plaza last November.

William Lupo, 33, of suburban Penfield, was sentenced to four years by Federal Judge Harold P. Burke. James Cannarozzo, 24, of Rochester, drew a 2½ year term. They were convicted last week of an 11-count indictment charging them with passing, concealing and possessing counterfeit bills.

HearingContinues In Girl's Death

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—A closed preliminary hearing continued today for Charles Ducharme, a 20-year-old farm laborer accused of killing a 17-year-old girl who rejected his love.

City Judge Irving Goldman, after listening to three witnesses behind closed doors Monday, adjourned the hearing until today. The identities of the witnesses and their testimony were not made public.

Newsmen and spectators were barred by Goldman. Only one witness testified in the room at a time.

State Police charge Ducharme shot Betty Ann Davison as she returned home April 30, after a date with another youth. Ducharme was captured May 4 after he had shot himself in the stomach, police said.

Ducharme is accused of first-degree murder. At Ducharme's arraignment last week, his attorney, J. Byron O'Connell of Plattsburgh, said he would contend that the crime, if any, occurred in Canada.

State Police charge the girl was killed in a home at Mooers Forks, eight miles south of the Canadian border.

It is called Alkylate. Read how Jimmy Doolittle helped Shell develop this extraordinary ingredient—and how Alkylate helped Shell take 100-octane gasoline out of the laboratory and put it into the skies.

You'll also learn why Alkylate is now blended into today's Super Shell for top performance.

YOUR ENGINE may run smoothly at low speeds—but knock when you put your foot down at highway speeds. This is called "high-speed knock." It has been a problem for years.

Today's Super Shell goes a long way toward solving it, with a remarkable ingredient called Alkylate.

What Doolittle knew

The high-speed knock problem cropped up for the first time in the early 1930's, when the earliest really powerful aircraft engines were being developed.

Jimmy Doolittle, then Shell's Aviation Manager, realized that such engines couldn't run efficiently without higher-octane gasoline to prevent high-speed knock.

He knew of a 100-octane fuel already being tested in Shell Laboratories. That fuel was iso-octane, the basic ingredient of Alkylate. But iso-octane had never been produced in quantity.

Doolittle acts

This opened the way to Shell's commercial production of 100-octane aviation gasoline.

The new fuel made giant airliners possible. And it helped make today's high compression automobile engine possible, too.

How high-speed knock can hurt car engines

Although your car travels much slower than an airplane, its engine often turns faster than the engines of a DC-7.

Long trips at sustained highway speeds put a heavy heat load on your engine. This can cause high-speed knock—resulting in engine roughness, power loss and even damaged engine parts—unless your gasoline is up to the job. And Super Shell is.

Super Shell's nine ingredients

In all, there are three special anti-knock ingredients in today's Super Shell. You've read about the first one, Alkylate.

Read now what the other two contribute—and how all of Super Shell's ingredients help your car deliver top performance.

#2 is new, improved TCP* for restored power, added mileage and longer plug-life.

#3 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knock. It helps control combustion, so that pistons get a firm, even push rather than a hard knock.

#4 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr. It's the super-octane result of 900-degree heat and catalytic action.

#5 is Butane for quick starts. It is so anxious to get going, Shell stores it under pressure 400 feet below ground.

#6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups. It is made by tearing petroleum apart, much as you split kindling.

#7 is an anti-icer to help check cold-weather stalling. It is added whenever the temperature is likely to be less than 45 degrees.

#8 is gum preventive to help keep carburetors and automatic chokes from clogging.

#9 is Platformate for extra mileage. Shell uses eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst to make this super-energy ingredient.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try today's Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs.

Test Super Shell any way you choose—for fast starts, for pick-up, for knock-free power, for long mileage. You'll discover what Shell scientists really mean by top performance.

Fate of Move for Protestant Reunion Up to Episcopalians

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The fate of a newly launched move for Protestant reunion rested today with the Episcopal Church.

Whether it will go along with an action initiated here by the 173rd General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church was the question.

If it doesn't, the specific plan apparently is done for.

This was confirmed by the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, chief Presbyterian administrative officer, who said the procedure depended on a sequence of denomination approvals.

"There is a value in moving step by step rather than sending out a broadcast invitation", he said.

As spelled out in the plan, the next step is up to the Episcopal Church at its governing convention in Detroit next September.

"I have great hopes," Dr. Blake said.

If the Episcopal Church agrees to the unification effort, then it and the Presbyterian Church will jointly seek to enlist the Methodist Church and the United Church Of Christ in the negotiations.

The policy-making presbyterian assembly yesterday overwhelmingly approved the moves aimed at establishing a "united church, truly catholic truly reformed, and truly evangelical."

It was explained that the words "truly evangelical," were added to the original motion because of Methodist emphasis on this aspect.

The Episcopal Church stresses pre-Reformation Catholic traditions as well as Protestant elements, while Presbyterians and the United Church of Christ (including Congregationalists and the Evangelical and Reformed churches) stress the non-ritualistic customs.

A major problem as highlighted by floor discussions of the plan is the Episcopal Church's adherence to the traditions of apostolic succession.

The resolution also expresses the United Presbyterians' continuing desire to unite with Southern Presbyterians.

The assembly also approved further steps to develop a national Presbyterian church and center in Washington, D.C.

But, the Rev. J. Cristie Wilson of Princeton, N.J., said Presbyterians don't need "a shrine or cathedral in the nation's capital."

Mr. Cristie also joshed the Rev. Edward Elson, pastor of the present National Presbyterian Church in Washington and a key mover in the project, which could cost an estimated $20 million.

Mr. Cristie said that Mr. Elson had "baptized and brought into the church" former President Eisenhower, but that it ought not to be held against Mr. Elson that he was "not able to take into church a young man named John Kennedy."

"The cards and the cardinals were stacked against him," Mr. Cristie jested.

It was announced that Eisenhower has agreed to be chairman of a sponsoring committee for the project.

Named Acting Dean

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—David A. Thomas is the new acting dean of Cornell University's graduate school of business and public administration.

Thomas, formerly assistant dean, succeeds C. Stewart Sheppard, who resigned to take a post at the University of Virginia.

Thomas' appointment was announced by the university last night.

Res Found Guilty of Manipulating Market

Father, Son Bring on Big Probe Of the American Stock Exchange

Editor's note—The nation's second largest stock market, the American Stock Exchange in New York, has been jolted by the case of Jerry and Gerard Re, important father-and-son members expelled from the exchange by the Securities and Exchange Commission on charges of price rigging and market manipulations. The exchange itself now faces an extensive federal investigation. The following is the first of four articles exploring the situation.

American Exchange (Part 1)
By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the most important men in Wall Street held a meeting 17 months ago at the American Stock Exchange, close by Trinity Churchyard in lower Manhattan.

Their conference represented a showdown between the exchange and two of its most prominent members, Jerry and Gerard Re (pronounced Ray).

The Res, father and son, stood accused by their colleagues of flouting certain laws and regulations designed to protect the nation's 15 million investors.

Are Exonerated

The result—Jerry Re was barred from the exchange floor for just 30 days and Gerard was exonerated.

Among those who viewed the verdict with concern were officials of the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission, which soon began its own action against the Res with these recent results:

—On April 29, SEC investigators accused the Res of illegally selling nearly $10 million in stocks of nine corporations, of rigging market prices on a wholesale basis, of operating an "underground business combine" rooted in deceit and bribery, of doing "many millions of dollars of harm to thousands of unsuspecting investors."

The Res, according to their accusers, were guilty of the most flagrant market manipulation in the 26-year history of the SEC.

—On May 4, a lawyer for the Res told the commission that Jerry Re, 64, is a "truculent and arrogant old man" who could not be defended against the charges. However, the lawyer argued that Gerard, 38, tried to do the right thing, did not willfully violate the law and should be dealt with less severely.

In less than 90 minutes, the SEC gave its answer: Jerry and Gerard Re were guilty as charged and, as a consequence, were expelled at once from the American Exchange and barred from employment in any phase of the securities business. This was the maximum penalty the commission could impose.

—On May 15, the SEC announced plans to investigate, behind closed doors, "the rules, policies, practices and procedures" of the American Exchange in regulating its members.

To Determine About Laws

The purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether new laws or regulations are needed to protect the investing public.

Edward T. McCormick, president of the American Exchange says he welcomes the inquiry "because of the unwarranted inferences which have been made by some" as a result of the Re case.

The Business Conduct Committee of the exchange concluded lengthy hearings on charges that the Res violated rules designed to prevent market operators from driving down stock prices by selling short. The committee recommended that the governors of the exchange find the Res guilty.

Some top exchange officials agreed. These included McCormick and Joseph F. Reilly, then head of the Floor Transactions Committee and now chairman of the Board of Governors.

No Strangers to Trouble

The Res, at that time, were no strangers to trouble. In mid-1957 they had been hit with a federal injunction prohibiting them from making allegedly illegal stock sales. A year later the SEC had uncovered what it considered evidence of still further violations but, as yet, had taken no direct action.

The governors exonerated the Res.

Middletown Firm Moving to L.I.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—The Castwell Foundry Co., a $250,000 firm situated here since 1958, will shift to an undisclosed Long Island site shortly.

The announcement was made at a meeting of the Middletown Industrial Expansion Corp. Monday night by Michael V. Fratello, president of the company which employs 80 persons.

The expansion corporation said that in light of losing the foundry, plus other developments, it plans to hire a professional industrial coordinator to work out a program to attract new industry to this community of 24,000 persons.

World in Shock, People Can't Think

Steinbeck, One of Best Living Writers, Sees Authority Breakup

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"The whole world is in a state of shock," said author John Steinbeck. "That is why people don't think.

"You can't think when you're in a state of shock."

At 59 Steinbeck, rated among the best of the United States' living writers, has turned out 27 books. His latest novel, "The Winter of Our Discontent," will be published next month.

But for 30 years Steinbeck also has made an intensive study of the Middle Ages, and feels mankind is again entering that kind of historical period.

Old Forms Breaking

"Again we're seeing the breakup of old forms of authority—religious, governmental, even parental—before new ones are established," he said, pugging cheerfully on a pipe in the study established," he said, puffing cheerfully on a pipe in the study of his East Side home.

"That's why people are so restless and worried. They don't know what to tie to.

"There's even a new trend in cocktail parties here. Instead of showing up with their husbands or wives or mistresses or lovers, people bring their psychiatrists.

Retains Gusto for Living

"Good Lord, the way we live."

But Steinbeck, who saw life in the raw in half a dozen jobs ranging from brick laying to war reporting, retains a wonderful gusto for living. Rumpling his graying hair and beard, swiveling his glasses from his nose to the 2,000 words of prose almost daily top of his head, he scribbles out 2,000 words of prose almost daily with a ball point pen in a series of old fashioned ledgers.

"I used to write 3,000 words a day, but it got to be too exhausting," he said.

The ledgers in which he writes would be gold mines to future literary scholars — if Steinbeck kept them. But he says he throws them away.

"They don't seem awfully damn important to me," he said in the rapid-fire, half mumble with which he talks.

"I heard once that J.P. Morgan spent a fortune for three of Shelley's hairs. Ridiculous. If he had lived when Shelley did, he probably wouldn't have read a line of his poetry."

Grows Intense, Mature

Hailed as a social reformer when "Grapes of Wrath" appeared in 1940, Steinbeck feels he has grown both more intense and more mature with the years.

"Everything in life is colored by your personality," he observed "but as you mature you become more aware of outside things, less concerned about yourself.

"There's nothing that cleans up like dying. If you stick around too long, they get tired of you. Sometimes I think I've stuck around too long.

"I may run out of gas, but not out of ideas as ideas have pups. It's when you're not doing anything that you don't have ideas."

Hurley Cub Pack

Den 1 of Hurley Cub Pack 20 went on an adventure and nature hike up Hurley Mountain Saturday. Leading the hike was Edward Sheldon, scoutmaster of Hurley Scout Troop 20; and Douglas Enders, father of one of the boys. The boys went up the old fire road, ate lunch at the summit and returned cross country through the woods. Many varieties of insects, birds and wild flowers were discovered. Present on the hike were Chris Bellows, Kenneth Ellsworth, Douglas Enders, Gary Hanvey, William Schaaf, Daniel Sheldon and William Van Allen.

Scout Troop 20

Last Tuesday, Hurley Scout Troop 20 had its first annual parents night dinner and court of honor.

The Scout's Mothers' Auxiliary, under the leadership of Mrs. Doris Tweedy, served a dinner. The invocation was given by the Rev. Harold F. Schadewald of the Hurley Reformed Church.

Assistant Scoutmaster James Roosa conducted Tenderfoot investiture ceremonies for new scouts, James Carver, Robert Geolewski, Randell Kelder, and Craig Millikin.

Scoutmaster, Edward Sheldon, announced the promotion of Robert Schmidt Jr. to junior assistant Scoutmaster. He gave second class awards to Michael Honan and Alan Pedersen; and the safety merit badge to Robert Schmidt Jr., James Tweedy, and John Henze. Vaughn Askue received the geology merit badge.

Following the court of honor Alex McDonald, council scout executive spoke to the boys and their parents. Robert Tremper, assistant district commissioner, put on a program featuring life at Camp Tri-mount. Also announced was the new troop committee for the coming year.

At the Markets

MILK AND DAIRY PRODUCTS — June marks the seasonal high point in milk production, and for the 25th year members of the dairy industry will celebrate June as Dairy Month. The nation's dairy herd will join in this celebration, the oldest such festival for any food, by producing more milk per cow than in any year in history and possibly setting a new all-time record of 125,000,000,000 pounds of milk before this year ends.

Fluid milk production during the current flush season exceeds demand, despite the fact that milk and its products contain a wealth of inexpensive calcium, the nutrient most likely to be deficient in the American diet. Milk not needed for fluid consumption is used for other dairy products, and these products are numerous. All dairy products are suitable foods for the summer season but many are especially adapted to warm temperatures.

BROILERS — Large supplies and low prices combine to make broilers a top choice for June meals — indoors or outdoors. Shoppers will find supermarkets crowded with fully 25 per cent more of these versatile birds in June than a year earlier. Broilers will be generally priced from 10 to 15 per cent less than at the same time last year or will be featured as low price specials.

POTATOES — Americans eat about 100 pounds of potatoes per person, more than any other vegetable. This June good-sized crops from several producing areas will load vegetable counters. Florida potatoes will still be in evidence with supplies increased by harvests in California, Arizona, Alabama, North Carolina, and Virginia. Prices are very low for this season — 25 cents for 5 pounds, 10 cents less than a year ago, according to the New York City Department of Markets.

How To Use Water To END YOUR CONSTIPATION WORRIES

Here's how to get to the basic root of your constipation problem. Bring enough moisture to your lower colon every day. As soon as food wastes are normally moistened, they will "move" as they should and you will enjoy daily elimination.

So do this to end your constipation worries. Take SERUTAN every day with plenty of water. SERUTAN is a pure vegetable gel which carries twenty times its weight in water to your lower digestive tract where it is needed to promote more normal regularity.

SERUTAN provides the proper moisture, bulk and peristaltic action to help keep you regular. This is utterly different from chemical laxatives which cause diarrhea and may dry you out.

Get SERUTAN today. Use it faithfully as directed for at least one week. You must enjoy daily regularity or your money back from the maker.

Spring Festival Program at MJM Is Announced Here

Nearly 300 students will participate in the annual Spring Festival of the Myron J. Michael Junior High School to be presented in the Kingston High School auditorium on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 8 p. m.

Opening the program will be a musical group by the MJM Band under the direction of Marlin Morette. Numbers will include: March Sabo, Bennett; Suite No. 1 in F Major featuring Jeff May as clarinet soloist, Mozart; Tambourine, by the Woodwind Ensemble, Gossec; Blue Tango, Anderson; Sonata No. 5 in F Major, with Joan Levy as flutist, from Handel; and March College Boy by Bennett.

A new feature this year will be an exhibition on the trampoline by seventh and eighth grade students under the direction of Mrs. Jean Ryan, physical education instructor. The trampoline is one of the most recent pieces of apparatus in the field of physical education. It combines one of the most natural activities with one of the most enjoyable sports. The simplicity of jumping make this activity available to all students. Many of the students have attained considerable skill on the trampoline which will make this part of the evening's performance enjoyable to everyone.

With Markian Baczynsky directing the MJM Orchestra will featuring the following selections: True Blue March, Merle J. Isaac; Mazurka, John Pulaski; Tango, Robert Leland; Valsette, Barbara Adams; and Scene Chinoise, by Courtney Drake.

Groups of dancers in colorful costumes will present the following folk and interpretive dances: Kaluelis (Lithuanian); Fado Blanquita (Portuguese); Troika (Russian); Sicilian Tarantilla (Italian); and an interpretive number featuring modern creative movements. Dance Director is V. Jane LaMotte, physical education instructor.

A choral group with James Brian Steeves, instructor, conducting, will feature the following selections: Brother James's Air (Marosa) arranged by Gordon Jacob; Do-Re-Mi (from "Sound of Music") Rodgers and Hammerstein; When Over Sunlit Paths, Swift-Moller; Sound of Music (from "Sound of Music") Rodgers and Hammerstein; and Old Ark's a Moverin' (concert version) by Noble Cain. Choral accompanist will be Joseph Esposito.

The program will conclude with a Finale with the entire student cast participating.

Mrs. William Keith Elected President Of Junior Marrieds

Mrs. William Keith, 16 Westrum Street, was elected president of the Junior Married Women's Club of the YWCA at the organization's annual election meeting last week. Chairmen to the standing committees will be announced by the president-elect at the club's annual dinner, June 1. Together, these new leaders form the executive committee of the Junior Marrieds and assume responsibility for initiating all club activities.

Also elected to the new slate were Mrs. Richard Rand, vice president; Mrs. Richard Vigurs, recording secretary; Mrs. Ronald O'Neil, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. John Mueffelmann, treasurer.

At the business meeting presided over by Mrs. Robert Murray, reports were made by the respective chairmen of the card party and spring dance, Mrs. John Mueffelmann and Mrs. Richard Vigurs. Mrs. E. Ronald Rifenburg gave a resume of the Ulster County TB and Health Association dinner which she attended as representative of the Junior Marrieds. She reported on the commendation given to the club for its donation of over 500 birthday cakes for patients during the past six years. The club has also received a certificate of appreciation for its participation as the bank committee in the Easter Seal Appeal, according to the chairman, Mrs. O'Neil.

Arrangements for the annual dinner, which traditionally concludes the year's activities, were announced by Mrs. John VanDine. It will be held at the Capri, Port Ewen, June 1 at 7:15 p. m. Reservations may be made with Mrs. VanDine until May 29. Highlighting the dinner will be the installation of new officers. Attending as guests of the club will be Mrs. Eleanor Booth, executive director of the YW. Mrs. Mary Short, director of the YW's teen program, and Miss Marcia Clark, president of the board. They will represent the YWCA in the club's presentation of contributions to the various programs of the YWCA.

Doctor Who Removed Own Appendix Fine

MOSCOW (AP)—The young Soviet doctor who removed his own appendix in the antarctic April 30 is in perfect health and has gone back to work, Tass, the Soviet news agency said today.

Dr. Leonid Rogozov was at the Novo-Lazarev Research Station on the Queen Astrid coast of Antarctica when he was stricken by appendicitis on April 30. A blizzard kept him from flying to the main Soviet antarctic base at Mirny, several hundred miles away.

Tass said he observed his abdomen in a mirror while he opened it and despite severe pain cut out the infected appendix.

Jersey Approves Tax Package, to Add $78 Million

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — New Jersey legislators generally agreed that the state would spend $467.4 million during the coming fiscal year.

Although they figured and refigured, it appeared the state's income would be $39 million less than expenditures.

The Senate and Assembly approved a one-cent increase on cigarette taxes for $8 million, a penny boost in gasoline taxes for $20 million and a novel income tax on New Jersey-New York commuters for $50 million.

The commuter tax is designed to capture for New Jersey the $50 million paid to the New York state income tax by New Jersey commuters. It would levy an income tax on the 150,000 New Jerseyans who work in New York and on some 30,000 New Yorkers who have jobs in New Jersey.

Then, at the end of the year, New Jersey would give New York the estimated $10 million it had collected from the New Yorkers in return for about $50 million paid to New York by the New Jersey commuters. New York has a state income tax but New Jersey does not.

JFK's Going to Cape

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —President Kennedy may spend at least one day at his summer home here this weekend.

Unofficial sources said today the President and Mrs. Kennedy may spend Sunday and possibly Saturday at their 14-room summer home.

No Press Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will not hold a news conference this week.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House news secretary, said Monday that Kennedy feels he must devote most of his time preparing for his trip to Paris, Vienna and London. He leaves next Wednesday.

HERE'S ONE ICE CREAM THAT'S NOT FULL OF COLD AIR

Ever notice how some ice cream, especially when it's pretty well melted, seems to be all foamy and frothy-looking? That's the air coming out.

But in the old days, ice cream had some body to it—a good substantial texture so smooth you could see it tasted wonderful. We know, because we were making Dolly Madison ice cream in the old days.

Now our point is simply that we're still making Dolly Madison ice cream. It still has real body, fine texture, true taste. There's the rub. For it means we must charge more than the ordinary. But you get more deep flavor—more ice cream, in fact!

To prove it (until June 30), find the coupon described below and take it around to your nearest Foremost or Dolly Madison dealer. He'll then give you a special "try and see" price on a half gallon. You'll enjoy getting back to the kind of product that made ice cream so famous. Fair enough?

Ghana Statesman Is Speaker at Model UN Session

Africa and its problems became the focus of most students attention Saturday at the Model United Nations at Saugerties High School. Fifteen schools and over 250 students grappled with international politics as representatives of 86 of the 99 UN members. Late cancellations prevented seating representatives for all 99.

Principal speaker Paul Baddoo of China pointedly reminded the assemblage that the United States was the first colony to throw aside the shackles of imperialism. In referring to our heritage he suggested an African parallel, for as the U. S. had sought isolation in the 19th century so Africa seeks neutralism in the 20th. He said Africa too faces "New Frontiers" and they must meet them now. He asked for the American hand of friendship and guidance but no direction. He indicated that time heals wounds of two centuries of oppression and discrimination brought about under rulers and foreign dominion. Past masters can become friends and are accepted as such when they renounce illegitimate goals. He cited England and her relationship with the former American colonies. He did not reassure his listeners that Africa must necessarily reject the overtures of aggressive Communion although his hearing and speech content left little doubt that educated Africans at least in Ghana were not blinded by red stars and promises.

A second highlight of the day was the simultaneous translation of speeches from foreign to English languages. Marcia Farhat, an exchange student from Brazil at Whitesboro, addressed the assembly on Latin-American reactions to American proposals for aid and friendship in Portuguese. Her speech was translated by Jane Malecki of Utica. Lee Sillen, Arlington, presented the Russian views on admitting China in Russian and was followed by Joseph Curran, Arlington, as translator. Miss Jane Markowsky, Saugerties, representing Lebanon replied in Russian which was translated by Frank Mauro Saugerties. She repeated her linquistic juggling on the Mauritania question by speaking in French with Mauro again translating.

Trophies for outstanding statesmanship were awarded in each of the six agencies. Joseph Curran (Russia) of Arlington received the General Assembly award despite the unpopularity of his proposals. Craig Coelan (Russia) of Arlington received the award in the Economic and Social Council. Richard Williamson (United States-Jeffersonville) received the Security Council award. Albert Fasoldt (Italy-Columbia High School) received the acclaim in the Trusteeship Council and the Disarmament accolade was won by Bruce Oppenheimer (United Kingdom-Poughkeepsie). Saugerties Chief Justice of the World Court Wayne Abbott (Norway) received the World Court award.

Sean Murray of Aquinas representing Ireland presided over the General Assembly. National representatives served as presiding officers in the principal model agencies of the U. N. counterparts. Robert Francello, president of the Saugerties Forensic Forum, directed a secretariat composed of Ronald Smith, Jack Wilde, Fred Sandner, and Pamela LaPlante. Malcolm Bump assisted by Paul Whiting, local coaches, were coordinators. Visiting coaches acted as scorers.

Art arrangements for the session were handled by Karen Fous, Patricia Breen, and Joan Thornton. Reservations were accepted by Patricia Mayone and Virginia Roeser. Hostesses were Susan Schirmer and Marlene Carpino. Robert Herb was chief security officer handling arrangements, demonstrations, and pages.

SHARON JEAN STAHL, 14 year old accordionist and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stahl of High Woods, Saugerties, who will appear on Teenage Barn, Schenectady television program, on Friday. A pupil of Roger Baer's, Miss Stahl has appeared locally for many shows and benefits.

Martello Heads St. Mary's P-TA

Other officers elected to serve for the coming year were Kenneth Blundell, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Buser, secretary; Donald Beckert, treasurer. Mrs. Joseph DiDomenico was appointed as a member of the board of directors for a three year term.

The nominating committee consisted of Edward Altenau, William Garzione and Mrs. Jinor Pesce, and the slate of officers presented by them was approved without opposition.

In other business during the meeting Mrs. Ann Karashay asked if parents were interested in sending their children to St. Philomena's day camp this summer. Information concerning this will be announced at a later date.

The Rev. Joseph Hamilton announced that parents of eighth grade students would meet tonight 8 o'clock at the school to discuss the graduation party. He requested that one parent of each child should attend.

Appreciation was extended to the P-TA for its donations to the CYO, books to the school and diplomas to the eighth grade.

Refreshments were served by the third grade mothers, Mrs. Phillip Breithaupt, chairman, and Mrs. Raymond Christiana and Mrs. Daniel Sheehan.

Rebekah Lodge Notes

The installation staff of the Queen of Catskill Mountain Rebekah Lodge 36, and members from the Ulster Lodge 34, will attend the meeting June 1 at the Olive Bridge Lodge.

Mrs. Virginia Sampson of the Olive Bridge Lodge, will be installed as Deputy President for the coming year. Although some members of Lodge 36 will attend the ceremonies, others will attend the regular meeting at the lodge hall at 8 p. m.

The Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs are now sponsoring a program to help retarded children and a check has been sent to the Grand Lodge Home for this cause.

A pilgrimage will be held at the Grand Lodge Home at Ithaca, June 3, when a bazaar and chicken barbecue is featured to raise money for the infirmary.

Food Sale Saturday

The Thonda Theta Rho Girls Club, 26, are making plans for a food sale Saturday, beginning at 10 a. m. at Cousin's Appliance Store Woodstock. Money raised on this project will be used towards expenses for the girls' rally in Rome, Oct. 7 and 8.

Area Notes

Douglas Chaney, who will be seven years old May 25, celebrated his birthday Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Chaney, Kalina Drive. Guests included Betty Ann Dean, Coy Henderson, Monica Young, Denise Fowler, Barbara Jo Hands, Laurie Evans, Kenny House, Gary Schnell, Barbara Mecionis, Richard Newcomb, Kathy Dobbin, Bruce Pyle and Douglas' sister Pamela.

Honored at Party

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lachmann were given a surprise farewell party on Saturday evening by their neighbors on Spaulding Lane at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgenson. Mr. and Mrs. Lachmann will be moving in June to a home they recently purchased on Route 9-W, Barclay Heights not far from their present residence. All the neighbors on the street contributed to the gala evening affair, which included a buffet supper, and a specially decorted cake made by Ralph Lachmann. The feted couple were presented with a chaise lounge, and two pieces of crystal as a token of remembrance from their Spaulding Lane friends.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warnecke, Mrs. Lachmann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lachmann, Mr. and Mrs. Terrance Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Modjeska, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Vladimir Chlud, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schoen, Mr. and Mrs. George Jorgenson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Decker, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Ricketson, Mr. and Mrs. Silas VanEtten, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arold, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zielman, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Schaff and Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgenson. Unable to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Frazier and Mr. and Mrs. Vladimir H. Chlud.

Personals

Francis Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer of West Bridge Street, is a patient at the Kingston hospital, where he underwent a cataract operation on his eye, Thursday. He is a fifth grade student at St. Mary's of the Snow School, Saugerties. He is expected to be a patient there for at least ten days.

Frank Hommel of Mt. Airy, assessor for the Town of Saugerties, is in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ross and daughters, Jessica and Alice of Chappaqua, Westchester spent the weekend with Mrs. Ross' mother, Mrs. Anna Cawein of Malden-on-Hudson.

Minister's Son Receives Award

RICHARD W. COWEN

A Pennsylvania newspaperman, Richard Walter Cowen, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Cowen of Saugerties, is one of 15 journalists from 13 eastern states named to receive awards for excellence in reporting on public affairs.

The selection was made by the American Political Science Association which makes awards under grants from the Ford Foundation. Along with the others selected Cowen will receive a plaque and be guest at a seminar of political scientists, newspapermen and public officials on June 11-17 at Buck Hill Falls, Pa. The 15 were chosen from a group of 65.

Cowen's award was for a 12-part series on tax collecting in Lehigh Valley, Pa., which appeared in the Allentown Morning Call Nov. 28 through Dec. 10. As a result, many of the municipalities which the series included have been reappraising their collection systems with a eye to increasing efficiency and reducing costs.

Newspapermen from 12 northeastern states and the District of Columbia were eligible for the competition, with preference given those under 40. The awards were for the 12 best articles or series of articles on any phase of state or local government or politics published in any newspaper in the eligible states.

Cowen, whose father is pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties, in 1959 was made a fellow of the National Religious Publicity Council for outstanding reporting on religion the previous year. He also won, in 1959, a first award from the Middle Atlantic District of American Newspaper Guild for a series on the Negro in Lehigh Valley, Pa.

He has won two honorable mentions and one second place in annual competitions sponsored by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

Civil Service Exam

The Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, U.S. Naval Training Device Center, Sands Point, Port Washington, L. I., announced a continuously open competitive examination for Training Specialist GS-11, $7,560 a year and GS-12, $8,955 a year. Experience is required in technical training programs concerned with complex technical equipments which are parts of major weapons systems. No written test is required. The nature of the required experience and/or education is set forth in detail in the announcement, which should be reviewed carefully before submitting an application. Kozlov, Close K Aide, Is Ailing, Soviet Won't Say

MOSCOW (AP)—Rumors circulated in the diplomatic colony today that Frol Kozlov, one of Premier Khrushchev's close associates, is seriously ill with heart trouble.

Asked about the rumors, a spokesman for the Soviet Foreign Ministry said, "We know nothing about any illness."

Kozlov, a secretary of the Communist party's Central Committee who has occasionally been mentioned as a possible successor to Khrushchev, was last seen in public April 17, when he attended a "Freedom for Africa" reception and a dinner for Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos.

Po'keepsie GOP Will Elect New Leader Thursday

Election of a chairman of the Poughkeepsie City Republican committee will take place at a meeting of the group Thursday, when William V. Welch, incumbent chairman, expects to resign after 14 years of service.

It was reported Monday that Robert E. Stevens, a member of the Dutchess County Board of Elections and former mayor of Poughkeepsie, is winning support of the committee members to succeed Welch.

Election of the committee chairman is slated for the Thursday night session at the County Courthouse at 7:30 p. m.

Youngsters Still Like Their Comics In Papers: Survey

NEW YORK (AP)—There is no evidence that newspaper comics and television are competitive for the attention of children, says a research professor of journalism at Boston University.

Dr. David Manning White told the National Newspaper Promotion Association Monday that studies show kids who watch a lot of TV also read the comics.

White heads a team making a three-year study of effects of comics on American culture.

He was backed in his opinion by E. T. McClanahan, promotion director of the Denver Post, who said a survey in his city of children 8-12 years old showed wide readership of comics among children who watch TV for an hour or more every day.

McClanahan said the survey "seems to refute the theory that television has a strangehold on our children."

Jaycees to Hold Auction June 3

The sale will start at 10 a. m. and continue until all items are disposed of, Jaycee officials report.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to defray expenses of the Jaycee convention committee which will attend the national convention in Atlanta, Ga.

Residents having articles for the sale are requested to contact Robert Stedge or any member of the Jaycee organization.

Marlboro Teacher Attends Conference

Mrs. Thelma L. Loth, head of the Commercial Department of Marlboro Central high school attended a conference for Business Teachers Wednesday, May 17, at the Gidney Avenue Memorial School, Newburgh.

The conference was under direction of Hunting Sherrill of the Bureau of Business Distributive Education of the State of New York.

Sherrill said the importance of close relations between the Commercial and Guidance Departments of each high school in preparing students for their future vocation. He also suggested that college entrance students enlarge their programs to incorporate a business sequence in their course. Thus, students would have a vocational skill to use for part time or full time work as soon as he completes his high school education.

Fines Totaling $690 Paid in Traffic Court

The disposition of 55 traffic cases last week heard by Saugerties Town Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers resulted in the payment of $690 in fines.

Of the 55 traffic violations, 38 were for speeding on the Thruway with a total of $510 in fines. Sixteen other violations resulted in the payment of $170 in fines.

Five cases resulting from a roadblock by Kingston state police were disposed of with the payment of $35 in fines. One was for speeding, three for failure to keep right and one for driving without inspection certificate.

Firemen Critical Of Boston Shrine

BOSTON (AP)—Is Faneuil Hall, historical "cradle of liberty" a fire trap? The National Fire Protection Association said the 219-year-old meeting hall of colonial times has inadequate entrances and exits, narrow staircases, no sprinkler system, an undesirable quality of electrical wiring and a trash fire hazard exists on the first floor and basement.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Missy is back on the movie stages, and she has been missed.

As every Hollywood worker knows, Missy is the nickname for Barbara Stanwyck, who evokes an almost fanatical following among her fellow laborers in the movie mills. The reason is not only that she is a pro. She is also "one of the boys."

She laughs, kids and swears with the crew. They swear by her. So does the rest of the cast. She is a refreshing throwback to an era of professionalism.

Where has she been? She just finished a season in the TV jungles and won an Emmy for it. Before that, she admits she waited for the producers to call her. "Forty Guns" was her last film, and that was in 1957.

Producer Charles K. Feldman called her for a role in "A Walk On the Wild Side."

"I'm playing a madam in the picture," she grinned. "Chalk up another first for Stanwyck."

The actress was sitting on the set, her feet propped up on the makeup table while her frankly gray hair was being prepared for the scene. She makes no secret of her age, which is 53. Nor does she conceal her eagerness to work.

"I'm always at my best when I'm on a picture," she said as she climbed a long flight of stairs to the set. "I wouldn't know what to do with myself if I wasn't working."

Miss Stanwyck's Emmy win last week had a touch of irony. She won't be back next season in the medium that supplied her first major award. She never made it with Oscar, though she was nominated four times.

Saugerties Police Warn Residents of Salesman

Saugerties Village Police today cautioned residents about magazine salesmen who say they are selling subscriptions for the benefit of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Sgt. Harold Mills said he had been advised by Robert Thein, commander of Saugerties Memorial Post, VFW that no one has been authorized to sell magazines for the VFW.

Several residents on Lighthouse Drive complained to police that a magazine salesman was canvassing the area claiming to represent the VFW.

Barger Fans 11 in Alpine's 13 to 6 Win Over Armstrong's

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

• Batting the Breeze:

Gene Massa, the former Kingston High All-DUSO backfield star and kicking ace, is being thwarted at every turn trying to get a professional football tryout. Several contacts made by local friends have failed to bring results. Barring a late development, it appears the rugged Kingston youngster is doomed to complete his football career as a semi-pro.

In addition to his lack of college background, there are other technicalities blocking Massa's efforts to get recognition. It's a sordid story but everything that could conceivably be done has been done for Gene and he still finds himself on the outside looking in.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Richard Strong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Strong of Kingston, was recently awarded a Varsity "S" in basketball at Springfield College. . . The football field at the new high school in Port Jervis will be named Al Chase Field, a fitting tribute to the late Alvin E. Chase, athletic director, the first of the DUSO's famed "Big Five" to make his earthly exit. . . New York State Women's Bowling Association officials on their recent visit to Kingston firmly supported a handicap basis of no more than 2/3. The prevailing rate in Kingston is 80 per cent and there is little likelihood it can be changed. . . Jones Dairy of Kingston picked up $100 for a 2878 score at the Jenny Bowling Contest finals at Olympic Bowl in Rochester. Paulines of Delmar won first prize of $1,000 with a 3071 series. The professional Jenny 5 rolled 2998, finishing third in the field. . . Syracuse University, the upstate football foundry, has 1961 home games with West Virginia, Holy Cross, Pittsburgh, Colgate. Six road games include a Nov. 18 test against Notre Dame at South Bend. Also to be played on the road are Oregon State, Maryland, Nebraska, Penn State and Boston College. . . Hardly a powder puff schedule.

• Customers Always Write:

A. J. B., who asked that his name be withheld charged that publicity prior to the Kingston Braves, opening workout on May 14 was a farce and a delusion. "I'd like to know who was picked from the mid-Hudson area on May 14. Better yet, I didn't see any tryouts," says A. J. B. "All I could see was Davi having batting practice for an already organized team most of whom were wearing Brave uniforms. The only action was a handful of local boys retrieving balls. The only visible change in Davi's 'wide open roster' was a pitcher from the Haverstraw ball club and a catcher who is working in this area until September. What's become of the enthusiasm of mid-Hudson area ball players? At this rate the beautiful Dietz Memorial stadium will once more be sparcely seated throughout the baseball season." So said Mr. A. J. B. As to whatever became of the enthusiasm among mid-Hudson players, he knows as well as the next person. We feel that Fred Davi is sincere in his desire to put qualified local players on the NY-NJ roster. But, if any local player was shut out of a tryout we'd like to know about that, too.

• Of Men and Mice:

Henry (Sonny) Barnes of Kingston has received a check from the Louis A. Wehle Fishing Contest for second place in the brown trout division. The award is for the month of April. Barnes' 10-lb. 4 oz., 31-inch brown was taken from the Ashokan reservoir on Saturday, April 15. His entry is also eligible for the annual grand award made upon completion of the trout season. . . Bill Ebel of New York city is looking for someone to sponsor a local professional boxing card featuring his new lightweight sensation, Ray "Sonny Boy" Schlamp, who was born in Rifton, Schlamp, of German-Polish-American stock, engaged in 16 amateur fights, winning them all, 11 by kayoes. He won the Metropolitan AAU Lightweight crown by scoring five one-round knockouts. He is a babyfaced lad, who is still a student at DeWitt Clinton High School in New York.

• Slider Sometimes Slides:

You've heard it a dozen times, pitchers blessing the name of a pitch called the "slider" and raving how it made a new man of them. But Chuck Dressen, the Milwaukee Braves' manager, a rather outspoken gentlemen, buys none of it. After watching his Braves mauled four straight by enemy homers, says the Sporting News, Dressen moaned: "The slider is the most overrated pitch there is. It slides over the plate, then it slides out of the park." Apparently what the Braves' sliders need is more slide.

Canosa Slams Homer, 5 RBIs

Dave Barger fanned 11 batters and Mike Canosa knocked in five runs with a home run and single, as Alpine knocked off Armstrong's, 13 to 6, in the City Softball League.

Augie Passente had two doubles among the 11 Alpine hits off Bill Costello. J. Armstrong homered and Johnny Armstrong had a double for the losers.

Chez Emile downed Red Hook, 13-8, in a slugfest in which Ronnie Scheffel slammed a single, double and home run, George Glaser stroked a single, double and triple. Don Hobart homered for the winners. G. Kilgour of Red Hook had 4 for 5, including three singles and a home run and J. Kilgour tripled. Carpino was the winning pitcher and Don Moul took the loss.

Hurls 5-Hitter

Mike Boyle continued his brilliant pitching for Anchorage Rest, unfurling a 5-hitter in a 10-1 triumph over Bob Lasher and Subway Grill. The Anchorage collected 11 hits off Lasher and Vince Peck, all singles, and Rod Whittaker and Don Moyer slugged three each and Roy Casella had two.

A five-run fourth inning catapulted Nadler Motors to an 8-5 win over Yallum's Kings, who had won two straight. Steve Leoce survived a 12-hit barrage to gain the decision over Joe Amato.

Hank Benicase of Nadlers slammed a double and two singles in four at bats. John Crespino matched the performance for Yallum's and Fred Orr tripled for Nadlers.

ALTERNATE STEWARD—Monticello Raceway's president Franklin E. Devlin, a steward of the grand circuit, is shown inducting Sidney Sussman, Monticello Raceway's chairman, as an alternate steward of the 88-year-old big league of harness racing. Looking on are directors Milton Kutsher and Paul G. Gillian. Grand circuit racing comes to Monticello for one week, beginning July 17. (Thompson-Kagen photo).

Top PGA Personality

Name John Budd New Golf Pro At Shawangunk Country Club

Endicott Veteran Succeeds De Stefano

John Budd of Endicott, a member of the Professional Golfers Association for 25 years, has assumed duties as professional at the Shawangunk Country Club at Ellenville, Robert Stapleton, president, announced.

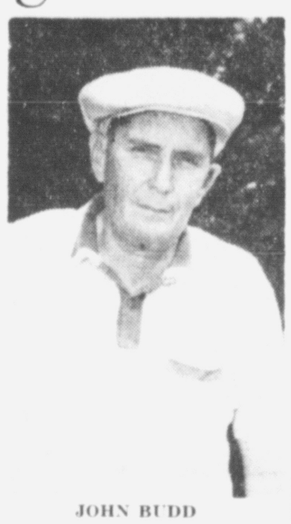

Budd, who comes to Shawangunk after 16 years at En-Joie Golf Club at Endicott, succeeds Ralph De Stefano, of Poughkeepsie, who resigned.

One of the PGA's best known personalities, Budd was named Central New York PGA Golf Professional of the Year in 1958. He is also well known for his speeches and articles on golf and is now preparing a series of 25 articles on teaching golf for Golf World magazine. His articles have also appeared in Golfdom, National Golfer, Golfing, The Golf World and Golf Digest.

The new Shawangunk pro qualified sectionally for six national championships and played in all these events. He qualified for the National Open in 1930 and 1940 and played at Spring Mill in Philadelphia and at Canterbury Golf Club in Cloveland. He was sectional qualifier for the National PGA championship in 1940, 1945, 1948 and 1950. . . .

Budd held the course record for six years at Tallahasseee Country Club and he presently holds the professional record at the En-Joie Club with a 65 played in 1953.

In 1937, he served as vice president of the Southeastern section of the PGA and was secretary-treasurer of that section in 1938-39-40. He represented that section as a delegate to the National meeting of the Association three years. In 1940 he served as first chairman of the National Education Committee of the

PGA and organized the first educational program.

In Executive Posts

When Budd went to New Jersey, he was honored by being selected as secretary-treasurer of that section. He served in that capacity for four years, 1941-44, and during that time also served as delegate from New Jersey to the annual meetings of th PGA.

He served as national vice president for District 2, which is made up of Philadelphia, Metropolitan and New Jersey sections for the years, 1943-44. Upon moving to his Endicott post, Budd became secretary-treasurer of the Central New York section and held that position from 1947 to 1955. He was again elected in October, 1960.

Budd has held several important committee chairmanships in the PGA, including the Informal Delegates Meeting, Educational Committee, the Industrial Golf Committee, the Sectional Affairs Committee and others. He was a director of the PGA Foundation for Education and Relief, and as a member of the Emblem Specifications Committee, he served as president of the Central New York Section for 1957 and 1958. He is a lecturer on the staff of the National PGA.

A native of Milville, Missouri, Budd is a graduate of Emory University of Atlanta, Ga. He made his debut as a golf professional at the Dotham Country Club at Tallahassee, Fla. where he remained for seven years. In 1941, he was named professional at the White Beeches Country Club at Haworth, N. J. and after two years moved to the larger Hackensack Golf Club of Oradell, N. J. He left the Hackensack club in 145 to take over the duties as professional and manager of complete operations of the En-Joie Golf Club at Endicott. This club is owned and operated by the Endicott Johnson Corporation.

Top Golf Teacher

Budd is recognized as a top golf teacher, organizer and public relations expert. Recognition of these qualities has gained him a regular panel speaking berth on the faculty of the National PGA Business School at Clearwater, Fla.

He is a graduate of the National Boy Scout Executives Training School of New York. He is a member of the Methodist Church, the Endicott Rotary Club and the PGA. His hobbies are public speaking, hunting, fishing and writing on golf and related subjects. He is a property owner in New Port Richey, Fla. and Endicott. Budd is married to the former Flora Cook and they have one daughter, 15.

Tommy's Restaurant Tavern Assn. Champs

Name Richards All-Star Pilot

BOSTON (AP) — Surprised but pleased Paul Richards will make his debut in the All-Star baseball games — as American League manager.

Richards was named Monday by American League President Joe Cronin as pilot for the two games, July 11 at San Francisco and July 31 here.

Richards had never made an All-Star appearance.

Richards, named the AL manager-of-the-year when he directed Baltimore to a second place finish in 1960, commented in New York:

"I feel it is a great hnonor with grave responsibility which is generally recognized. The games mean a lot to all the players and we shall do our best to try to win.

"I am surprised I got the job. I thought it would go to Ralph Houk. But it is not for me to reason why. . . ."

Richards' selection marks only the third time since the late Connie Mack led the junior circuit players into the 1933 All-Star inaugural that the previous year's pennant winning manager has not automatically directed the team.

Cronin said the retirement of Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees last year, necessitated the action. Cronin added that both Stengel and his successor, Houk, had been considered before Richards was picked.

The American League starters, except for the pitchers, will be chosen on the vote of all active AL players, managers and coaches [illegible] of the squad including the pitchers and two coaches.

Newburgh Tops KHS in Tennis

Second place Newburgh Academy blanked third place Kingston High, 5-0, in a DUSO League tennis match.

The Goldbacks, who trail the Poughkeepsie Pioneers for the DUSO League, dropped only two sets in sweeping three singles and two doubles.

Pete Roberts, in No. 2 singles and Bob Reardon, No. 3 singles, were the Maroon set winners.

Coach Jack Gilligan's squad closes out the 1961 season Thursday at Ellenville.

Singles

John Sileno, N, defeated Jeff Moak, K, 6-2, 6-2.

Carl Exelrod, N, defeated Pete Roberts, K, 2-6, 6-4, 6-0.

Andy Dinitto, N, defeated Bob Reardon, K, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Reports Differ On Carry Back

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily News said today that Carry Back, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, "was injured in shipment between Pimlico and Garden State and is a doubtful starter in the Belmont Stakes."

In Camden, N.J., however, site of Garden State Park, Jack Price, trainer of Carry Back, said the 3-year-old colt shipped in excellent shape from the Pimlico track in Baltimore.

("I've got about 15 calls about whether he's been hurt," Price said. "Where do these things start?")

The News said that Carry Back, expected to be the first 3-year-old since Citation in 1948 to win racing's triple crown, "is believed to have suffered an injury to the big cannon bone of one back leg."

On Third Try

Avery Scores First Feature Victory at Onteora Speedway

Don Avery, the West Shokan Whiz who was getting pretty tired of it all, shucked his bridesmaid role with a thumping victory in the 25-lap feature Sunday at Onteora Speedway.

Avery grabbed the lead on the 12th lap and stayed in front the rest of the way to capture his first victory of the season. The 1961 champion had chased Rebel Harris of Poughkeepsie and Johnny Flach of South Westerlo across the wire in previous outings.

This time Avery had to fight off a strong challenge from Harris and Ernie Beesmer of Olive Bridge, who projected himself into the limelight for the first time.

Beesmer, a provincial favorite who lives within the flag-draped shadows of the track, led the first six laps, and gave way to Harris. Harris took the lead for the next five laps, but on came Avery to power his "white 16" ahead of the field on the 12th lap.

Harris finished third as Doug Garrison of Hudson sneaked ahead of him to take second place. Beesmer, by the time the checkered flag had been flaunted, was in fourth place. And, another capacity crowd was on its collective feet showering Avery with neighborhood praise as he drove the victory lap. Walt Schubert of Cold Spring finished fifth.

Avery had an inkling it was "his afternoon" when he scored a half-length victory to outpoint Don Cronk in his first outing of the afternoon. It was a sizzling victory as he also outpointed Pete Keator of Kerhonkson. Keator was third, Beesmer fourth, and Ruby's Bill Scheffel fifth.

Harry Brazee of Torrington, Conn., grabbed the bauble in the first 10-lap head, heading home in front of Willard Martin of Hillsdale Lake and Bill Rathberg of Kerhonkson. Bob Hinckley of Accord was fourth and Dean Alexander of Glenford, fifth.

The Big Moment

Harris had his biggest moments in the third heat when he scored a victory over Garrison. Bob Schreiner of Poestenkill was third; Ray Anderson, fourth, and Walt Schubert of Cold Spring, fifth.

Jim Brate of Clarksville captured the victory in the 10-lap consolation, followed by Ray Chapman, Skip Waterfall, Bob Brennan and Gill Avery.

Onteora will present a thrilling midget auto racing program on Memorial Day at 3 p. m. when the top drivers of the Northeastern Midget Assoc. will speed around the Olive Bridge track.

The summaries:

First Heat — 10 laps — Harry Brazee, Willard Martin, Bill Rathberg, Bob Hinkley, Dean Alexander.

Second Heat — 10 laps — Don Avery, Don Cronk, Pete Keator, Ernie Beesmer, Bill Scheffel.

Third Heat — 10 laps — Steve "Rebel" Harris, Doug Garrison, Bob Schreiner, Ray Anderson, Walt Schubert.

Consolation — 10 laps — Jim Brate, Ray Chapman, Skip Waterfall, Bob Brennan, Gill Avery.

Basketball Scandal

De-Emphasis Starts In Carolina Colleges

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A long series of basketball troubles at the University of North Carolina and N.C. State College culminated Monday in a dramatic program of athletic de-emphasis decreed by the administration and trustees.

Involvement of players from both schools in the basketball gambling scandal was the spur for the action.

The man credited with oringing big-time collegiate basketball to the Tar Heel state, veteran coach Everett Case of N.C. State, reacted philosophically.

"We must remember, these men are running, first of all, educational institutions. This thing was starting to run away with itself. An evil influence was getting into the game," Case said.

In announcing the de-emphasis to the consolidated University of North Carolina's 100 trustees, President William Friday, explained, "Our aim is to save athletics."

With but three or four exceptions, the trustees stood up to signify approval of the program that:

1. Kills the 12-year-old Dixie Classic basketball tournament sponsored by N.C. State College and matching State, UNC, Duke and Wake Forest against four top intersectional teams.

2 Limits UNC and state basketball competition to the 14 conference games required by the Atlantic Coast Conference, participation in the ACC tournament, participation in the NCAA tournament and only two non-conference games.

3. Curtails player recruiting by allowing only two athletic grants-in-aid a year to basketball prospects outside the ACC states of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Friday said the same principle would apply to football.

4. Bars basketball players from participating in organized competition during the summer months.

The Dixie Classic had hardly been killed, however, before there were hints of rebirth. Wake Forest Athletic Director Bill Gibson said Monday night that since Colgate, Illinois, Tulane and Stanford had been scheduled to participate, Wake Forest and Duke would talk about staging the Classic in another city, possibly Winston-Salem, Greensboro or Charlotte.

N.C. State Athletic Director Roy Clogston said he would have no objections, but couldn't "be a part to encouraging it."

Two players from North Carolina, reserve Lou Brown and star Doug Moe, were implicated in the game-fixing scandal being investigated by the New York district attorney's office. Charges of accepting bribes to shave points for gamblers have been brought in Carolina against three N.C. State players: captain Stan Niewierowski, Anton (Dutch) Muehlbauer and Terry Litchfield.

The gambling scandals followed player recruiting violations of recent years which resulted in the NCAA placing State on probation for four years and North Carolina for one.

Stanley Dancer Stable Due At 'Mighty M' First Time

MONTICELLO — The famed blue and gold colors of the Stanley Dancer stable will be seen on a regular basis for the first time at Monticello Raceway when the Catskill Mountain track opens its summer meeting on June 15.

Dancer is expected to ship 20 horses to Monticello in time for opening night.

Jack Adams, Stanley's first assistant trainer, will be in charge and handle the training and the bulk of the driving.

However, Dancer has indicated he will take more turns in the sulky at the Mighty M than in the past.

Al Burton, a New Jersey neighbor of Dancer; Levi Harner and Austin (Ned) Galentine are other big-name drivers who will check in with full stables in time for the inaugural.

Galentine and Harner are no newcomers to Monticello, but Burton is. In the past, Burton has campaigned almost exclusively at the Metropolitan ovals.

Had Good Season

A resident of Columbus, N. J., Burton's stable banked a commendable $90,141 in 1960 against the stiffest competition.

Harner, of course, is best known as the trainer for Free-For-All pacer Tar Boy. Monticello racegoers remember the powerful duel Tar Boy put up against Adois Butler last year in a special match race at MR which gained nationwide attention.

Always among the top drivers, Harner is a veteran of more than 20 years in the racing business. He works for upstater Ted Zornow and in '60, Harner's mounts earned an eye-popping $226,608.

Galentine raced for half the season during Monticello's premier meet in '58 and was one of the leading drivers. He skipped the past two summers to campaign mostly in Canada.

Galentine drives for his father-in-law, Henry Clukey, of Harrington, Del. His stable made $64,928 last year.

Monticello has added 57 new stalls to boost its total to 612 Horses are arriving daily and stall space is filling up rapidly with little more than two weeks before the opening program.

Springfield Giants Boost Lead to Three

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's much to be said about the streaking Springfield Giants, including the fact they've proven so far they've got the strongest bullpen in the Eastern League.

Add to this their talented starting pitching staff and it's easy to see why the Giants have pushed their EL lead to three full games over second-place Binghamton.

Hen Bracey was the man-of-the-hour Monday night, coming on in the seventh inning to preserve a 7-4 victory for Roger Sinner over Lancaster.

Steltz Hits Three Home Runs

Roger Steltz pounded three home runs, one a grand slammer, and a double in four times at bat to pace the Glasco-East Kingston Little League Dodgers to a 20-5 victory over the Yankees.

It was a historic win for the Dodgers who had not won a single game during the 1960 season. Ciarlante contributed a home run and Gorsline, the winning pitcher, fanned 12.

When the Dodgers got around to winning they did it wth a vengeance. They dented the Light Aggregate home plate in five straight innngs in telephone number fashion—4-2-6-3-5-0.

Grosline, meanwhile, overcame a shaky start and pitched 4-hit ball didn't yield a run over the last three innings. C. Legregnie hit two singles for the Dodgers. Jack Watzka doubled for the Yankees.

Chick Fans 14

Julius Chick of the Giants allowed only 2 hits and struck out 14 to gain a 7-2 decision over G. Falcon and the Braves. The Giants flinger pitched shutout ball after the first inning and led his team's hitters with a single and home run. Henry Rua contributed a double among the five Giants safeties. C. Misasi and Falcon accounted for the Braves hits.

The scores:

Jays Rap Eagles In Jaycees, 12-8

The Jays and the Eagles produced 20 runs on 15 hits and 13 walks in the Jaycee Little League yesterday, the Jays winning, 12-8, with a steady flurry of scoring.

A six-run barrage rocked starter Bob Buchanan of the Eagles in the second inning and by the end of the fourth the Jays led, 10-0. Then it was the Eagles' turn with a 7-run explosion in the fifth and the summary removal of Joe Ingarra, the Jays' starter. Andy Murphy saved Ingarra's victory, but Buchanan was charged with th loss. Mike Hawkins relieved Buchanan in the second inning.

Ed Argulewicz had a perfect "3 for 3" stint for the Jays, including a single, double and homer, the latter a 3-run blast in the second inning. John Denter homered for the Eagles. Gary Snyder hit a double and single and Hawkins and Ken Sayles had two baggers.

Player, Palmer 1-2 in Earnings

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player and Arnold Palmer, who have dominated the field of touring golfers, kept up a torrid pace this week in competition for money winning honors of 1961.

Player, 25-year-old South African, holds an $8,869 edge over Palmer. But the margin appeared to be anything but safe. Palmer, leading money winner of 1960, could catch up with strong finishes in the coming weeks.

Figures released by PGA headquarters put Player's official winnings at $48,954 in 17 tournaments. Palmer, competing in 15 events, has pocketed $40,085. Each has finished among the top five entries in eight tournaments.

Doug Sanders is in third place with $29,503. Then come Tommy Bolt, $19,991; and Jay Hebert, $18,725.

American Little League Sends Distress Signal

Officials of the American Little League have made a dramatic appeal to parents and interested persons to participate in a general cleanup of the Manor Avenue diamond on Wednesday and Thursday at 6 p. m.

Those participating in the cleanup are requested to bring rakes and paint brushes.

A spokesman for the league, expressing bitter reaction to parental apathy toward the league, said:

"The lack of interest on the part of the parents seems to be getting worse each year. The officers of the league wanted to have an opening day ceremony such as last year, but without the help and cooperation of the parents this is impossible this year. The least some of these people can do is help clean up the field and get it in shape for the opening game on June 5."

Dodgers Take Fifth Straight Tigers Rap Athletics, 10-2

Hold 3½ Game Lead Over 2nd Place Indians

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

First place Detroit walloped Kansas City 10-2 Monday night and retained a 3½-game lead in the American League race over Cleveland. The Indians defeated Minnesota 7-5 in 15 innings, and the third place New York, retired in order for five innings by Jack Fisher, beat Baltimore 8-2. Boston defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 and the Los Angeles Angels beat Washington 6-4.

Clete Boyer broke up the perfect game by Fisher (1-5) with a leadoff single in the sixth inning for the Yankees and came around with an unearned run for a 1-1 tie. Boyer also hit a three-run homer in the eighth—with all the runs unearned—off Fisher, who finished with a five-hitter.

The Yankees, with Jim Coates (4-2) winning it in relief of Art Ditmar, put it away in a four-run seventh. Two walks and a single by Yogi Berra broke the tie, and the clinching run came home when second base umpire Larry Napp ruled second baseman Marv Breeding had trapped a liner by Elston Howard. After the Orioles gave up their argument that Breeding had caught the ball, Tony Kubek capped the inning with a two-run, two-out single.

The Tigers came from behind on a tying, solo homer by Norm Cash in the fourth inning, then flattened the A's with six runs in the fifth off Norm Bass (2-2). Right-hander Phil Regan (5-0) allowed just five hits, one a pinch homer by Don Larsen.

Cleveland Streaking

Cleveland, 4-0 in extra-inning games, made it six straight on Willie Kirkland's tie-breaking single in the 15th off losing reliever Ted Sadowski and eight innings of two-hit, shutout relief by Frank Funk (5-2). A pair of two-run homers by Woody Held overhauled a 5-1 lead by the Twins.

Bill Monbouquette put away only his third victory in seven decisions for Boston, but reduced his earned run average to 1.93 for 60 2-3 innings while beating the White Sox with a seven-hitter. Frank Baumann (2-3) was the loser, giving up a walk and singles by Carl Yastrzemski, Jim Pagliaroni and Frank Malzone as the Red Sox broke a 1-1 tie in a three-run fourth.

The Angels cut down one Washington runner at the plate in the eighth and escaped another score when rookie Chuck Hinton left third base too soon on Jim King's apparent sacrifice fly in the Senators' seventh. Los Angeles made the deciding run on a squeeze bunt by winner Eli Grba (4-4) in the sixth. Pete Burnside (2-2) was the loser.

Major League Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching—Frank Funk, Indians, won his fifth with eight innings of two-hit, shutout relief, walking just two and striking out seven in 7-5, 15-inning victory over Twins.

Hitting — Dick Groat, Pirates, broke 1-1 tie with eighth-inning home run, his first of year, for 2-1 victory over Braves.

Stan Williams Tops Reds, 2-1 In 10 Innings

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers, winning their fifth in a row, beat Cincinnati 2-1 in 10 innings behind the four-hit pitching of Stan Williams Monday night and remained just percentage points shy of first place in the National League race.

San Francisco stayed .014 percentage points ahead with a 3-1 victory at St. Louis. Third-place Pittsburgh, one game behind the Giants, defeated Milwaukee 2-1 in the only other NL game.

Williams, who struck out 11 when he beat the Braves, fanned 8 in this one and walked but 3 while blanking the Reds on two singles after they had tied it 1-all in the first inning.

Get Ten Hits

The Dodgers, winning their eighth in a row on the road, collected 10 hits, but barely pulled it out. Loser Bob Purkey (4-2) gave up a walk to Maury Wills opening the 10th, but after a sacrifice and Willie Davis' single moved him to third, Wills was nailed at the plate trying to score on Wally Moon's infield bouncer. A two-out single by Tommy Davis finally broke it up.

The Giants, after losing three in a row to the Dodgers, bounced back behind Jack Sanford (3-3) at St. Louis, cracking a shutout duel with two runs in the sixth off loser Ernie Broglio (3-5). Two singles, by Chuck Hiller and Harvey Kuenn, and errors by second baseman Alex Grammas and right fielder Joe Cunningham, both on a grounder by Willie Mays, gave the Giants one run. Hobie Landrith's sacrifice fly produced the clincher. Orlando Cepeda closed it out with a home run, his 11th, tops in the NL, in the eighth inning.

Pittsburgh managed just four hits off Bob Buhl (1-4), but one was a tie-breaking home run by Dick Groat in the eighth. It was Groat's first of the year. Harvey Haddix (3-0) was the winner.

Pulled Muscle Benches Roberts

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Veteran hurler Robin Roberts, whose 233 victories are the most ever recorded in the history of the Philadelphia Phillies, today was under treatment for a pulled muscle in his right shoulder.

RCA EDP NEEDS

Computer Programmers

EDP Training Specialists

Computer Systems Specialists

RCA has immediate openings in its fast-growing EDP division for qualified applicants who are ready to accept the challenge of more responsibility in this field. Positions are in the Greater Philadelphia area and openings now exist for the following:

COMPUTER APPLICATIONS

These openings offer a wide range of activity and opportunity to programmers and operations research personnel.

If you are presently working as a programmer in EDP, RCA has requirements for experienced men in:
- Automatic Programming and Service Routines (COBOL)
- Scientific Programming (ALGOL)
- Systems Analysis
- EDP Methods
- Computer Techniques and Simulation
- Operations Research

TRAINING SPECIALISTS

If you have a high interest in computer education and at least 2-3 years experience in machine or assembly language programming, RCA has openings for junior and senior specialists who will be working with large scale digital computers, on both RCA and customer EDP equipment.

Teaching experience is helpful but not necessary. However practical experience in numerical methods and a BS or advanced degree in Math, Physics or engineering is required.

SYSTEMS QUALITY ASSURANCE

RCA requires specialists who are experienced in all phases of large solid state computer systems. These men must be able to assemble, de-bug, engage in marginal testing, conduct performance acceptance tests and supervise final shipping of equipment from RCA's plant site to customer site.

A degree is not required but a minimum of 2-3 years practical field experience is important. All qualified applicants considered regardless of race, creed, color or national origin.

Kingston High's Candidate for Legion Boys State

A 16-year-old Kingston High School Junior, Thomas M. Tierney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tierney of 61 Smith Avenue, will represent Kingston American Legion Post 150 at Boys State which will be held June 25 to July 1.

Tierney is a member of the Kingston High School Choir, Maroon Masquers, and recently directed the Junior Skit. He is also a past member of Student Council and Drama Club. He lists as his interests golfing and swimming. For several years he has been a member of the Colonial Cadets.

His ambition is to study Business Administration possibly at Albany. Tierney was chosen for the honor to attend Boys State by the High School Faculty.

Saigon Gets Planes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The United States handed over six AD6 fight-bomber planes to the South Viet Nam air force today. They were the last shipment of 25 replacement planes, a U.S. Embassy source said.

Mayors Signing Unity Plege to Send to Kennedy

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today that he has joined other mayors in the nation's 50 states in signing a "declaration of unity" in support of President Kennedy's "leadership for world peace."

The declaration, it was noted, was inspired by Mayor Anthony J. Cellebrezze, of Cleveland, and is to be presented as a unity plaque to the president before his departure for France May 31. It says:

"In recognition of the awesome responsibility borne by you as president of the United States in guiding the destiny of our nation in this critical period of world turmoil, we as mayors of the nation pledge to you our full support and encouragement in your quest to preserve freedom and maintain peace with honor.

"We stand with you. The nation stands with you in these days of fateful decision, determined to make whatever sacrifice the cause of freedom may demand.

"May God grant us the wisdom and courage to prevail in the cause of peace with justice for all mankind."

Changes, Demands Threaten Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crackling charges and demands threatened the tractors-for-prisoners trade today from two sides—the U. S. Congress and Fidel Castro.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was faced with angry congressional demands that he say whether the administration approves the private efforts to exchange earthmoving equipment for the freedom of 1,200 Cuban invasion prisoners.

A flurry of heated speeches in which Cuban Prime Minister Castro's proposal for such an exchange was described as a "heinous barter" by an "inhuman monster" kept the Senate in session until early evening Monday.

From Cuba, meanwhile, came word that Castro reportedly threatens to break off the negotiations.

"If the insults of Mr. Kennedy's agents continue with regard to the indemnification Cuba demands," said an official Cuban radio commentator, "then all discussion will be stopped and the mercenaries (prisoners) will have to face the revolutionary tribunals of the Cuban people."

Family Calls Off Try to Recover Body

NAMPA, Idaho (AP)—Efforts to recover the body of a 55-year-old farmer buried last Wednesday in a cave-in 160 feet down a water well shaft have been abandoned.

The family of Herbert A. Tiegs of Nampa said Monday night it did not wish to endanger the lives of anybody else.

Rescue workers, after slow, dangerous digging, found Tiegs Monday night at the 175-foot level. The cave-in pushed him that far down the 22-inch wide shaft.

Special 20-inch steel casing had to be used by rescuers to protect them from further cave-ins.

Tiegs had gone down to continue plastering sides of the shaft when the sides caved in.

The Rosendale-Tillson American Legion Auxiliary Unit 1219 has started its annual magazine drive. Proceeds of the drive are used for loan closet and hospital equipment for the several loan closets available to residents of the county.

All residents are advised to request drive workers to present credentials before purchasing magazines.

Will Chart Future

GENEVA (AP) — The East-West conference on Laos prepared today to chart its future course after a week of opening statements that showed the delegates deeply divided on the way to supervise neutrality in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The conference must now decide whether to (1) split up in study committees, (2) go on debating points at issue in full sessions, or (3) recess until after the June 3 meeting in Vienna of President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Blood Condition Blamed

DETROIT (AP)—The illness of Henry Ford II, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., is from a blood condition.

His physician said Monday that Ford, ill at home since May 11, has infectuous mononucleosis. This was described as a blood condition usually associated with an excess of white corpuscles. Ford was reported responding well to treatment.

Quake Rocks Rhodes

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Rhodes and the neighboring islands of Kos, Carpathos, and Calymnos, were rocked for eight seconds early today by an earthquake of medium strength.

There were no casualties.

Claims Eichmann Top Authority of Jews in Romania

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was described in court today as the supreme authority over the Jews in Romania during World War II, with more power even than the collaborating Antonescu government.

The prosecution produced documents showing the Gestapo officer, on trial for directing the Nazis' Jewish pogrom, dealt directly with Bucharest and often bypassed the Nazi Foreign Ministry.

Eichmann delegated his power to SS (Elite Guard) Maj. Gustav Richter on the scene.

In one document introduced by the prosecution, Richter said he had scolded the puppet government because one of its courts had ordered the return of money an official had taken from a Jew on the false pretense of helping him to emigrate. The ruling was set aside and the Jew was deported to a death camp.

July 26, 1942, was the black day for Romania's Jewry.

Orders flew out of Berlin to whip up the pogrom. Deportations to Auschwitz followed and many thousands also were shot in Romanian ghettos by roving bands of the Einsatz Kommandos—special action squads whose reports came to Eichmann's office "for Jewish affairs."

Mrs. Perle Mark testified that her husband, the chief rabbi, was shot in a group of about 160, her father and mother were shot when they fell on a march through the streets to a hastily constructed ghetto and her brother and her son were deported.

Moscow Insists On Unlimited Underground Ban

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union insisted today that the United States and Britain agree to an uncontrolled, unlimited moratorium on underground nuclear tests.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the three-power nuclear test ban conference his government cannot accept a Western proposal that the moratorium expire at the end of a three-year research program. The research would provide better detection of small atomic underground blasts.

Tsarapkin again rejected the two Western governments' view they cannot commit themselves to an unlimited moratorium until the research program shows to what extent underground explosions can be detected.

He told acting U.S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle and Sir Michael Wright of Britain a limited moratorium would be of advantage only to the United States and other countries "which want to resume the nuclear armaments race." He accused the United States of seeking a resumption of nuclear weapons testing.

Dutchess to Get Bid for County Office June 12

Recommendations to the Dutchess County Board of Supervisors to authorize the sale of $2,600,000 bonds for a new county office building and $400,000 for an addition to the county jail, will be made June 12 by members of the board's sheriff's and budget and finance committees.

A public hearing has been scheduled for the same day at 11 a. m., preceding the board's meeting at which action is anticipated on the recommendations.

Tentative location for the new county office building is at Market and Union Streets.

$100,000 Damage

Explosion Rips Waterloo Eatery

WATERLOO, N. Y. (AP)—An explosion tore out the front of the Lamplighter Restaurant here today, rocked the area, and turned the vacant building into a torch.

Damage was estimated at $100,000.

No one was reported njured. A crowded bus and a Greyhound bus missed being in the path of flying glass and brick.

Fire destroyed the one-story building. Deputy sheriffs said an accumulation of gas probably touched off the explosion.

Mamie Gets Ticket

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower has a giant-sized ticket to a June 1 fund-raising dinner in Washington at which her husband, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will speak.

Mrs. Eisenhower was presented the ticket at a luncheon here Monday with a group of prominent Republican women.

Eisenhower met at his Gettysburg office with Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and with a member of the Japanese Diet (parliament), Banboku Ono.

A spokesman said that Ono called to express a wish that Eisenhower pay a visit to Japan.

Ellenville Man Hurt in Mishap

A 22-year-old Ellenville man was injured at 11:30 p. m. Monday when his car went out of control and struck a tree off Monday when his car went out of control and struck a tree off Samsonville Road, about 3½ miles west of Route 209 in Ellenville.

Trooper Michael Mahoney identified the injured motorist as Albert Henry, who was taken to Veteran's Memorial Hospital suffering back and chest injuries.

According to troopers, Henry said he was driving east on Samsonville road and as he reached to tune the car radio he lost control of the vehicle, crossed the road and struck a tree on the north shoulder.

Cerebral Palsy Drive Will Open Monday, June 5

June 5 will be D-Day for Cerebral Palsy's week-long 1961 fund raising drive, it was announced today by a joint statement of the campaign chairmen.

The date was set last night at a meeting between county chairman Howard C. St. John, city chairman Francis J. Vogt, industrial chairman James F. Maloney, and public relations chairman William C. Klein.

With plans finalized for all phases of the campaign, the chairman prepared for an "Open House" meeting with city and county volunteers. The organization meeting will be held at the CP Treatment Center, 400 Broadway, Kingston, at 8 p. m. Thursday, May 25.

The joint statement stressed workers have the "rare" opportunity to see evidence of the fruits of their fund raising efforts. "All but 12.8 per cent of the money collected in last year's campaign," the chairman pointed out, "supported essential rehabilitation services for the physically handicapped children of the city and county."

A documentary movie filmed at CP Treatment Center and a tour of the facilities will highlight the "Open House," and convince all campaign workers of the importance of their services, they said.

The chairman urged all who would make a meaningful contribution of their time to the good of their community to join the "53 Minute March" June 5 by attending the "Open House" May 25. The name, "53 Minute March" refers to the fact that a child is born with Cerebral Palsy every 53 minutes in the United States.

Alabama's Racial Picture in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MONTGOMERY — Police arrest man charged with beating two newsmen during savage mob attack on integrated "freedom riders."

MONTGOMERY — National Guardsmen rule Alabama capital with firm hand after federal agents are removed from patrol duty. Roaming bands of white youths and bomb threats heighten tension. Gov. John Patterson may be called on to report to legislature. Byron White, deputy U.S. attorney general, says federal agents will remain in Montgomery as long as necessary to guard civil liberties.

200 More Marshals

WASHINGTON — Anxious federal authorities order 200 more U.S. marshals to Montgomery to help maintain order. The reinforcements swell the total of federal agents to nearly 700, along with 800 National Guardsmen called to duty.

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says federal government has no plans to send federal forces to Alabama at the present time. But a high government source says they could be used if needed.

ANNISTON, Ala.—FBI agents jail four men on charges of setting fire to an interstate passenger bus May 14 at outset of racial violence in Alabama.

LONDON—Moscow radio says racial bloodshed in Montgomery has "aroused indignation throughout the world."

NASHVILLE, Tenn. —Chairman of Nashville student nonviolent movement, James Bevel, a Negro, says integrationists still plan to travel across Mississippi to New Orleans.

JACKSON, Miss. —Gov. Ross Barnett says highway patrol will be ordered to escort "freedom riders" nonstop across Mississippi, should they show up.

COLUMBIA, S.C.—South Carolina Gov. E. F. Hollings asks U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to investigate "freedom riders," whose appearance in Alabama touched off rioting.

ATLANTA—Georgia Gov. Ernest Vandiver says Alabama authorities have made it plain they intend to preserve peace and calls "freedom riders" unwelcome, subversive groups.
